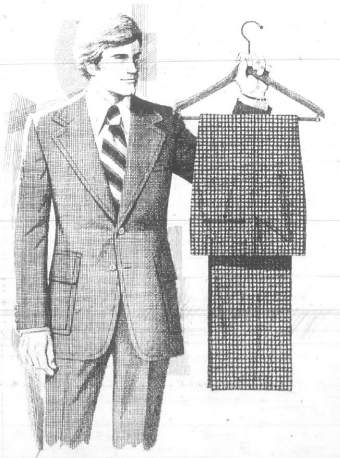
NEW CRICKETEER SUIT



The great pretender: Cricketeer's linen look

This suit has the naturally great look of linen, but it's cooler and lighter and a whole lot better at shedding wrinkles and staying in shape since it's really made of texturized Trevira®. And, because this is one linen-look suit you really can live in, Cricketeer helps you do it without risking boredom: it's easy to vary your look by switching to the coordinated checked slacks, or mixing the blazer-styled jacket with other slacks you own.

CONSPIRACY

Truly, there is a conspiracy afoot and we are the victims. It is a well organized, superbly executed plot whose sole purpose is to keep us from writing letters. Occasionally even an article is difficult. Just how extremely successful the conspirators are should be evident to friends to whom we owe letters. It just seems that the minute Mom and I decide to take a crack at note writing, the signal goes out and the intricately planned conspiracy shifts into high gear.

For example, the other day we were on the porch, the typewriter was all set, stationery and address book handy. There were even two tall frosty glasses of ice-tea nearby. We were already to swamp the post office with greetings from sunny Florida to our winter-bound Tecumseh friends. Suddenly there was a splash in the lake. An anhinga had just dropped down for a rather sloppy landing. Surely the letters would wait while we watched.

These are interesting birds. Superb fishermen. They deserve a whole column themselves. This day the long, slender necked bird was fishing right by the porch. Unlike the double-crested cormorant who dives, the anhinga simply pulls its neck down and sinks under the water. And the bill is a long pointed sword which stabs fish rather than opening to catch them.

Three times we watched it surface with a fish impaled on that big bill. A shake of the head flipped the little fish into the air. The bird gulped and swallowed it so fast we could hardly see the action. But back to the letter writing . . .

Ooops, what was that? A dark bird flew low over the water, lit on the far shore and disappeared. Mom grabbed the glasses and, after a few moments study, broke into a grin. The little green heron was back.

We have had trouble with him because he does blend into the background - whereas the other herons seem quite bold and almost anxious to be seen, this little guy is shy. Using the binoculars Mom had a good look. The smallest of the herons, slightly over a foot long, the little green heron hardly looks green at all. The one Mom watched had a red neck, a light bill with a dark tip and almost orange legs.

We must get to work. A sheet of stationery was rolled into the typewriter, the date was typed and I was just about to start dictating. This time the bird was large and came lazily flapping towards a landing on the island. No mistaking who and no dictating either. When a great blue heron appears everything stops while everybody watches. Dad even left his book to come look.

And as his part of the conspiracy the bird stood where we just had to keep watching and watching and watching. He was so close that the livid green areas between his eyes and the base of his bill showed, the white on top of his head was almost snowy and the black feathers, which start above his eyes and grow back on his head to form streamers, looked starched. When finally he flew away we were amazed, as always, by his unhurried take-off.

Those huge slate-gray wings flapped just fast enough to get him airborne and then, quite leisurely, he pulled his head back to rest it on his shoulders and straightened his long stilt-like legs. What a thrill!

The time was going and no letters were being written. We hardly had a chance to ask what would happen next when it did. A male mocking bird lit in the vacant lot next to us and began displaying.

Holding his black tail fanned out wide and his wings about three-fourths of the way open so that all of his pretty white markings showed to great advantage, he then began rocking from side to side. We knew there must be a female nearby and we hoped she was impressed because we certainly were.

The gal soon showed herself. And for shy coquetry she took all honors. Flying to the top of a nearby post she turned her back to the handsome male and looked toward the lake. But, she was not all that unconcerned or uninterested - more than once we saw her carefully turn her head and take a quick look over her shoulder just to make sure he was still there.

So it is that once again the letters were not written but the bird watching was great; I realize it is just a coincidence, birds do not hold committee meetings, cannot formulate a conspiracy, or can they?

If you think sugar is high here, just hear what Lynn Cook says it costs in Hawaii: $3 for 5 pounds. The same brand here is less than $2. Dr. and Mrs. Cook arrived home Sunday after 10 days in the land of flowers, leis and pineapples.

Mrs. Elmer Spreeman was a guest speaker Monday in the fourth grade room of Alice Filter at McKinley School in Adrian. She spoke of the dress and customs of the Japanese people and took along a kimono and 30-year-old obi bow to dress one of the students in to show how fourth graders in Japan look sometimes. Mrs. Spreeman and her husband and son, Charles, and his wife and kiddies visited the native land of Mrs. Charles Spreeman, Japan, a couple of years ago.

They visited four islands that Lynn said smelled, sounded and looked good. They did some snorkeling and ate pineapple three times a day. No sore mouth either, Hawaiian use a tiny bit of salt to counteract the acidity.

Sump pumps are a necessity in some cases, but seem to give trouble at the most unopportune time. When your wash water empties into a sump from a laundry tray, you should put an old nylong stocking over the outlet of the washer hose. This will keep 90 percent of the lint out of the sump pump. It is a good idea even if you don't have a sump pump. Long fibers get into impellers and retard the discharge and on occasion plug it up. Make sure your pit is free of stones and dirt. The sump pit should be vented and a non-absorbent cover on it to keep things from falling in.

Let us at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121 handle new installations, repair or remodeling of present plumbing and heating facilities. Our years of experience gives you a guarantee of satisfaction with every job we handle. Free estimates will be given. Open: Daily 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m., Friday until 9 p.m., Saturday until 5 p.m.

Handy Hint: Use hose and wash out pit periodically.

What's Up at THS

By Judy Sibrt and Pam Knisely

Quite a bit of activity has been going on at THS this past week, especially in the Spanish and French classrooms. It seems that the Spaniards and Frenchmen have declared war on each other. Could this be World War III?

The war has cooled down considerably at this point. It started when the Spanish students discovered that the French students had decorated the language room with posters.

The Spanish students decided that their room should look as much a Spanish room as the French room looked French. When the French and Spanish switched rooms after half of the class hour, the French were surprised to see the Spanish dishing out some of the same medicine to the French class. This didn't go over too well with them either. World War III had started.

Leading the students in the war were Mrs. Diana Wakeford for the French and Mrs. Luz Maria Coba for the Spanish.

With both sides putting forth the best effort, things were pretty hot for a while, but there is nothing to fear now.

Ken Biscupski, a junior, and Randy Mayes, a sophomore raged another sort of war. They fought for the title of Checker Champion.

Randy Mayes became interested in checkers early this year and began studying the game. His studying paid off. He beat Ken and won the trophy. The tournament is sponsored by Mrs. Clyde Gunder, the cafeteria supervisor.

Librarian Speaks to Club

Mrs. Michael Havener, Tecumseh Public Librarian was the guest speaker at the March 3 meeting of the Tecumseh Monday Club.

Mrs. Havener spoke on "Tecumseh and the Bicentennial," and based her talk on a book which has been made available by what is probably the leading national Bicentennial organization, People's Bicentennial Commission.

It is called "America's Birthday" and is a planning and activity guide for citizen's participation, during the Bicentennial years.

Mrs. Havener told the group the book points out that community organizations wishing to think clearly about the 200th anniversary, should distinguish between the Bicentennial as a celebration and as a set of challenges.

The book suggests that we use the Bicentennial years to rediscover our identity as a nation, by re-evaluating the ideals on which our country was founded.

America's Birthday is based on the belief that the basic ideals of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness still hold true today. Mrs. Havener urged people to avail themselves of the material which is available at the Tecumseh Public Library and added that because there is a waiting list for the book, "America's Birthday," it would be wise to place a request for it immediately.

She said that the Lenawee County Bicentennial Committee is serving as a clearing house for bicentennial activities and that Charles Lindquist, curator at the Lenawee County Historical Museum is chairman of that committee. Tecumseh's representative is Owen Merrill.

Some of the activities planned so far are special courses designed to explore all aspects of the Revolutionary period, booklets on local history and a series of displays at Siena Heights College, the Lenawee County Fair for 1976 will adopt the theme Bicentennial, plans for traveling art exhibits and a farm museum to be located in Adrian City Park.

Mrs. William P. Snook, president of the Monday Club named Mrs. Geraldine French and Mrs. Ann Waterman as members of the auditing committee, during the business meeting.

Mrs. Melvin Ruettinger, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, announce a get-acquainted tea, March 19 at 2 p.m. at Vo-Tech for members of all clubs, officers and officers elect.

A report on the recent winter meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs was made by Mrs. Cecile Smith.

An acknowledgment of a gift in memory of Mrs. Elva Rice by the Tecumseh Monday Club, the past presidents and Mrs. Eva Comfort to the Tecumseh Public Library was read.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett and her committee, Mrs. Hewlett and Mrs. Howard Brooks presided at the tea table.

A PLAY PREVIEW BY KATHY KULCZYK

Who wouldn't like to go back to those days of childhood when happiness was teaming together, comfort was cuddling a security blanket, success was having friends and the only problems were fighting off the Red Barron?

Six members of the junior class have the privilege of partaking in such a transformation. For three months, they have been rehearsing the junior class play, "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown." The play runs March 20, 21 and 22 at the Glass Room in the Community Center.

This is the first musical comedy to be performed by Tecumseh High School students.

"The production has been difficult and demanding since they don't know what the finished product is supposed to be. Many of them have never seen a musical comedy," commented Jay Pinsky, director-English teacher.

Pinsky selected the play to challenge the students and expose them to a new theatre medium.

The plot is simply a day in the life of Peanuts, the comic strip gang immortalized by Charles Schultz. Linus still clings to his blanket. Schroeder still plays Beethoven. Snoopy fights the Red Barron. And Charlie Brown is teased by his teammates. About the only revelation in the play is Lucy realizes she is a crabby person.

The play requires no extensive talent to do well. Still the transformation from THS students to five year olds requires time, confidence, discipline and professionalism.

Bob Miller, who plays Charlie Brown said, "I feel more like Charlie Brown now than when I started. We're getting closer together now. We can feel that we are the Peanuts gang. We can make and take suggestions without fighting."

"It seems like we've been doing this for a lifetime," reflects Linus.

"If we had rehearsed for a shorter time, we wouldn't be this good," said Val Egli.

Their confidence has come a long way from the gloomy, first weeks of rehearsals. Now confidence is building every day.

"I feel a sense of pride to be in the play. It helps you get through the play and do your part," Bob said.

"We are the characters. That is what Mr. Pinsky tells us and that is what we are. When he yells at us he says he is hollering at the characters," declared Lucy, err, rather Shar Rentschler.

Being the character requires forcing yourself into a role on a bad day and sometimes means being something you are not.

"In one scene, I'm supposed to pout. At first I thought the character was angry. I didn't understand. I have a hard time being unhappy," Val said.

"I realized we were really stepping into our parts when one day Lucy, I mean Patty, forgot her lines. She looked deep into Charlie Brown's face and all of a sudden she pointed and said, 'Look at the dull lines in his face.' That was exactly her line," remarked Bob.

Pinsky drills them in professionalism. "Being in high school is no excuse for the job you do. Even if you are in high school, you can give as professional a performance as any player on or off Broadway."

Strange as it may seem, the students said their characters have invaded their personal lives. "My mother asks, 'Why are you so crabby?' " "Why are you depressed?" "Get off the table. Woof!"

Besides acting technique, they have learned to talk to and work with different people, understand why others do and say things and accept criticism and praise.

A special five piece combo directed by Jimmie Rice also has a first opportunity to perform in the musical comedy as the orchestra.

They are Dave Hall, bass; Marsha Bale and Lisa Baker, piano; Peggy Upell and Barb Henning, percussion and Andrea Phillips, flute and piccolo.

The junior class is footing the bill for the entire production and it hopes that box office take will cover expenses.

So far the rows of lights, scenery and flats have been the biggest expenses. Special instruments such as a celeste, a tiny piano, have been rented.

Nothing has been spared to make the production as professional as it can be for the actors as well as the audience. Pinsky said that the play is probably the most expensive that the students have produced but the school does not have any theatre equipment.

Some may protest that the expense of this play is unnecessary to produce a good high school play. The students however are not interested in producing a good high school play. They have set their hearts on a "superfantastic" play.

Judging from a recent rehearsal, they will emerge successful. "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown" promises to be the first musical comedy presented professionally by the Tecumseh High School junior class.

Join them for the transformation.

Style Sense by Evel

Your face is important — and your hairstyle can do a lot to enhance the good qualities of your face. For example, if your face tends to be long and narrow, then a style which curls around those long lines will soften them. If your face is short and wide, and you need advice, your hair stylist will be the one to consult. Have you got an outstanding feature that you would like to draw attention to? A nice mouth, fine eyes, a well-molded chin and neck? Then, again, your hair style can do much to enhance these.

In Switzerland, according to an authority, sun-bathing is done seriously and scientifically; people are absolutely forbidden to take uncontrolled sunbaths. When overdone, rays of the sun can be dangerous. First of all, you must oil all exposed skin with a cream that filters out harmful rays. Never expose your head, but keep it shaded. Sun baths should never last for more than half an hour.

Food Stamps Are A Big Help!

As food prices rise, more people become eligible for food stamps. You may be included.

- Eligibility depends on how much of your income is available to buy food. You do not have to be unemployed or on welfare to take advantage of food stamps.
- You can increase your food buying power 25 to 50% by using food stamps. The amount you pay for food stamps depends on your income.
- You have a right to food stamps, just like Social Security or unemployment compensation. Food stamps are provided by Congress and the U.S. Department of Agriculture so that every citizen will get enough food for proper health and nutrition.
- For full and complete information, contact your local food stamp certification or welfare office.

"Meaning of Lent"

By Rev. Charles Mellring
Ridgeway Baptist Church

Among the not-too-numerous volumes in my library are two dictionaries. Their definitions of "Lent" vary from "the period observed to commemorate Jesus' fasting in the wilderness" to "period of fasting in preparation for Easter."

Now, one might say, "But we cannot get our instructions on spiritual matters from a dictionary!" The inference, I suppose, would be that we should take such instructions [illegible]. With this inference I would heartily agree.

The problem is, however, that the Bible doesn't give instructions for observing Lent, at least none of which I am aware. All of which brings into focus the danger of following tradition rather than Word of God. I cannot say what benefits people expect from observing Lent. I can say that the error of expecting to find favor with God through ANY works of man may very well be fatal.

There is no doubt that abstaining from food, especially certain kinds [illegible] of it, can have beneficial effects upon many people. The danger lies in thinking that such self-denial can make one more acceptable in the eyes of the holy God. The Bible declares that "it is not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy that he saves us," (Titus 3:5); and "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast." (Ephesians 2:8,9).

Man's problem is not that he is a little weak or a little wicked. It is rather that he is totally and entirely depraved, helplessly and hopelessly lost. Dead in his sins and trespasses, man must be made alive spiritually. Jesus described the process of receiving spiritual life as being "born again."

Until he is born from above, no man can make himself or help make himself acceptable to God. Jesus put it into focus for us when He said, in reply to a question as to "What shall we do, that we might work the works of God?" His answer: "This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent." (John 6:29)

Go South Now!

By MAXINE CALHOUN

CLINTON — Take your vacation in the off-season and save enough on motel costs to pay for your gasoline.

Early March is a wonderful time to tour the southern states where peach trees, azaleas and camellias are already in bloom, and ocean front hotels at Myrtle Beach, N.C. are seeking guests at $10 double.

That was the prevailing price throughout our circle tour to Charleston, S.C., [illegible]boro, and Atlanta, Ga.

We even found a motel for $8 in Gatlinburg, Tenn., where motels are wall-to-wall. In-season rates are $18 and up.

Lovely Charleston, founded in 1670, is a tourist's dream, where one parks free all day at a visitor's center and is given a well-marked guide to a walking or surrey-driven tour of the 18th Century restored city.

With the temperature at a mild 65 degrees, the birds chirping cheerfully, and nearly all the traffic banished to some distant area, we strolled at our leisure for hours through Charleston's antebellum residential areas.

For block after block we gazed in awe at the original early American homes, each with its three-storied balustraded porch extending full length along the side of the house.

In the old English manner, the homes all are flush to the sidewalk, and each has a wrought iron gate opening on a brick walkway, lined with shrubs and flowers, leading to a lush green patio-type garden, almost out of sight.

One who is familiar with areas where the comfortably old is soon demolished and replaced with stark modern architecture, marvels at that unique city, which was able to preserve hundreds of its treasured old homes and buildings in all their splendor.

Surprisingly, we learned that the restoration, which began in 1931 under the authority of the Carolina Historical Foundation, has been done almost entirely by individuals.

Vast amounts of wealth have gone into maintaining these homes and churches as they were built - some as early as mid-1700. Even now, most of the houses are owned by families and are not used as apartments.

Though a bit breezy, we enjoyed a two-hour boat tour in Charleston harbor, past the Civil War Memorial at Fort Sumter and Charleston Naval Base, where ships of all sizes, even a submarine or two, are almost near enough to touch. Banana boats and other commercial ocean freighters were being unloaded in the harbor.

Savannah's Civic Center, which recently opened in the basement of the old cotton exchange buildings along the factor's walk on the harbor front, provides the visitor with a variety of unusual shops and restaurants.

Original cobblestone walks, old brickwork, rough-hewn, timbered cellar rooms, and intricate wrought-iron fences lend an aura of the past.

Atlanta's gas-lighted Underground has become more well-known and encompasses a large area under downtown Atlanta in the area of the old rail depot.

To see it in all its swinging excitement I suppose Saturday night is the time to go there, but we found the nearly deserted boutique shops and arcade were intriguing on a Sunday, and the parking was handy and free.

Then the weather changed as we reached Chattanooga, Tenn. and a six-inch snow fell in the Smoky Mountains the day we arrived there.

With mountain roads scraped and graveled, we traveled from Cherokee to Gatlinburg, Tenn., in the most spectacular scenery we had ever enjoyed.

Snow, four-inches deep, glistened in bright sunlight, on every tree, and heavy frost coated all the mountains, where rivelets were frozen fountains of ice.

Clear, cold blue sky made even Clingman's Dome visable without haze. This is a view of the Smoky's few people have an opportunity to see, and is so vastly different from our visit there in the fall 34 years ago.

It's not too late to go, the house and garden tours are just beginning in Charleston, Savannah and Atlanta, and such a trip makes a pleasant change from the North's erratic spring weather.

Kies' first log cabin was located at the site of the present Clintonian Inn.

The Kies family sold their home on Washington St. to the Van De Mark family in 1821, and Mrs. Waterman, nee Van De Mark, lived there until two years ago. She displayed several documents pertaining to the Kies family.

Faraday Ranks Among Largest

By FRANK WEIR

Return, if you will, to those golden days of high school.

You're sitting in that geometry class you always hated, [illegible] out the window at warm blue skies. There isn't much time to daydream since the blank pages of an exam stare menacingly up at you.

Suddenly, an obnoxious honking sound stirs in your mind, and you realize that your prayers have been answered.

It's a fire drill!

How many errant scholars have been saved by a fire alarm is uncertain. But there can't be any doubt about the number of human lives saved. Alarm systems play a big part in our day-to-day safety.

And a Tecumseh manufacturer, Faraday Incorporated at 805 S. Maumee, plays a big part in the production of alarm systems.

Faraday, according to president Robert Bell, is primarily concerned with "bells, chimes, buzzers and horns." Although that may sound like an ad for a New Year's Eve bash, Faraday business is serious.

With an employee army of 190 persons working in a plant just under 90,000 square feet, Faraday puts out "millions of finished products" a year. Those products range from a simple signaling device to a solid state alarm system panel. Faraday is said to be one of the largest such businesses in the country.

The company also produces clocks for schools and other products that are sold strictly for their sound-making usage.

The company sells its wares to three different markets. They sell alarm systems to electrical wholesalers or distributors and installation fire alarm distributors. In addition, the signaling devices are sold as OEM products to other system manufacturers.

Customers exist in Lenawee County and throughout the country. In addition, there are some international customers as well.

Although under different nameplates, Faraday has been in existence for over 100 years. The company moved to Tecumseh from Adrian in 1962 because of an attractive plan presented to them by the Tecumseh Area Industrial Development Association.

During the last year and a half, the company has been conducting an extensive modernization program to increase production and add safety features.

Part of that program included the purchase of a Minster Dynamic press for stamping out parts. Although initial cost was put at $35,000, the machine has increased output and is safer to operate. Other older presses have been rebuilt to achieve the same ends.

Another new addition was the automatic electrostatic painting system. Parts to be painted hang from a moving line which travels through [illegible] and baking ovens, then removed, labeled and packaged.

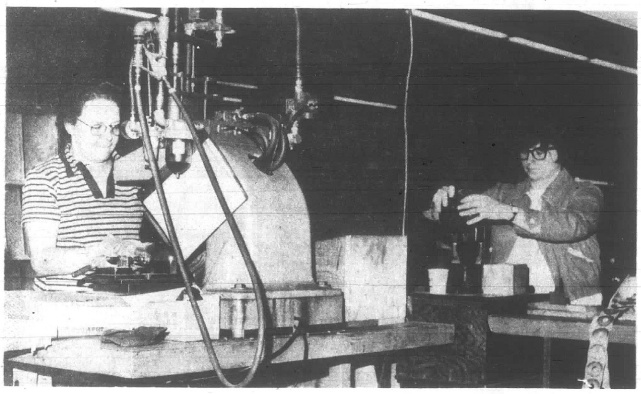
Besides being concerned with increased output, the company considers its employees as well. "We try to switch our people around to make their jobs more interesting. We attempt to combine other opportunities within a person's job."

This philosophy allows Dick Krall, service manager, to also participate in new product design.

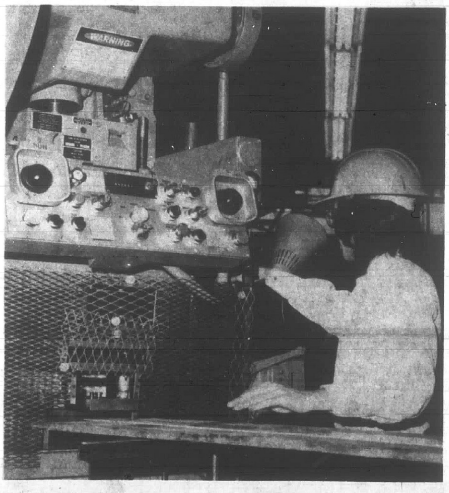
Krall has been instrumental in the development of an electronic signaling horn for use in plants. A company using the horn can preset it to produce one of three different sounds.

Faraday has earned over 114 patents on its new products over the years.

NEW PRODUCT LINE — Faraday president, Robert Bell, checks over an intercom unit which the company will now produce. They recently acquired the rights to the product from Sta-Rite Industries Inc.



FINAL STAGE — Wanda Kruger (right) and Frances Curtis (left) put the finishing touches on the assembly of fire alarm bells.



NEW EQUIPMENT — Raul Sanchez operates a Minster Dynamic Press newly acquired by the company as part of their modernization program. The press — with a capacity of 60 tons — stamps out parts at a faster rate than older equipment and has all up-to-date safety features.

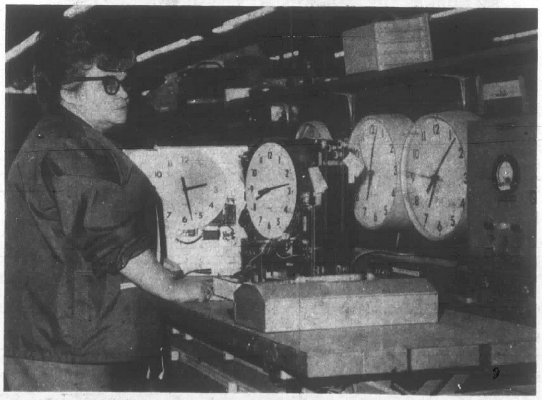
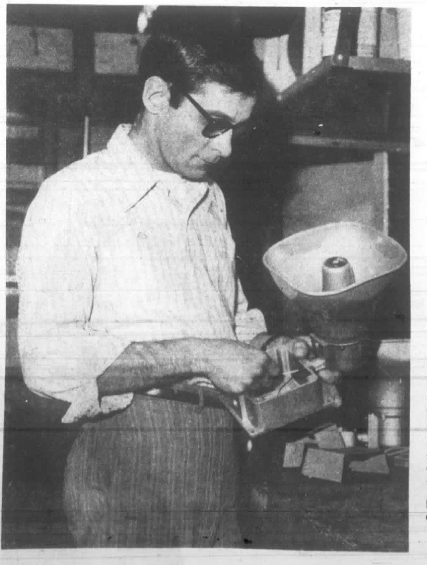
SOLID STATE PANEL — Norm Horton, Chief Engineer, checks over a solid state alarm panel.



DOES ANYONE KNOW THE TIME? — Pat Bacon gives several clocks a final testing. The clocks are used in schools and hospitals. A clock system in a school may have 30-50 clocks and they all must show the same time. This is accomplished with a master clock which sets all the others.



SERVICE MANAGER CHECKS NEW PRODUCT — Dick Krall, service manager, assembles an electric horn that he helped develop. Faraday tries to combine opportunities within a person's job allowing Dick to participate in new product design. The horn he developed can be preset to produce one of three different sounds.

HORN AND BELL ASSEMBLY — Several women employees work on a line assembling signaling devices.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

SERVING TECUMSEH AND AREA SINCE 1850

VOL. 124 OUR 125th YEAR — NO. 27 THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1975 SIXTEEN PAGES—20c

Services Are Held for Business Leader

Services were held Saturday in First United Presbyterian Church for Fay A. Whelan, 66, one of Tecumseh's oldest and most respected businessmen who died early last Thursday evening at Bixby Hospital.

He had been in failing health in recent years but continued to be active in various organizations and was currently secretary of the Rotary Club. His health undoubtedly was a contributing cause last summer when he lost a re-election bid for County Commissioner in District 6, a post he had held for six years.

Mr. Whelan was generous with a helping hand, a fact seldom publicized. He provided help in the construction of the golf course at the Tecumseh Country Club, development of the local Tecumseh High School athletic field, and aided other projects.

He and his employees worked long hours clearing roads of trees and assisting farmers in recovering after the Palm Sunday tornado ripped through the Tipton area in 1965.

For many years, the Hoyt E. Whelan Company was one of the largest and most successful John Deere agencies in Michigan. Fay, shortly after graduating from Michigan State in 1931, took over the company's reigns from his mother.

Hoyt Whelan, his father, started the business in 1919. In 1927, a year before his death, the business was moved from Evans St. to its present location on W. Logan St.

Mrs. Whelan, took over the business in 1924 and operated it until 1936.

The Whelans, Fay in particular, were well known among rural residents. Since 1936, they promoted John Deere Day each January. For many years it was held at the old Strand Theatre, more recently at the Union Hall on S. Maumee St.

Fay, after 33 years operating the implement company, retired from the business in 1969, selling it to his son, Richard.

He was born Oct. 19, 1908 in Franklin Township, the son of Hoyt E. Whelan and Florence Spencer Whelan. On Sept. 11, 1932, he married May A. (Billie) Kurtz.

Besides being a member and a past elder of the Presbyterian Church, he was a member of the Masonic Blue Lodge, No. 69, Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce and former director, and other community and area organizations.

Survivors, besides his wife and son, Richard, are another son, Jack; two sisters, Marion Whelan, of Tecumseh, and Mrs. Marcus (Alice) Fisher, Goshen, Ind.; and two granddaughters and three grandsons.

He was preceded in death by his parents and one grandson, Larry, who was killed in an automobile accident on Nov. 9, 1974.

The Rev. Edmond Watkins officiated at the services followed by interment in Brookside Cemetery by the Proctor Funeral Home.

Projects Top $279,000

A capital improvement program of over $279,000 will be included in Cal Zorn's 1975-76 city budget, scheduled to be submitted next month to Council.

Councilmen learned of the program Monday night and a couple were not too receptive to some of the proposals because of the present economy climate.

If the city manager's program is approved, however, it will mark one of the busiest programs here in many years.

Major expenditure in the budget will be the Russell Road project, an overall improvement of the street between Adrian St. and Mill. Russell, destined for a complete overhaul, will eventually be extended over River Raisin to Rogers Hwy.

A noticeable change scheduled for this year includes widening W. Chicago Blvd. to three lanes from Sunset Dr. to the Harvey House Motel, or west city limits.

State Highway Department has notified Zorn that bids will be let in May.

Zorn has also included a 20x40-foot addition to city hall for offices. The addition would extend 20 feet towards N. Maumee with the 40-foot section running north and south. A full basement for storage would be included.

Cost for the addition, including furnishing, heating and air conditioning, is $40,000.

Rest of the capital improvement proposal is:

Sanitary sewer on Burt St. (city share) - $6,800.

Lights for tennis courts - $7,500.

Park improvements, backstops, softball diamond work - $2,500.

Street construction would include bituminous capping for:

N. Union St. from Pontiac Trail to city limits - $4,250.

N. Ottawa St. from Chicago Blvd. to Shawnee - $6,240.

Herrick Park Dr. from N. Maumee to Outer Dr. - $1,770.

Pontiac Trail - $1,385.

Maple St., Willow to Park - $895.

Willow St., Maple to Park - $1,194.

Park St., Maple to end of street - $895.

Oneida St., Kilbuck to Shawnee - $6,007.

Bitumnious concrete also is scheduled for Chicago Blvd. from Wyandotte to Sunset Dr. This capping is under the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department.

Schedule Warning

Fire Departments around Lenawee County are joining Tecumseh and Raisin Fire Departments in a tornado alert Thursday, March 27, at 5:55 p.m.

Peak months for tornados are April, May and June and Fire Chiefs Wallace MacGeorge and John Escott remind residents of the warning systems used in this area.

A tornado warning is a two minute steady blast on the fire sirens when a tornado has been sighted in an area southwest of Tecumseh and may be headed toward the city.

All the sirens from participating departments will be heard.

"Do not call Fire or Police Departments," MacGeorge stated, "as this ties up lines that may be needed for emergencies."

New Date for Three

Last Thursday's scheduled appearance in Probate Court for three juveniles, reportedly involved in an armed robbery attempt last month at Jerry's Market and the clubbing there of Eddie Clark, was postponed to next Thursday, March 27.

Mr. Clark has been in University Hospital now for over a month and there's been little change in his poor condition.

He was clubbed behind the head, resulting in loss of memory, failure to know or identify members of his family, and during the past month has been in and out of intensive care.

New tests have been run, and he may undergo surgery in the near future.

School Losses, Vandalism Up

During a School Board meeting Monday night, Assistant Supt. Eugene Cooley made a report on vandalism in the school district.

He reported that a series of B&E's have occurred since January, including:

Tipton school — $382 loss.

Tecumseh High School — $390 loss.

Ridgeway — $1,174 loss.

Herrick Park — $4,300.

Cooley stated later that the district is fully covered by insurance for the losses.

He also reported on glass breakage in the school system. In the 1973-74 school year there was a $4,595 loss due to breakage. For this term through January, $2,557 in damages has been done.

Cooley said of the problem, "This is a direct cost the taxpayers must bear. Insurance premiums for glass breakage are too high. Its a sad report on what's been happening in the schools."

Another area of concern voiced by Cooley was the amount of bottles and other debris which accumulate in the High School parking lot. "There are barrels and barrels of debris. A good share of it is not done by our students. The lot is a gathering place for some at night. We don't have an answer to the problem."

Supt. Robert Duhan was encouraged by several arrests in the last three or four weeks for trespassing on the lot. Some of those apprehended had received jail sentences and stiff fines. Duhan was hopeful this would have a deterrent effect.

JAMES MARTIN

THS Grad Injured

James Martin, 19, a 1974 Tecumseh High School graduate, remains in a semi-conscious condition in St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor, with injuries received in an accident on Occidental Hwy., at 1:20 a.m. Sunday.

Martin suffered head injuries, and lacerations to the left side, after he apparently lost control on Occidental, north of Ives Road, and his automobile ran off the east side of the road, skidded 220 feet and hit a tree, according to sheriff's deputies. He was headed north at the time.

Martin was pinned in his vehicle and removed by Raisin Township firemen, then taken to Bixby Hospital for emergency treatment before being transferred to Ann Arbor.

According to his father, James W. Martin, 1000 Murray Drive, his son has no internal injuries, no paralysis, and is able to speak at times.

Vescio's Is Closed

Vescio's, a Tecumseh food market for 15 years, is in receivership in Federal court in Flint.

According to David Courell, of Flint, 14 of the company's 44 stores are to be sold in the reorganizational program. He also said that the local store is scheduled to be sold, and the company already has an excellent prospect.

Another news source has said that Vescio's owes Allied Ford Markets, owners of the Wrigley super market chain, some $3 million in food supplies and merchandise.

Tecumseh's store was closed last Thursday; however, Vescio's at Clinton and Manchester were not closed by the court, indicating that the chain expects to continue operating these outlets and are part of the company's re-organization.

PROF. MARZOLF

Appearing March 25

"Tecumseh Architecture in Perspective" will be the topic of guest lecturer Professor Kingsbury Marzolf on Tuesday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the Tecumseh Community Center.

Professor Marzolf is associate professor of Architecture at the University of Michigan. He teaches architecture history and urban architecture.

He will present slides of Tecumseh homes and commercial buildings, compare them with others in the United States and Europe, and demonstrate the value of historic preservation.

His visit is sponsored by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and the Tecumseh Area Historical Society in conjunction with the Tecumseh Historic District Study Commission's task to survey homes and recommend a historic district ordinance for the city. The public is invited to attend.

Marzolf was appointed by Ann Arbor City Council as a member of the Ann Arbor Historic District Commission.

A corporate member of the American Institute of Architecture, Prof. Marzolf worked on restoration in Washington, D.C., Virginia and Michigan. He has worked in Michigan, Washington and Copenhagen as an architect.

He is also an active member of other historic committees of the American Institute of Architects (AIA).

Easter News

Local pastors and church leaders of the area are invited to bring Easter news to The Herald office by Monday, March 24, for use in the paper printed Maundy Thursday.

Council Turns Down Parking Proposal

A resolution to adopt a special assessment district for free off-street parking was vetoed by Council Monday night.

Councilmen James Palmer and Raymond Puffer voted "yes" for Palmer's motion.

Councilwoman Mary Bowers and Councilmen Aden Mead and Wallace Whiting voted "no" with Mayor Harold Easton. Councilman Carlton Cook, absent from the public hearing March 3, abstained.

At the public hearing, councilmen heard objections to the plan and some voiced their opinion that the limited free 10-hour parking plan would not actually benefit customers but employees and business people who would park there instead.

Mead said Monday that he was disappointed with the present plan, that he didn't really understand until the public hearing.

Easton pointed out that although 33 merchants approved the plan in the Central Business District Committee survey and 19 opposed, approval came from merchants with less building space.

Don Johnson, former band director and veteran instrumental music teacher, submitted his resignation to the School Board Monday night. He said that ill health is forcing his retirement at the end of the school year. Johnson has taught instrumental music here for 21 years and has 30 years total in teaching.

OK Changes for Center

Changes in the Community Center contract for an addition were allowed by Council Monday night. Total changes amount to $740.

Changes include replacing three windows, covering a roof detail with aluminum siding and removing a radiator for the entrance to the addition.

School Posts, Millage To Be on June Ballot

Supt. Robert Duhan announced Monday night that the terms of school board members, William Brown and Hugh DesErmia, expire in June.

Persons eligible may now file for either of the two positions. Annual school election is to be held June 10, and candidates must file their nominating petitions by May 12.

Petitions are available at the board's office. Both terms are for four years.

Brown, who is also the president of the board, is undecided as to whether he will run for re-election. DesErmia stated that he "probably" would run again.

In addition, the district's operational millage expires this year. It will be included on the ballot, but the millage will not be determined until a later meeting.

RUSSIAN DINNER — The top 60 students in scholarship of Tecumseh's ninth grade held a special Russian-Eastern European dinner at St. Elizabeth's school last week. The students comprise a special honors class with emphasis on English and social studies taught by Bill Croft and Jay Pinsky. When studying a certain geographical area of the world, the students cook themselves a typical meal from that area. Already they have held a Latin American and African dinner. Yet to come is a far eastern dinner. Pictured above, three of the students are, left to right, Mark Feight, Nancy Ries and Steve Burch. (Photo by Frank Weir)

MS Day March 22 Proclaimed by Mayor

Mayor Harold Easton, on Monday, proclaimed March 22 to be "Multiple Sclerosis Day" in Tecumseh. The Mayor urged all residents to learn the facts about this crippling disease through the efforts of the Adrian College Circle K club.

Jim Moulton, Chairman of the club's 1975 Education Campaign, noted that MS is one of the greatest causes of disability among young adults between 20 and 40, and emphasized that "the support of a more informed and active public can be a major factor" in the eventual conquest of MS.

Anyone wishing further information about MS or the Michigan Chapter should write Tom Moulton at 1105 W. Maumee, Adrian.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Lonal Bishop hosted a surprise open house [illegible] Workers Union Hall Sunday honoring the 25th wedding anniversary of the couple. Doug Wheeler of Macon whose parents were with the Bishops on a recent trip to Las Vegas assisted in planning the event. Betty Millspaugh and Lonal Bishop were married Feb. 26, 1950 at Fife Lake. They are the parents of four children, Mrs. Cal (Karen) Torres, Mrs. Dennis (Susie) Randolph, Nancy and David, all of Tecumseh.

You Told Us

by Dorothy Grigg

"It was a big surprise," said Lonal Bishop Monday after the open house with buffet dinner and dancing provided by children of Lonal and Betty honoring their 25th wedding anniversary which was actually on Feb. 26.

Hustled home from bowling, the couple dressed to go to a restaurant for dinner with the kids, or so they thought. David and Susie intercepted all the couple's mail and plans were carefully laid to keep everything in wraps for the big day.

It was only when they drove up to the Union Hall and Lonal spotted his brother, Keith, from St. Johns that he began to think something was up.

Along with Keith's family came another brother, Paul, and family of St. Johns and another, Darrell, of Midland and also a nephew, Mike Bishop of Lansing with wife and baby.

Betty's mother, Helen Lang, brothers John and Ken Millspaugh, the Bud Greggs, Laura Southerns and Ron and Alice Talbot of Ann Arbor were all present along with lots of bowlers, firemen and friends. Peggy Sprague made the cake and Lynn Medvecz was among the family members helping with serving.

Among the greetings was one from President Gerald Ford which Mrs. Nyland was glad to keep this year. Evidence of the lady's wit, which delighted her family, was her fast retort when someone mentioned that the 104-year-old gentlemen employed in Alexandria, Va. flower shop would make her a good boyfriend. She said "He's too old."

THE SAGA OF GEORGE CONTINUES

The big white egret, George, becomes more handsome all the time. His aigrette feathers are beautiful, airy and feathery plumes which now are [illegible] his tail and [illegible] He is justly proud of them and spends much time preening.

Several weeks ago we missed him for a few days. He is always so faithful in his daily patrols of the lake shore that we could not help but notice his absence. Along came a cold windy and rainy Monday though and George was back at his old haunts. And haunting was almost what he did too.

He parked himself down in front of Oscar's coach and stayed there all day long. A more forlorn, dejected looking character would be hard to imagine. His beautiful 'courting clothes' drooped and were so wet they hung in strings.

He was all slouched down and hunched over, his long skinny neck was pulled in and his head rested on his shoulders. As the day grew progesssively worse he looked more and more pathetic.

We felt so sorry for him — even though it was all a fake. George is nothing but an old charlatan. He could have found shelter in any one of a thousand places.

Oscar even has a little palm tree which would have afforded a little protection. But George was having none of that. He stood right out in the open. Wind, cold rain and George.

If he were not staring straight at Oscar's windows he was pacing back and forth. Had ne been a person his head would have been down and his hands held behind his back. Every move was made to elicit pity. Oscar fishes for George and what we watched all day was a superb begging job.

If he looked sad, and miserable enough perhaps Oscar would come out with his fishing pole in spite of the weather. This was a war of nerves. If Oscar could not be made to feel enough pity, perhaps he could be made to feel guilty. George took to staring in earnest.

He stood statue-still, pointed right at the house and I am sure he did not even blink. We caught the vibes way up here - poor George out in the rain while Oscar was in where it was warm and dry.

Finally in late afternoon, Oscar cracked. It was a good thing for our nerves were beginning to feel the strain. He came out and stood at the top of the lake bank but instead of a casting rod, he had a bag of bread.

This was a compromise and apparently George accepted it as the best deal he could get. As Oscar tossed the pieces of bread into the lake the fish came to nibble it and George waded in to dine on them.

Not only is the egret a cold, calculating faker but just lately he is showing himself to be the worst sort of a selfish male chauvinist. A gorgeous gal comes to visit him almost every day . They do their lovely synchronized flying routine and thrill everybody who is lucky enough to watch.

However, when anyone around his lake appears with a fishing pole the situation suddenly changes. At first we thought he was being a gentleman but now we know better.

Of course, the minute there is the prospect of a free fish George is always Johnnie-on-the-spot. Even when entertaining his girl friend. It was only natural that when he flew and landed near Oscar or any other fisherman And Friend followed.

At first she was shy and stayed quite far away. This suited George just fine. Gradually though she overcame her wariness and started getting closer and closer to the fishermen.

This was too much for George. He placed himself between And Friend and the fisherman and edged her back out of the way. At first we thought his actions were a rather gentlemanly way of reminding her that wild birds should not become too friendly with people because some were OK but others were not.

And Friend is a smart gal though, she knew better than we did what was going on. Selfish old George just was not about to share.

Oscar and the other fishermen began tossing a fish to George and then one to And Friend. As she learned to go to the second fish George's behavior became most ungentlemanly.

The current situation is this: And Friend sneaks around and catches occasional handouts but this always results in a chase. George drives her away. When he becomes too belligerent she lands on the roof of the fisherman's coach. This satisfies George and yet lets her keep track of what is going on.

So it is that the egret watching gets better all the time — the saga of George continues!

Tips On Cheese

When you're planning your food budget, remember to put cheese on your list. It can be the start of many delicious but inexpensive meals.

The delicious natural flavor of cheese is best maintained when the cheese is kept refrigerated and wrapped, either in the original polyfilm covering or in a plastic wrap. Should portions dry out, they can be frozen, but when thawed will often be mealy and therefore more suitable in cooking recipes.

Always remove cheese from refrigeration about one-half hour before serving to fully enjoy the delightful flavor, aroma and texture.

The Norman Barnards and Robert Howders share experiences.

Sisters Follow in Mission Field

By KATHY KULCZYK

Esther Howder and Louise Barnard said it is no coincidence that they married their missionary husbands, Bob Howder and Norman Barnard.

"It is something one chooses to do just as anything else," said Esther.

The sisters are the daughters of Mrs. Vadah Stutesman of Tecumseh.

Deciding to marry a missionary is somewhat different from setting out to marry a man of any other occupation.

Being a missionary's wife requires a call to Christian ministry, a trust and confidence in the providence of God, belief in God's word and a willingness to sacrifice worldly ambitions.

Both Louise and Esther attended Cedarville Baptist College in Cedarville, Ohio, where they met their husbands. Louise graduated with an English degree. Esther graduated from Calvin College, Grand Rapids in secondary education. She transferred there when Bob moved to the seminary.

Bob Howder was ordained 10 years ago. Bob and Esther have two children, Scott, 10 and Penny 8, and returned in August on furlough from four years in Japan. They have been there since 1964.

Norman Barnard just graduated from the seminary in December. The Barnards have two children, Heather, 3, and Shannon, one year old. The Barnards are now working on their deputation and preparing for their mission to Hong Kong.

The family was reunited in Tecumseh this past holiday season.

Both the Howders and the Barnards are affiliated with the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism, Cherryhill, N.Y.

As candidates for their first mission, the Barnards must raise support from local churches to travel and live overseas. Norman undergoes extensive testing and the couple attends candidate classes which present all fields for an updated look at the missions.

They do a lot of reading and some language preparation. Most of the adjustments will come in living overseas. Usually the first two years are spent learning the language.

The Kowloon and Victoria area, where they will be stationed has a population of 4 million in a 15 square mile area.

Norman will teach in the Bible institute there and establish local churches.

"The excitement and enthusiasm that has built up all your life, waiting for the moment you are there, compensates for any doubt," Louise explained their expectations and excitement.

The Howders' mission area is Kagoshima City at the southern most tip of Japan with a population of 450,000. There the couple has been busy starting new churches.

"You look forward to coming home for the things you miss. This is our second furlough and I enjoy being with American women," said Esther.

"If I were to pick one single human influence who guided me toward this life, it would be my mother," said Louise. "She was always involved in church work. She was a strong influence toward the missionary field."

The missionary wife is very important to the success of the missionary team said the men. "Our wives work in the home and enable us to preach. As families, we are obligated to serve the people we teach. A wife supports her husband in Sunday school work, teaching our children and working with people outside the church in the PTA and in other community activities," said Bob.

Esther taught American cooking to Japanese women. "And they loved it. This is the kind of activity that acquaints them with us," said Esther.

The couples agree that a major responsibility of the wife is taking charge of correspondence and offering testimony. "Then there is the eternal traveling, the packing and unpacking and coping with the kids so that our husbands can carry on the ministry," said Louise.

"The husband is not to be a dictator. Husband and wife are all equal in soul mind and conscience. A husband is not head in the sense of putting a wife under his thumb," said Norman.

"God knew that there had to be one dominant person to get things done. When a body tries to function without a leader there is chaos. A head is needed for decision making" said Esther.

"And in the submission to one another, there has to be an understanding between husband and wife and parents and children," said Bob.

Norman explained, "If I were the average American male, I'd be upset. I can't afford luxuries most Americans want. But I know that our (my wife's and my) values are the same. And that makes all the difference to our happiness in the life to which God called us."

The couples expect to remain in Tecumseh until the summer.

Each couple will visit with the husband's relatives before resuming their missions.

Bi-Centennial Project

Macon School to be Renovated

By LINDA PHILLIPS

MACON — At first, the only noises audible in the musty stillness are the slight stirrings of a family of frightened field mice who have adopted Mills School in Macon Township as their home.

One can almost hear the clang of the teacher's wooden-handled brass bell heralding the beginning of class, small voices reciting from McGuffy Readers, and the grating sound of chalk on hand-held slates.

The old bell was silenced many years ago, but through the efforts of a group of energetic and enthusiastic folks in a seemingly sleepy village east of Tecumseh, that bell - or one like it - may ring again.

Instead of bringing reluctant children in from recess, though, it will call to order a meeting of Macon Historical Society.

Members of the newly-formed organization - 12 thus far - are undertaking the restoration of the 115-year-old structure as their first project.

Society members Bob and Myra Bush have donated Mills School with the dual purpose in mind of both preserving a part of Macon's past and helping to provide a future for the historical society.

Located on the corner of Pennington and Mills-Macon Roads, the school was built in 1860 by Gabriel Mills, close to the site of an earlier school believed to have been built in 1936.

Mills, who came to Macon in 1832 from Barnegat, N.J., was recognized as one of the most progressive, influential and generous citizens of the community.

Upon his arrival, Mills took up a track of government land which was all virgin forest, cleared it for his family's first home - a primitive log cabin - and built a saw mill on Macon Creek.

It was in this saw mill (present location of the grist mill built later by Henry Ford, now owned by the Eldredge family) that the logs were cut for the first frame schoolhouse in Macon Township.

Gabriel Mills also donated the hand-forged hardware for Mills School, and after its completion it was presented to District No. 2. Early teachers were boarded free of charge in the Mills Home on Mills-Macon Road which is now the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Squires.

High on the priority lists of the Macon settlers was their children's education. By comparison to today's standards, the first classrooms were crude and the curriculum not as broad.

Nevertheless, much more than the "three r's" were learned by those first pupils as was recorded in "Memories of Lenawee County," 1909;

"The instruction given, though necessarily limited to the common branches of learning, was such as to beget ambition and foster correct principles, so we that in these latter days of advanced facilities . . . we cannot afford to look back with ridicule . . . at these formative institutions often maintained at much sacrifice on the part of the sturdy pioneers."

One by one schools sprang up in Macon, and by the time Henry Ford arrived in the late 1920's to build his grist mill, there were nine schools operating in the Township.

They included Merritt, City, Miller's, Gibson, Bock, Bird, County Line, Town and Mills. Old Stone Pennington School was then being used by the local grocery store as a warehouse. Ford quickly saw to it that the school resume its original purpose.

Education was high on Ford's priority list, too, and soon Old Stone Pennington and Town schools became known as "the Ford Schools" although still operated by the school district.

Ford introduced to the students classes that were being taught in city schools which were new to rural students: home economics, dancing, knitting and weaving, speech, carpentry and mechanics, to name a few. Music and art teachers also visited these schools regularly from the Edison Institute in Dearborn.

Gardens were planted next to the schools and were maintained all summer long by the students who were transported to and from the plots in Ford's buses. In addition to providing the broadest possible instruction, Ford paid all students' hospitalization and dental care and provided free milk.

Mills School formally closed in 1938, and the building was taken over by the consolidated Britton-Macon School District. At that time, the Mills students were transferred to the Town School in the village limits.

Bob Bush was one of those students. Did he ever think he'd own the school he had attended as a knickers-clad boy? "No - never in my wildest dreams!" exclaimed Bob.

Mills School holds many fond memories for Bob. He recalls the day the teacher, Miss Doris Lawrence, found it necessary to use some discipline on one of her students — Martin Crowns — and administered a large wooden paddle she kept for such purposes.

"Martin took that paddle away from Miss Lawrence and broke it in two," Bob laughs. The last to teach in Mills School, Doris Lawrence Forsythe now lives in Provincial House, Adrian.

Then there was the day Charlie Bigelow decided to float down Macon Creek on a cake of ice while on his way back to Mills School after noon recess. He fell in the icy water and had to spend most of that afternoon behind the school's furnace!

The Bushes purchased their Pennington Road farm in Jan. 1965 and received a transfer of deeds for Mills School. On Psalm Sunday, April of the same year, a tornado struck.

Besides the devastating damage done to their home, the twister blew off part of the school's chimney and roof, [illegible] of the windows and carried off the outhouses (one boys' and one girls'), a coal shed and a garage — all of which were never recovered. Several large trees surrounding the school were destroyed.

Bob and sons Larry and Lynn have made repairs on the building in the past 10 years, but considering the building's age, previous care and the damage the tornado wrought, somewhat extensive repairs will be needed to restore the school to its original condition. Repair of the roof is scheduled to begin this month.

All renovations made by Historical Society members will be completely authentic — down to the last detail. The restoration is being funded locally, and the possibility of securing a Bi-centennial matching grant to help finance the project is being investigated.

There is also talk of a "shingle exchange" — anyone donating the price of a few new shingles would in turn receive an original Mills School shingle — with all the historic and sentimental value in tact!

Donations of old school desks and other memorabilia from education's past will be gratefully accepted. How about a wooden-handled brass bell for starters?!

MILLS MACON SCHOOL

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

The sun shone so brightly Saturday morning that it belied the 29 degrees on the thermometer, and a high of 38 had been forcasted...So despite snow on the roof of Mills School, a crew made up of Otto Miller, Harold Rhora, Bob and Larry Bush and Bill Phillips began pulling off 115-year-old shingles, laying tar paper and replacing cedar shingles.

Myra Bush and son Lynn and Irene Miller were on hand to pick up the old shingles and tie them up. The day was spring-like until cold winds came up to rain on the parade.

Still, Macon Historical Society members worked until almost 5 p.m. This writer made a brief visit, staying long enough to hand out some society membership cards.

Pearl and Bernard Tucker are grandparents again. David Ashley was born to their son and daughter-in-law, Norman and Betty Tucker, of Grosse Pointe Woods.

David weighed 10 lbs. 11 oz. and measured 22 inches long. Born March 13, David has a 4-year-old brother, Marc. Great-grandmother Myrtle Clark of Macon told me she wished she lived closer to the family so she could get her hands on Davey!

"Birdie" will be presented March 20, 21, and 22 at the S.H.S. theater.

Charles Lindquist, curator of Lenawee County Historical Society was guest speaker at Macon Woman's Club March 13 at the home of Mrs. Leland Bush.

In addition to up-dating the group regarding the Society's present endeavors and future plans, Lindquist asked the women "to try to be more aware of the historic value" of things they might have in their possession."

He also brought with him some newly-acquired items of the Society including an old radio which had been made in Adrian.

Mrs. Leland Bush played a medley of patriotic songs on the piano and told of her great grandfather who served in the Revolutionary War and her late husband's grandfather who fought in the Civil War. She then played a tape recording made by County High School's symphony orchestra that musically denoted the different stages of the Civil War.

Mrs. Arthur Hill gave devotions.

Mrs. Bush was assisted in the luncheon preparations by Mrs. Merle Cross and Mrs. Mills Swick. Britton Woman's Club members and Mrs. Herbert Gilmore of Macon were guests.

It was announced that a group of Macon Woman's Club volunteers will meet Thursday at Goodwill Industries to continue the project begun of cutting and sewing carpet rags.

The April 10 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Merle Cross when the annual grab bag sale will be featured.

Slides Shown at Friends Church Meeting

Slides of the Sesquicentennial parade, including the Friends Church winning float, church scenes and luncheons and banquets from past years shown by Miss Lockwood highlighted the meeting of the Power Class of Friends Church Friday evening.

Lee Fogelsong conducted the brief business meeting when the decisions was made to contribute some money to the Sunday School treasury.

Gelatins, wafers, punch and coffee were served.

Without Electricity Everything Stops

In our industrial society, most jobs wouldn't exist without electricity. Unfortunately, Michigan is facing a real energy crunch.

While we can supply today's demand for electricity, our generating capacity won't be enough to meet the demands of tomorrow. Even with the greatest economy and energy conservation, Michigan's homes, offices and industry will need more electricity in the future. And to meet that demand, we must build new generating plants.

The trouble is, galloping inflation outruns our revenues. So, our earnings have gone down and down, until we have been forced to cancel major construction projects and postpone the expected service date of other plants.

To get these new plants back on schedule, we have to restore our earnings to the point where we can attract capital from investors. To do that, our electric rates have to go up. We don't like higher prices. But we'd like power interruptions even less. We think you'll agree.

The Drinking Driver

By KATHY KULCZYK

Alcohol is the number one killer of young drivers in fatal accidents. Of more than 2,000 people who died on Michigan highways and streets in 1973, over one third were between the ages of 15 and 24.

If Matt Binder and Barb Henning, Tecumseh High School students have anything to do with it, this death rate should drop significantly within the next year.

Both recently attended SMASH, a weekend convention sponsored by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAA).

SMASH has the sound of tragedy. However, it is used to represent a safety organization named Students of Michigan Attaining Safer Highways.

Matt was appointed regional SMASH chairman of Region II which includes Lenawee, Hillsdale and Jackson counties.

Working within their own school and with some 50 others in the region, the duo will publicize the objectives of SMASH.

An awareness of youth traffic accidents, development of safety projects, local support for countermeasures and coordinated safety activities are their goals.

At the SMASH conference approximately 125 representatives from state high schools heard experts from the medical, law enforcement and public relations fields discuss the effects of drinking.

Alcohol alters behavior and first affects what has been learned most recently. If you are an adult, alcohol can debilitate your behavior pattern to age nine. If you are a teenager who has just learned to drive, alcohol will affect driver's training skills first, and reduce behavior to a younger age, said Barb.

Dr. Russell Smith, who has worked with alcoholism 18 years, corrected some fallacies about alcohol for the students.

No matter what you drink, the alcohol content does affect you. Although some people may argue that one form of alcohol doesn't get them drunk, it is purely psychological. This was demonstrated to students in a state controlled experiment.

Two beers or two mixed drinks, have the same alcohol content or one ounce of 100 percent alcohol.

There are no home remedies for drunkeness. "If you give a drunk coffee, you have a wide awake drunk. If you put him in a cold shower, you have a cold, wide awake drunk. The only remedy for a drunk is sleep," said Matt.

Alcohol affects different people in different ways. "Alcoholics bypass drunken behavior. They drink until they go blank. That is why alcohol is a disease. You can't tell when you've had enough," said Barb.

Alcohol causes problems for the inexperienced. You CAN be a teenage alcoholic. Barb and Matt agree that lowering the age of majority has exposed teenagers to alcoholism much sooner.

Alcohol poisoning, from drinking too much too fast, is another trap for the inexperienced.

In addition, hard core drinkers build up a tolerance for alcohol and an immunity to disease breaks down. Alcohol causes brain damage and increases risk of heart attack.

Another falacy is the social drinker, which is hard to define, said Matt. "If you are at a party and have to drink, you are not a social drinker. You're going there for the drink and might be headed for more permanent addiction to alcohol," warned Matt.

Matt and Barb are interested in becoming more than just another interest group on the student assembly. They hope through their efforts, people will see a difference in the averages and totals of youth traffic fatalities here.

"One or two beers is already enough to affect you. If you drink, don't drive; and if you drive, don't drink. It's that simple," said Matt.

"Care about yourself and other people," said Barb, "Don't drink and drive."

If only 10 percent of their enthusiasm rubs off, everyone should see some changes.

VISITORS FROM THE PAST — Herrick Park's sixth grade students recently participated in a special historical program for parents. Students were required to take a famous person from the past and assume their identity. They dressed in special costumes and conversed with parents as if they were the actual person. Henry Ford, W.C. Fields, Marilyn Monroe, Gen. and Mrs. George Washington, Abe Lincoln and John F. Kennedy—among others—came alive for the program. Richard Billington and Karen Bufe were the teachers who coordinated the special study project. Dance Club and Gymnastic Teams Perform March 22

"Collage of Images" will be presented by the dance club and gymnastic teams in the Tecumseh High School gym March 22 at 7:30 p.m.

An experimental dance routine, which includes film excerpts of Tecumseh scenes, will be featured.

The high school dance club will present African dances, a chorus line and a humorous number entitled "Sesame Street."

The gymnastics team will present competition exercise routines, a massed tumbling event and several exercise and dance studies.

About 60 female students will participate in the program for all ages. The public is invited. A small admission is charged.

This is the second year for the high school gymnastics team, who just completed its first season of competition. The gymnastics coach is Mrs. Dale (Mary) Wood. The junior high school gymnasts and dancers will also perform.

Dance club advisor is Mrs. Eugene (Jo) Cooley.

The dance club and gymnastic teams are after school enrichment programs.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor:

Having availed myself of the opportunity to visit school last Thursday, Feb. 27, I was appalled, as evidenced by their absence, at the apparent lack of interest shown by the majority of parents of the 1,176 students enrolled in Tecumseh High School.

Perhaps this letter should be directed to you, the parents. Where were you last Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 26 and 27?

Surely you could have found at least one or two hours to avail yourself of the opportunity to visit classes and meet teachers?

With the old excuse "I can't come, I'm working," no longer quite as effective as it once was, are you saying by your absence that you were too busy, to preoccupied to observe first hand the people your teenager spends more waking hours with then he does with you?

If you had been present either day you would, perhaps, have been made aware of the severe overcrowded physical facilities with, for example, the room designed as the cafeteria being used for band rehearsal and then wrestling practice.

To the students I, as a parent, apologize for our miserable showing to the absent parents - for shame!

Mary Margaret Furry
906 Sunset Dr.

To the Editor:

Beware the area behind Baldwin's Hardware and adjoining stores! It is considered an alley and the City has lately decided to enforce the alley no parking law. This was announced in the Herald but if you missed the notice, you may be surprised by a $5 fine if you park there, as did my wife.

No - nary a sign! "They're not required. You're supposed to know that it is an alley" says the Police.

So, instead of letting the unknowledgeable citizen know that he is breaking the law (via signs), they give him a ticket and then he knows.

Since the authorities were remiss for umteen years, it would seem they would erect signs to warn the shoppers from parking illegally, rather than ripping them off by unjustified fines.

If you, too, have been victimized by this situation, let it be known to the City! Perhaps, at least, such problems may be avoided in the future.

top of the hill

The hill spreads out in front of them, stretching up and up; they can't see over the top. There may be clouds in the distance; but just now they are oblivious to them. They are together, and for the moment, that is all that matters.

Togetherness, the mood, the romance it evokes, are a part of life. But so is that uphill winding road. Traveling through life, you often can't see over the top. You can only give each step along the way the best that is in you.

Fortunately, this is a journey that none of us has to make alone. Your Creator is reaching out to you and the doors of His Church are forever open. If you haven't passed through those doors for a long time, or if you have never passed through them at all, give it a try next Sunday! You will not be alone, and a new perspective may be yours.

HOMEOWNERS CORNER

by Vic Clauda

Dishwashers are sometimes a problem for a novice to install. If you have a disposal that you can run the drain into, it is fairly easy. Use ⅝ rubber hose (that will withstand the 140 degree temperature) and run it to the outlet on disposal making sure that the hose at some point raises 4 or 5 inches above the inlet to disposal so that water will not back into dishwasher line when you let a lot of water out of the sink. If you don't have a disposal you can use an 1½ inch x ⅜" "Y" connection that should be installed ahead of the sink trap. The water line is usually a ⅜" O.D. copper union connection. Be sure you install a shut-off on the water line to dishwasher.

Tecumseh's Hockey Team Loses Two At Jackson

JACKSON — Tecumseh's club hockey team went down to defeat twice this past weekend at the hands of Adrian in A division playoffs. Tecumseh lost by scores of 5-1 and 3-1 Saturday and Sunday nights respectively. The winner of the series was determined by total goals scored for the two games.

What's Up at THS

By Gwen Vavrinek

Pocket calculators have become a useful and popular item recently. Not only are they valuable to many people in preparing taxes, and budgets, but they are a help to several students in high school.

Because of the high prices of pocket calculators, the number of students who own them are few and fortunate.

In recent interviews at Tecumseh High School, students said they purchased the calculators to provide ansers much more accurately and much faster than spending boring hours doing long division or figuring cube roots.

With the help of calculators, students can think less yet get the work done faster and easier.

Since calculators can be used in classrooms, students and teachers agree that students who own them have an advantage over students who do not.

Students who own calculators said they think this criticism is unfair because they spent the money for the calculators and then share them with others.

Teachers of classes that use calculators favor the use of the mini-computers in the classroom because they are great time savers.

The only objection these teachers have is that usage of calculators is a disadvantage for those who can't afford one.

Pocket calculators come in handy in classes such as high school courses as algebra II, biology II, chemistry, physics and advanced math.

Right now, there seems to be no hard and fast rule to end the moral controversy.

Council Hears Spokesman

Gene Snedeker, Consumers Power Company addressed City Council Monday night on the renewal of the company's gas franchise in the city.

He asked for introduction of an ordinance granting Consumers Power Co. the franchise for a 30-year period.

A public hearing was set by Council for April 7 at 8 p.m.

A copy of the ordinance appears in this week's Herald.

Approved

City Council approved the purchase of a Motorola five watt, hand model walkie-talkie for use by the fire department for $900.

Radio will be used to communicate with trucks on the fire frequency.

Easement Agreement

An easement agreement between the city and Protane Corporation was authorized by Council Monday night.

It enables the city to continue using the Tecumseh Park drive, which inadvertently encroaches on property owned by Protane, for one dollar annually.

The drive has been used by the public for many years.

City Council Hears Complaint on Ticket

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder, 115 Burt St., opposed at Council Monday night, a ticket fine, given to Mrs. Snyder for parking in the alley behind Baldwin Hardware.

Mr. Snyder argued that enforcement of no parking there was only recent and there are no signs in the alley.

Police Chief Ray Walton said that parking has never been allowed there and in early January his department was ordered to give stricter enforcement.

Cars parked illegally behind the stores risk getting a ticket for $5. Motorists should park only in spaces designated for parking, not in alleys.

Only vehicles with commercial plates engaged in loading or unloading for reasonable time are allowed to stand in alleys.

Council took no action on the complaint.

Two Minute Siren Blast for Warning

A two minute steady blast on fire sirens around Lenawee County Thursday, March 27, at 5:55 p.m. is a tornado warning test.

The Sheriff's Department is joining the fire stations, conducting a test on Cable TV at the same time.

Fire Chief Wallace MacGeorge said Monday that the path of a tornado is usually one-eighth mile wide, two to five miles long and is over in 10 minutes.

Opening north and south windows may equalize the pressure and lessen the damage to a home, he stated. There is an eight percent decrease in pressure, causing houses to explode during a tornado.

Recent findings suggest that the safest place in most homes is in the northeast corner since the high winds in the funnels, which can reach 300 miles an hour, usually come from the southwest.

The "all clear" will be given by radio only, as well as all other storm information. MacGeorge emphasized, "Do not call, use your radio."

TEA - Schools Negotiating

Negotiations for a new contract between the Tecumseh Education Association and the local schools started Tuesday night.

The present three-year contract expires on Aug. 31.

Supt. Robert Duhan and his assistant, Gene Cooley, will head the schools' negotiating team, which will also include principals in the school system.

Vacation Starts

Annual spring vacation for the Tecumseh schools will start at the end of the school day, Thursday.

Classes will reconvene on Monday, April 7.

Architecture Is Historical

Compared with other towns, Tecumseh is one community that has a lot of existing 19th century architecture that can be preserved effectively, Professor Kingsbury Marzolf told his audience at the Community Center Tuesday night.

Marzolf presented a comprehensive, 40-minute history of architecture lecture with slides. He traced the origins of 19th century architecture in communities like Tecumseh back to European examples.

Focusing on the commercial district, (the Mills Block; The Masonic Temple, now the D&C store; 102 E. Chicago, now Don's Contented Sole and 111 W. Chicago, now the Beef Buffet,) Marzolf offered these suggestions for future restoration:

- A streetscape, or the effect of having a row of commercial buildings, is important in retaining a sense of space and enclosure to which people react differently. "Hopefully to bring people together."
- "Site leaks," vacant lots where buildings once stood, are not always natural places of congregation for "mini-parks." Instead try to keep the street buildings intact.
- Use street furniture to welcome people. "Improve and use the best architecture you have."
- Look up at buildings. Redesign sign work to make it compatible with the original facade.
- Take advantage of the existing architecture so that there is "variety to make the street more interesting," rather than "long flat areas."

Marzolf, both an educator and architect, said he is not an advocate of building "fake old fashioned stuff," but remodeling and building "Compatible with older buildings."

He was appointed by the city of Ann Arbor as a member of its Historic District Commission that has helped revitalize the downtown district. He is also chairman of the Michigan Historical Preservation Review Board.

Mayor Harold Easton commented after the meeting, "People who own these historic homes understand the importance of historic preservation. More people are becoming aware of the necessity for it. As we (the city of Tecumseh) move closer to getting a historic ordinance and a district, I hope more people become cognizant of preservation."

A few of the other Tecumseh sites Marzolf selected were:

Classic revival period, 401 W. Chicago, the "Anderson House," with Doric Columns and corner pilasters of the Greek Revival mode.

Gothic revival, The First Presbyterian Church, the spire of which has been a landmark since the 1870's.

Italian Villa style, 203 N. Union, the "E.B. Wood House."

French Second Empire style, 309 W. Chicago, with mansard roof and former windows. The last home of Allan Seager, Michigan novelist.

Several examples of Italiante homes with ornate bracketing under overhanging roofs, and Queen Anne, a domestic version of eclectic architecture, more ornate than Italianate with steep roofs, built at a later date.

Hospital Releases Ed Clark

Eddy Clark, beaten victim in a robbery attempt on Feb. 4 at Jerry's Market, has been released from University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Three juveniles, said to be involved in the robbery attempt and clubbing of Clark, are scheduled to appear in Probate Court this Thursday at Adrian.

Clark, who spent seven weeks in the hospital, reportedly may have to return there for an operation if his condition fails to improve.

Just possibly the old song, "The Bird on Nellie's Hat" may have given Little Garden Club's Mrs. Owen Merrill the idea when she created a table setting arrangement for the flower show at Hudson's in Briarwood last week. Sylvia's creation, entitled "Reawakening" featured a bird's nest on a straw hat, and Norman Rockwell dinner dishes. Event was sponsored by Federated Garden Clubs.

Helen McCann knows better now than to dream while the bread dough rises. Sunday evening the lady decided to let the dough rise a little while longer. She got too comfortable and ended up taking a snooze. At 4 a.m. she jumped out of bed and saw the dough 4 inches above the pan. She baked until sunrise. Maybe Mrs. McCann should have taken half a loaf instead of a full snooze.

Look at your face and determine its shape. If it is round, if your eyes are round, and you have no bone structure, do not try to sculpture your face with make-up. Just keep everything soft and round-mouth, eyes, hair, and even an oval shape in your glasses, you will look pretty. If you do have bone structure, cheekbones, jawline, nose and well-formed eyesockets, work to shape the eye and make the most of your facial structure. After all, one thing does not work for all women.

If your hair is short, trying on a wig is no problem. Just brush it back flat and secure it behind your ears with two pins. If your hair is long, simply divide it into two strands, wrap them around your head, and pin. Then take the wig from the front with one hand, (twist it and pin it only after it is completely on), grab the back of the wig with your other hand, and pull it over your head. Ears should be outside of the wig.

DOWNTOWN TECUMSEH

TWO DISTINCTLY DIFFERENT MEANINGS

Mockingbirds are nice to have around. They [illegible] birds but this, of course, only [illegible] to watch. Originally a southern bird, they are gradually extending their range northward. "The Michigan Audubon Newsletter" once in a while even reports one being seen in Michigan. Not Tecumseh though. Ken and Nan Connair join us in wishing we could bring a few back to Indian town.

Actually, we Duncans had beginners luck in our first few mockingbird adventures. We kept seeing the male in his courting display. He was handsome. We kept wondering why the bird-books insisted that there was little noticeable difference between the sexes. Our male was decidedly darker than his mate.

Well, the books were right. Now that we have had a chance to watch more and see the birds in their non-courting activities there really isn't much difference. When the male has himself pulled together, when his tail is not fanned wide and his wings spread, those distinctive black and white markings do not show. He is just another pretty gray bird — like his lady.

The brown thrasher, the catbird and the mockingbird are all mimics but the mocker is the most talented member of the family by far. I can't begin to list all of the birds our pair of mockers can do; in fact, I believe that trying to sort out their songs would be an impossible task.

However, there have been cardinal whistles, bluejay chatterings, red-winged blackbirds songs and meadow lark melodies all tracable to the mockingbirds.

They can also do much too good a job of imitating the raucous squawking of both the purple and the boattailed grackles. What is even more fun than the variety of sounds though is that these birds sing at night as well as during the day. How strange this seems.

Perhaps it was Katherine Dickinson who first told us that mockers have a passion for raisins. We tried putting them on the bird-feeder but the grackles spoiled that. The final solution was a small aluminum dish floating in the birdbath. Both birds came here regularly, not to bathe but to drink. Now they come to eat too.

One stands with both feet clamped to the edge of the dish while the other does the splits with one foot on the bird-bath and one foot on the rim of the raisin dish. A little water in the dish to plump up the fruit makes it that much tastier. Usually one or two raisins are eaten then one is carried to the corner of the porch roof.

Occasionally both birds come for raisins at the same time. This means trouble. The more aggressive bird tilts his long [illegible] and [illegible], his darkish gray head drops and his long black bill opens slightly. The noise is unpretty, a harsh rasping hiss. It must be very effective though for the other bird always leaves.

After a couple of days of watching this performance we wanted to start taking pictures. The set-up was great, the bird-bath is about five feet from the porch and beautiful bright sunshine bathes it all afternoon.

Unfortunately a screw from my tripod has pulled a disappearing act and I was not about to trust my heavy camera on anything but the most sturdy base. No really great trouble though — Mom could do the shutter clicking instead of me.

The camera was focused, the f-stop adjusted and the camera placed on a chair in a corner of the porch. Easy to pick up for Mom's chair was right there too. Now all we needed were the birds.

As it turned out, mockingbirds mock or imitate but they also mock to make fun of. And it was Mom they mocked in this sense of the word. They would come to the feeder but the minute she picked the camera up away they went. Time after time, after time this happened. Mom was beginning to know a few of the frustrations I have suffered over the years.

Certain birds just seem to have uncanny camera sense. The other version of the game is not to appear when the camera is ready. Sometimes these birds would not show themselves until Mom went into the house. Then one or both would immediately come to the raisin dish.

Mom was about ready to throw raisins, camera and mockingbirds in the lake when finally they relented. Since then, more obliging models would be hard to find!

So it is from mockingbirds we get mockers which can be shortened to mock and that word, just ask Mom, has two distinctly different meanings.

Volunteers Make Drop-In Center A Success

BY KATHY KULCZYK

Every once in a while a parent needs a chance to "talk back." To get things out in the open. Or just share a rewarding parent experience with someone who appreciates being a parent.

The Tecumseh Community Drop-In Center, a unique program in parent education, offers an opportunity to exchange child rearing ideas in an informal setting with professional resource people.

There is no membership. The weekly meetings are structured so people can walk in for the discussion that interests them.

It operates through the Lenawee Intermediate School District, which coordinates special services and special education throughout the county.

Edna Mae Henkels and Betty Lewis are the social workers for the Tecumseh School District. They guide the program which supplements PTO meetings.

Meetings begin with a guest speaker, usually a professional or local expert, followed by a short coffee break and discussion groups on topics.

The idea for the Center actually originated from the small mother's groups Mrs. Henkels began back in Oct. 1972 at Ridgeway school. Actually this is the third year of the Center.

"Many people remark that it is good to be exposed to new ideas. Older mothers see this as the first opportunity to express their ideas.

"Grandparents also come. Parents remark they are relieved to learn their problems are not unique," said Mrs. Henkels.

Although the emphasis is on school age children, the scope of the [illegible] has broadened.

"Parents of school age children are concerned about wills, insurance and the like. They ask, 'If something happens to us, what about the children?' " said Mrs. Lewis.

Unique indeed is the program that operates effectively with volunteers. The relaxed atmosphere encourages participation.

"We've seen people really develop. There is no pressure on them to do anything. They feel right at home and soon become involved.

"They learn it is a real strength to speak up on a divergent feeling," said Mrs. Henkels.

Parents volunteer as discussion leaders, publicity workers, coordinators for the month or offer rides to each other. Occasional training sessions help orient them.

A planning committee of about 20 parents surveys needs, evaluates the program, sets new topics, confirms meeting coordinators and some other administrative details.

"Between the ideas from people who attend and the planning committee, new topics just keep coming," remarked Mrs. Lewis.

The program is so well organized, it seems to run itself.

The social workers attend the second and fourth meetings of the month. A second year social work student from the University of Michigan, James Lees, is present at the other meetings.

Parents meet these professionals and learn what they do. Parents can approach them informally before or after meetings. "We can only work with a child's problem when parents approve," explained Mrs. Lewis.

Parents learn too that they don't have to have a problem to come to the center. The total community has benefited from the ideas considered at the Drop-In Center. Jobs for Teens, Little Indian Nursery School and an increased interest in local politicals are examples.

Free babysitting is provided through the cooperation of the high school. Each week, four students from the Future Teachers and the National Honor Society are supervised by a Vo-Tech child care instructor.

Some people move away and say they miss the Drop-In Center. Mrs. Henkels and Mrs. Lewis have received requests from other states interested in the program.

The program operates with the trust and respect of the parents and permission of the school administrators. It keeps people informed and involved. There is self-renewal and projects that have been boosted by the Drop-In Center are tangible proof of its success.

Eyes, Ears To be Checked

Vision and hearing screening is being made available again this year to pre-school children. This program, sponsored by the Lenawee County Health Department and the Michigan Department of Public Health, is available to all children from three and one-half to kindergarten age. Michigan law requires that children have vision screening before entering kindergarten.

A major aim of the program is to prevent one-eye blindness. This condition, commonly referred to as "the lazy eye" can often be corrected at the age of three or four years.

The screening, provided free of charge will be offered during April, May and June. Clinics will be set up throughout Lenawee County.

Application forms will be distributed through the schools and at pre-school round-ups. These forms may also be obtained at the local Health Department, Court House Annex, 113 W. Front St., Adrian.

Clinic dates will be announced later.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
Dear Mr. Mayor,

I just wanted to write and express my feelings to you. I drive through your town nearly every weekend, coming and going to our cottage on Clark Lake near Brooklyn, Mich., from spring to fall. I must say that architecturally, your town is one of the finest I have ever seen, both in residential and commercial construction.

The fine combination of mill and pond, the Greek Revival homes, the Italianate business establishments, and other historic buildings add up to a tremendous historical perspective, much of which appears to have been restored and preserved to your city's credit.

I would hope that the historic flavor of Tecumseh will continue to be advanced in the future, and that alterations and modern additions are not allowed to conceal this flavor, especially in the downtown area. It really [illegible] your city each weekend.

I wonder if it has ever been considered by anyone in Tecumseh, to place part or all of the city on the National Register of Historic Places, administered by the Department of the Interior?

Having done similar work here in Toledo, I think Tecumseh would stand a good chance of being registered — if this has already been considered or done, I would appreciate it if you could send me a pamphlet or story about the city's history, if one is available.

Again, thanks for preserving a fine bit of American the Historic.

Sincerely,
Ted J. Ligibel
2512 Portsmouth
Toledo, Ohio 43613

(Editor's note: The Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee has been appointed by city council to recommend a historic district and ordinance. The survey committee of the Commission anxiously awaits good weather to begin photographing homes and collecting data on 19th century homes in the city. Anyone who has any information on homes in town should contact Cecil Eby, chairman of the survey committee.)

Hidden Lake Gardens has recently announced a spring series of non-credit classes open to interested persons registering in advance.

A vegetable garden symposium cosponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and Hidden Lake Gardens will be held Saturday morning, March 29, and a terrarium workshop in the afternoon.

A series of four spring bird [illegible] every alternate Saturday mornings beginning April 5. A [illegible] workshop will be held Saturday afternoon, April 12.

Three sessions on edible wild plants are scheduled for alternate Saturday afternoons, beginning April 19.

A series of five spring nature walks is offered successive Thursday mornings, beginning May 1. And, a class of landscape evergreens will be held Saturday afternoon, May 31.

Further information and registration forms may be obtained by calling (517) 431-2060.

It is time to check your furnace again. Make sure your filters are clean. Oil the blower motor (and burner motor if you have an oil furnance). If your furnace has oil or grease bearings on the blower, grease these also. Some blower bearings are "OIL-LESS" and need no attention. Check the belt for breaks. It should be able to be depressed about one inch in the middle between the blower pulley and motor pulley.

The best way to get all your plumbing and heating jobs done is to come to CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. PRIMARY HOLDING TANKS AT PRESENT SEWER PLANT

40 Hear Proposals For Treatment Plant

by Maxine Calhoun

CLINTON—Forty persons attended a special hearing, March 18, in Clinton High School concerning the need for the new wastewater treatment facility in Clinton.

At the meeting conducted by Village President Clayton Strolle, village attorney, Melvin R. Smith explained the steps required by the Environment Protection Agency (EPA) in preparation of wastewater facility plans.

Smith said EPA requirements for the Clinton facility were reduced from the first suggested 12-square mile area to a smaller area more easily serviced, including Clinton Village and portiones of Clinton and Bridgewater Townships.

Next step, Smith said, an engineering study of the pollution control process is required and third step is building the plant.

Village engineering consultant Bob Wood explained that the size of the plant must include a 20-year projection to account for an estimated doubling of the service area from the present 2,200 to 4,500.

Wood outlined the four possibilities, citing the last as the only viable alternative.

First, is to do nothing, which Wood said was not feasible, since present sewer plant does not meet minimum quality standards for discharge into River Raisin, as determined by Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Second, might be treatment and reuse plant, however local industry has all its water needs already met, and farm area irrigation is not needed here.

Third, land application from a wastewater plant might enrich the soil, but some 5,000 acres of land might be needed, plus lagoons in winter, a plan which might cost an estimated $3.6 million.

Fourth alternative was a plant to recover, treat and discharge waste water of good enough quality to be put into the river. This plan, Wood said, would be the cheapest way to go and cost an estimated $1.2 million.

The suggested plan is an activated sludge plant with the newest rotating biological surface discs. Phosphates would be removed. Final solid disposal, after removal of excess moisture would be to farm lands or buried in pits, similar to Monroe's wastewater system.

Another alternative, to connect Clinton and Tecumseh in a joint sewer system, has already been discarded by area voters. This would cost over $2 million, Wood estimated.

Federal grants are expected to pay 80 percent of the cost of the facility, with village share at $200,000.

Village Engineer Richard Sharpe explained that Clinton at present doesn't have a treatment facility, just two primary holding tanks, which overflow into the river, and solids are removed to farm lands.

Present facility was built by WPA in 1940. This is no longer meets state approval, so decision must be made now, he said.

Sharp said, in answer to questioning, that local sewer and water rates would have to be raised, and connecting fees doubled, or tripled from the present $200, which is lower than most surrounding communities charge. Out-of-village development in Clinton and Bridgewater Townships would probably have to be an even higher fee.

Councilman Dale Sourbeck questioned the need to develop a 20-year projection; and asked whether industrial sewer-water rates would be adjusted to correspond with the higher fees to individual users; and whether the government could force village to service developing areas. He requested a written summation from council.

Others present questioned the proposal as set forth, and one asked if any community had ever said "no" to government demands for such a facility. He was told that the state can take a municipality court to enforce such a health requirement.

Complete stenographic record of this official hearing will be on file at the village office, and will be submitted to the EPA, the audience was told.

Library Hosts Open House

CLINTON—In observance of National Library Week, Clinton Township Library will hold an open house, Sunday, April 13 from 12 to 3 p.m.

For many who have not visited the library for sometime, this will be an opportunity to see the many improvements made during the past few years.

Since 1937 the library has been located in the Clinton Township Hall, a building which will be 100 years old in 1976.

Prior to that time the building was used for dances and meetings, and contained a balcony around the outer walls.

In recent years, the walls have been paneled, a rear entrance and rear office added, including a complete children's section, book shelves, a new magazine display, and most recently, wall-to-wall carpeting.

Operated by a one-mill tax levied on Clinton Township residents, the Clinton Township Library is fortunate in having adequate funds, as the township valuation continues to increase.

More than 800 new books were added last year including reference volumes, fiction, non-fiction, and children's books. There are also many records for loan.

A new feature is the library's Clinton historical file of artifacts already in the library. Another file will soon be added on Clinton historical memorabilia, under the supervision of the Historical Society of Clinton, with limited access by the public.

The library is a completely independent entity, unlike most area libraries, which depend on state funds.

Though not affiliated with the county library system, there is an inter-loan arrangement with the county for the local library.

Clinton's library was the first in this part of the U.S to have reproductions of paintings for loan. This has been one of the most successful innovations with about 200 framed pictures of all types available now.

A copier machine installed four years ago is used a great deal by the public.

Circulation, which is growing more than 10 percent a year reached 13,730 books alone last year.

Present library grew from a modest beginning in 1914, when the Clinton Culture Club sponsored the first library, in cooperation with the Clinton schools.

It was located in the former Dr. O'Connor house on W. Church St., then shortly afterwards was moved upstairs over a shoe store on W. Michigan Ave., (now Magee Antiques).

In 1921 the Clinton library was moved to the Woolen Mill Club room, where Court's Pharmacy is now located.

Library subsisted on funds from state highway fines system until 1937, when Clinton Township voted the one-mill tax for operation of the library.

First library board appointed in July 1937 consisted of C.C. Halliday, Dr. J. R. Foreman, the Rev. Rial Simons, Norman Haas, Mrs. Edward Kehoe and Agnes McWilliams.

Grace Davis became the librarian in Sept. 1937, and was succeeded by Agnes Geiger. While Margaret Heacock was librarian in 1965, she reorganized the filing system.

Library board members are elected now, and presently include: president, Lee Groeb; secretary, Violet Winder; treasurer, Marge Miller; trustees Esther Schmidt, Agnes Geiger and Marilyn Louverens.

Janet Welch has been librarian since 1965, and has two assistants, Elizabeth Pray and Janalee Welch.

Elected President

CLINTON—Mrs. Margaret Bless was elected president of the Lenawee Reading Council at the annual spring meeting at the West Adrian United Church of Christ on Thursday.

Dr. Walter Barbe, nationally recognized authority on personalized reading, suggested personalized reading programs to help pupils become better readers.

Go to Play

"The Rugged Cross"

By Pastor Charles Mellring
Ridgeway Baptist Church

The event marked so solemnly each year by many Christians, the death of Jesus Christ, is more than an interlude in history. It is also more than a preparation for "Easter," or "Resurrection Day."

When the Lord Jesus Christ died on the rugged cross. He was carrying out the purpose for which He had been born. Christ's coming to the earth — God the Son entering a human body - was for the express purpose of dying.

The absolute purity, the complete holiness of God cannot be violated. Yet the justice of God requires the death of "the soul that sinneth" Jesus Christ took a body in order to die as the Substitute for sinners. So as Paul writes in Romans 3, Christ is both "just, and the justifier of him that trusteth in Jesus."

The cross of Christ stands as the eternal answer to man's eternal need. There God the Son received the righteous reward of OUR sinfulness. There Jesus paid in full for our ransom; there He provided ALL that God's holiness required for our atonement.

"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." (Isaiah 53:6).

But the cross was not the end of the story! Nor was the cold and silent grave!

Macon Dialog

Strong winds prevented work on the Mills School roof Saturday. Sure would help if the weekend weather would be more cooperative. Soon several of our able-bodied historical society members will have to get their able bodies out into the fields for spring planting.

It was wall-to-wall people on the floor at the home of Marilyn and John Hewlett recently. Daughter, Julie, a senior at Grand Valley College, majoring in anthropology, one of her professors, his wife and child and 11 friends camped out at the Hewlett's Pennington Road home after a trip to U. of M.'s museum. "It was really lots of fun," laughed Marilyn.

Marilyn and Herb Bagby certainly had their share of company—planned and otherwise—this weekend. Friends Pat Schmidt of Marshall and Macon's Julie Rhora engineered a surprise to end all for the Bagbys.

Some of the 25 friends, relatives and neighbors invited to a surprise housewarming party for the Bagbys met at the Rhora home Saturday night and then caravanned down to Marilyn and Herb's new Clinton-Macon Road home.

"We saw the headlights of car after car coming toward our house and I couldn't imagine what in the world was going on," grinned Herb.

More company arrived on Sunday, but Marilyn was ready for the 18 guests she'd invited to a baby shower for Pat.

We represent several firms, but we work for only one boss—you. That way we can always place you with a company which we think is best for each line of insurance you need. Naturally, we prefer companies like Auto-Owners who look at a loss and take care of it right away, without haggling or delays. That's one of the reasons we're part of the Altogether Family. SPECIAL AWARD WINNERS—Tecumseh High School held its winter sports awards program Tuesday night. Among those honored were the six boys above. The two kneeling in front are John Burns, on the left, and Brad Sisson. Both tied for the most valuable player award in basketball. Sisson was also honored for best free throw percentage. In the back row on the far left is Don Rapin named most valuable wrestler. He tied with the boy next to him, Don Heistand for most pins in the season. Each had 17. Next to Heistand is wrestler Jim Shough who received a leadership award. On the far right is Dan Tilton who was named most improved wrestler. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS NAMED

THS Awards Program Held

Tecumseh High School recognized its winter sports athletes at a special awards program Tuesday night. Highlights of the event - held at Tecumseh Products Union Hall - included the naming of the most valuable wrestler and basketball player.

Don Rapin, who ended the season sixth in the state in his weight class, won the honor for the matmen. And Indian cagers elected Brad Sisson and John Burns in a tie vote.

In other special wrestling awards, Dan Tilton was voted most improved and Jim Shough won a leadership award. Rapin tied with Don Heistand for most pins in the season. Both ended with 17 apiece.

Coach Pat Connors said of his wrestling squad, which finished the season with an 11-3-1 record, "They were tough. They weren't willing to back off from anybody and they knocked off people they had no business beating."

The JV squad finished with a 10-9-1 record. Several JV matmen were honored for their first place finishes in the Lenawee County Junior Varsity Invitational tournament. Included were, Dan Yoder, Dave Cuellar, Mark Johnston, Tim Ries, Kevin Eggleston and Eric Butsky.

In volleyball awards, Coach Sue Allen singled out Julie Murphy and Jane Faulkner, both named to the all-league first team. Julie Anderson was named to the second team. JV star Tammy Downing received a special award for scoring 21 serving points in one match. Her season record came to 126 serving points in the 13 matches.

In only its second year of competition, the volleyball squad took first place in the Huron League. Allen commented, "Its been just super to be the coach of these fine girls. We'll be back next year hopefully to bring you a state title."

Basketball players were the last to be honored at the program. Coach Ron Spagnoli said of the season, which was more disappointing than others, "We had expected to do better than we did. When we played well we were an excellent team. Our inconsistency in shooting lost us the chance to do well." They ended the season with an 11-10 record.

Coach Spagnoli reminded those present that Bruce Hughes and Ken Biscupski were named to the first and second all-league teams respectively. Brad Sisson received honorable mention.

Hughes came out on top in scoring for the season with 279 total points followed by Biscupski with 223 and Sisson with 159. Sisson was honored for the second year in a row for the best free throw percentage. He completed 69 of 103 from the charity stripe. Hughes was also the leading rebounder with 220 for the season.

The Indian freshman basketball squad had a successful season winning 10 of their 15 games. Coach Victor Lawson missed the awards program due to ill health. It was the first sports banquet he has missed in some 26 years. Most schools the freshmen played were Class A.

The junior varsity also had a good season winning 15 of their 20 games.

Indian Track Squad Has High Hopes for Season

Tecumseh's track squad is hoping for an even more successful spring this year than last when they finished in second place in the Huron League with a 7-3 dual meet record.

Many of their hopes rest on returning senior lettermen like Bob Cook, Shawn Dalton, Mike Duhan, Kent Jacoby and Jim Karle. Backing up the seniors are returning junior lettermen Scott Church, Tim Eggleston, Jim Leonard, Linvel Lisenbee and Jeff Robideau.

According to coach Bill Croft, several non-lettermen have also been impressive in workouts and scrimmages thus far. Some of these include, senior Mike Connors; juniors Dale Bird, Dennis Cook and Tom Schwartz; sophomores Mike Eaton and Mike Martin and freshmen Jim Anderson, Kim Cantrell and Jim McKinney.

Prospects in individual events include:

Hurdles — Mike Duhan qualified for the state meet last year in the highs and looks better this year. Inexperienced back up hurdlers who show good potential include Dennis Cook, Jim Anderson, Scott Church, Jim McKinney and Jeff Robideau.

Sprints — The squad was very weak in this event last year but looks much better this season with Mike Reed and Tim Eggleston. Help could also come from Mike Eaton, Kim Cantrell, Kent Jacoby, Tim Furgason and Jeff [illegible].

440 and 880 — Indian Bob Cook is one of the best in the area. Dave Bilkie, Kim Cantrell, and Eric Baldwin head an impressive list of middle distance runners in the league.

Mile — Linvel Lisenbee, who qualified for the state track meet last spring is the only experienced miler returning. Kevin Burchett and Dale Bird could provide needed depth however.

Two Mile — Tim Scheff has impressive credentials here. one of the state's top cross country runners as a sophomore, he displays great potential as a distance runner. Jim Harris, Dale Bird and Bob Miller are other top prospects.

Shot Put — Jim Karle — whose best effort is 49 feet — leads a crew including four boys who hit at least 42 feet last year. The other three are Tom Schwartz, Kent Jacoby and Mike Martin.

High Jump — Five jumpers who have cleared 5'9" or better return including Bob Cook, Mike Duhan, Mike Connors, Jim Leonard and Scott Church.

Pole Vault — Two vaulters Shawn Dalton, whose best effort is 13', and Mike Newman (11') return.

Long Jump — Quarterback Bob Cook and Linvel Lisenbee are back, but both are tough. Other prospects include Scott Church, Jim McKinney, Mike Reed and Tim Scheff.

Coach Croft feels the league will be very tough this year with most of the competition coming from Airport, Grosse Ile, Monroe CC and New Boston Huron.

The squad travels to Eastern Michigan University this Friday to participate in the Huron Relays.

Youth Hockey Ends

The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department youth hockey teams concluded a very successful 18 game season this past weekend.

This is the second year that the Tecumseh Tomahawks have captured the Bantam Championship. The Bantams finished the season with 12 wins, 4 losses [illegible].

Top scorer for the Bantams was team captain Dave Perry, with a total of 29 goals and three hat tricks. That performance made Dave the league top scorer. Randy Vance was next with 22 goals and one hat trick.

Doug Wood, goalie for the Tecumseh team for the last two years, received one shutout award.

The Bantams were sponsored by the Tecumseh Products and coached by Ward Eardley. Assistant coach was Dave Simpson.

The Tomahawk PeeWees finished the season in third place. Top scorers were team captain Tim Eardley, Wendell West and Mark VanBuren. Eardley received two hat tricks, Van Buren and Adam Sturtevant each had one.

The PeeWees were sponsored by Raynor Snyder Realty of Adrian and were coached by Ward Eardley with assistant coach Ron Hill. Kevin Dunigan, goalie received two shut out awards for the season.

In the Mite Division the local team finished in fourth place. Top scorers for the Mites were Steve Eardley, Dave Stoll, Alex Williamson and Andy Davis.

Eardley, Stoll and Dan Lynch all had one hat trick. The Mites were coached by Ward Eardley and assistants were Jim Fulecky and Ed Foley. They were sponsored by Dave White Chevrolet of Sylvania.

Three Seniors Tie for Valedictorian

Three Tecumseh High School students share honors as valedictorians of the 1975 graduating class.

Selected as highest scholars in their class, each has better than a four point grade average.

This is the first time in the recollection of school officials that three have shared the honor. They are Marsha Denise Bale, Sheryl L. Bugbee and Timothy L. Prettyman. Randy Stein is salutatorian. All are members of the National Honor Society.

Marsha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bale, Tipton. Her other honors include a national merit commendation, and an honorable mention in the Detroit News Writing Awards.

She attended a seminar on paper science at Western Michigan University and the Civitan Youth seminar sponsored by the Lenawee County Chapter of Civitans.

Her activities include the Spanish club, junior and senior class plays, band, chorus, church youth fellowship and 4-H.

She was a member of the county youth convention and a panelist for New School on channel 5. She is church pianist and assistant organist at Tipton Community Church.

She plans to attend Western Michigan University to major in paper science.

Sheryl Bugbee plans to attend Adrian College to major in English or French. Her activities include the French club, Future Teachers, Top Notchers 4-H Club in which she held offices, cadet band, literary magazine co-editor and church youth group.

Her honors include first place in the local Voice of Democracy contest in 1973, and top 10-15 at the Lenawee County 4-H Style Review for the last four years.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bugbee 116 S. Maumee St.

Timothy Prettyman has tentative plans to attend the University of Michigan to major in engineering.

His activities include the Spanish club, football, cross country, junior and senior plays and intramural basketball.

His honors include first place tie in the National Spanish Examination, National merit finalist and MSU Alumni distinguished scholarship competition.

Mr. and Mrs. H.Lee Prettyman, 113 N. Democrat St. are his parents.

Salutatorian Randy Stein plans a career in science at Michigan State University.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stein, Tipton.

His activities include president of the Spanish club and editor of the Spanish magazine, drama club, intramural basketball and senior class play. He is an orderly at Herrick Hospital through Vo-Tech Coop program.

Among his honors are a $400 scholarship for language studies in Spain and a letter of commendation on scholastic achievement tests.

Two Games for Benefit

Any Indian fans wishing to see Tecumseh's state champion girls' basketball team again in action, should make a point of attending a special benefit basketball contest April 9.

Starting at 7:30 p.m., the girls varsity will meet the high school women's faculty and the boys varsity will take on the men's faculty.

2 Thefts Top $400, Church Vandalized

Two larcenies and vandalism at the Tecumseh Methodist Church were investigated the past week with property and money losses running over $400.

Two black males in their late teens or early twenties stole $70 from the cash register at John & Bill's Union 76 Station on N. Evans St. They fled through the city's northeast parking lot to a car for their getaway.

License number of the vehicle was obtained before the two sped out of town. Since neither the state police nor the county had patrol cars in the area, Tecumseh police searched the Clinton area where the automobile was last seen.

Larry Beckey, 1209 Murray Dr., reported to police Monday that his home had been broken into. He told officers that he noticed the front door was pushed in on March 25 but did not report it since nothing apparently had been taken.

Last Friday, however, he discovered two bowling balls, three rings and a skeet platform were gone. Loss is estimated at $334.

Vandalism at the Methodist Church occurred after 4 p.m. Monday. Catsup, mustard, relish and pizza were smeared on walls and floors.

INCREASES NEARLY $3 MILLION

City Valuation - $42,700,000

Unless the county or state forces a factor on city evaluations, Tecumseh's new property values for tax purposes will total approximately $42,700,000, according to Robert Hamden, city assessor.

This is an increase of $2.9 million over a year ago; and the total evaluation includes a factor of approximately six percent from the assessor. The applied factor is about half of that recommended by the county.

Officials will probably not know until October if an additional factor will be applied.

Also unknown is the city's millage for the 1975-76 fiscal year. Cal Zorn, city manager, will not present his budget to Council until later this month, and is not scheduled for approval until the middle of May.

For the past five years city evaluations have increased nearly $9 million. In 1971 the assessment figure was $33,800,000; 1972, $33,800,000; 1973, $37,900,000; and 1974, $39,800,000.

Reports $65,000 Loss

Morse Lumber Company, scheduled to open next week as Adrian Building Center, was destroyed by fire early Monday night.

About a month ago the company was purchased by Martin Wallich, owner of Tecumseh Plywood. In recent weeks extensive interior remodeling was undertaken along with other improvements.

Mr. Wallich estimates the loss at $65,000. He does not intend to rebuild.

Arson is suspected in the blaze which occurred about an hour after electricians left the building.

WHAT ABOUT THE BODY?—Tecumseh Players will present a comedy, "Exit the Body," next week at the Community Center. Left to right are Marcia Osterhout, Dave Way, Bill Cook, Jo Wegner, Marina Wisdman and Fred Taylor. Performances are April 11, 12, 13, 17, 18, 19.

Players Staging

When the curtain rises on "Exit the Body" at the Tecumseh Community Center Friday night, April 11, it will mark the opening of the 45th production for the Tecumseh Players over a span of 15 years.

"Exit the Body" is a mystery comedy by Fred Carmichael. The fast-moving play has some character parts that call for acting talent from a veteran cast.

Six performances will be given, April 11, 12, 13, 17, 18 and 19. Curtain is at 8 p.m. except Sunday, April 13, when the performance begins at 7 pm.

A newcomer to the players—but not to acting—is Marina Wiedman of Ann Arbor, who brings a professional sparkle to the role of Kate. A Drama and English graduate from Eastern Michigan University, she has more than 35 plays to her credit in professional, university and community theatre groups.

Others in the cast are David Way of Brooklyn, in a "bad guy" role, and Dom Santangelo of Ann Arbor, as the husband of Crane Hammond, the mystery writer.

Crane is played by Jo Wegner of Tecumseh, and it is her rented house in New England where bodies and jewels disappear and reappear.

The husband-wife team of Lori and Dick Egli returns to the Players' stage after several years' absence. They have husband and wife roles in this play.

Debbie Rutherford is part of another husband-wife team lending its talents to the show. She plays Helen O'Toole, while Joel is technical director for the production.

Fred Taylor's portrayal of the sinister Jonathan in last spring's "Arsenic and Old Lace" earned him a chance to get on the other side of the law in the role of Sheriff Vernon Cookley.

Marcia Osterhout, as Jenny, the maid, and Bill Cook, a private detective, complete the cast.

The production is directed by Willie Morgan, assistant professor of speech and drama at Eastern Michigan. He is assisted by Debbie Rutherford, with Jean Wegner as prompter. Overall coordinator for the show is Pam Ford.

The set construction crew includes Steve Osterhout and Fred Taylor. Lights are managed by Rory Skinner and Dave Bauman; properties, Pam Ford and Jean Wegner; tickets, Rene Crombez; programs, Guil Rothfuss; house and reservations, Judy Crombez.

Tickets are available from cast and crew members, from Flanders Music and Rene's Donuts. Reservations may be made by calling 423-7670.

Beginning with "Charley's Aunt" in Oct. 1960 at the old Strand Theater, the Players' stage has seen a procession of hundreds of performers in a variety of melodramas, comedies, mysteries, musicals such as "Oklahoma!" — even a minstrel show.

Arts and Crafts for Seniors

By KATHY KULCZYK

Spring is the season for new beginnings and April 1 the Tecumseh Parks and Recreations Department added Arts and Crafts day, to be every Tuesday at the Community Center, to the Wednesday and Thursday senior citizens' program.

Each Tuesday, seniors are invited to join in the special project for that week and share project ideas. Others may find pool, chess and checkers more to their liking.

"These meetings are for everyone to meet, have fun and talk," Ward Eardley explained. Wednesday and Thursday programs will continue with outings and games.

He said the additional activity day was encouraged by the increased participation at senior programs. Eardley said as many as 32 come.

On certain days, these crafts will be sold to the public, "with proceeds for the new senior citizens home," proclaimed Tuesday's group.

Continuing with the concept of spontaneity seniors are invited to bring sack lunches or on occasion, soup and sandwich meals will be planned.

Hostesses for these activities are selected from volunteers so everyone may have a turn.

Birthdays will continue to be celebrated on the last Thursday of the month.

Thursday Hot Dog Days, which started with a donation from the American Legion, will continue once a month through donations to supplement the program. Hot dogs will not always be served. Surprise menus are also planned. Anyone not a senior citizen is asked to pay a small price.

A weekly calendar of senior citizens events will be listed along with the Tecumseh calendar in the Herald.

Legislation Proposed by Board

Proposed legislation, drafted by the State Board of Education, instructs that every student be in a community college district. A number of counties like Lenawee County do not have a district.

If approved, the legislation would split Lenawee County, half going to Monroe and half to Jackson Community College districts.

In each case, communities forced into another county's community college district would pay the tax millage to support that district. Jackson assesses 2.79 mills and Monroe assesses 1.60 mills.

County Commissioner Martin Halley said he "objects to arbitrary edicts from the state level," and he feels that "citizens should have the option of determining their own community college needs in this county."

He plans to introduce a resolution at the next county commissioners' meeting.

He states that because the county previously turned down the opportunity to approve millage for the support of a community college, and that our concept of justice and self-government suggests taxation by consent rather than by arbitrary action at the State level, the commissioners should oppose the state legislation supporting an additional college district in adjacent counties.

Style Sense by Evel

More than any other feature, the eyes [illegible] their color and [illegible] vitality, lack of zest for life can sometimes lead to the impression that they have faded. Remember: the first step for a real beauty care for eyes is a happy and interested disposition. If you use eye shadow, choose it to complement the iris, and apply it sparingly. Eye shade which is well applied should minimize the darker area of the lower eyelid and intensify the color of your eyes.

Daily brushing—you have heard it a hundred times—is the best way to keep your hair at its best! Brushing stimulates the oil glands, and the secretion of oil—and this makes the hair more glossy. It also removes surface dust and dry cuticle from both scalp and hair. Use a moderately stiff bristle or nylon brush. Wash these every week with a good detergent, and don't forget to wash your comb or pocket comb at the same time.

BOYS OF SUMMER—Although the weather has been unseasonably cold of late, Tecumseh recently started baseball practice in preparation for their first game with Adrian next Monday. A new coaching staff takes over this year headed up by Robert Ondrovick. Richard Montcalm will take care of the JV responsibilities while John Lasotta will coach the freshmen. (Photos by Frank Weir)

Indian Baseball Squad Faces Adrian

Although it seems we're barely out of the snow drifts of a long and cold winter, Tecumseh begins its baseball season next Monday afternoon hosting Adrian.

And the nasty weather of late has hampered Coach Robert Ondrovick's player evaluations. The team has had a minimum of meaningful practices. But—on paper at least—the Indians seem to have a strong team this year having lost only three seniors last season.

And, completing the roster are juniors who played on the JV squad last year. They are Mike Cresswell, Richard Yerebeck, Mark Hunter, Steve Gruber, Gary Beasley, Manual Torres and Doug Bunch. The team will be pared to 15 players after the Adrian contest.

Last year the Indians finished with a 7-7 record and were third in the league. Ondrovick hopes his six juniors this year who played on varsity last season will "provide a strong nucleus."

He goes on to say, "We're a fairly young team although we have some experience at catcher, third base and outfield. And that should help us. Pitching is the big problem of any high school coach. Ken Davis and Ken Biscupski pitched last year and if they can come on as well this season we could be respectable."

Ondrovick confides that he has yet to make a decision as to who will start where next Monday. "We have keen competition for all positions, about two to each position. It's really important in baseball that the players work as a group so I want to find just the right combination of players who mesh together."

The game with Adrian is slated to begin at 4 p.m.

Lisenbee Places At Huron Relays

Tecumseh opened its track season last Friday participating in the Huron relays at Eastern Michigan University.

Linvel Lisenbee was the only Indian to place, earning a seventh place berth in the mile. His time was 4:40.4.

Coach Bill Croft felt there were other "decent performances" however. Mike Duhan made the semi-finals in the high hurdles being eliminated in the third heat. Tim Scheff ran 10:30 in the two mile and Bob Cook ran well in the half mile sprint medley finishing with a time of 2:06.

Inkster won the meet in which 75 Class B and some Class C schools participated.

Next action for the Indians is at the Spartan relays in East Lansing this Friday. First Huron League dual meet is with Grosse Ile April 23.

Driver Is Champion

Knutson's Recreational Sales and Jackson Gear Company of Brooklyn formed a snowmobile racing team last December which participated in most local races plus the Michigan International Snowmobile Association Class B circuit.

One of their drivers – Randy Sparks of Clinton – won the state championship in the 250 Super Stock class. The other team driver, Dave Turk of Brooklyn placed in the 250 Super Stock and won second place in the State for the 250 Modified Class. Both drivers used FA 245 V Ski Doo snowmobiles.

Both driver's said a lot of credit for their success has to go to Dan Nowacki and Lee Alley, the mechanics who worked hard getting the machines tuned up for each race, and the pit crew who assisted them. Members of the pit crew included Dale Stump, Klyde Brown and Phil Brown.

The Browns and Knutson's are now hoping they can find one more major sponsor and about ten smaller sponsors for next year. They are incorporating a company to be named the Brooklyn Eagles Racing Enterprizes Inc. and have four snowmobiles and two drivers racing. They would like to enter the Triple Crown Series next year, the Traverse City 250, Alpena 250, and the Soo 500.

Skin Batmen Start Season

With high hopes and new uniforms, Clinton's baseball squad starts their season next Monday traveling to Chelsea. Game time is 4:30.

There are 17 players out for the team including senior lettermen Warren Corwin, Mark Russ, Wendell Corwin, Ken Harrison, Jeff Snyder, Daryl King, and Tom Claus.

Junior lettermen include, Tom Richter, Dave Mowery, Ken Roberts and Randy Porterfield.

Completing the roster are seniors Tim Marcum, Kim Greenfield and Brad Bowman along with juniors Randy King, Barry Clark and Jeff Gibson.

Starting his ninth year at the coaching helm is Wesley Maki with new assistant Wally Kwik who will also handle the JV squad. Maki feels the team's strong points are its senior returning pitchers Warren Corwin and Daryl King along with junior pitchers Tom Richter and Dave Mowery. Team hopes also rest on several returning players in the infield and outfield.

Hitting is the area in which the coach sees room for improvement. Another problem area Maki continues, is "fitting players into positions vacated by last year's graduated seniors. Team work is the key and until the weather changes, its going to be impossibee to match the right combination of skills for the various spots on the team."

The probable starting lineup for the Chelsea game is as follows: third base - Ken Harrison; short stop - Randy Porterfield; first base - Jeff Snyder; catcher - Wendell Corwin; pitcher - Warren Corwin; centerfield - Ken Roberts, left field - Tom Richter; right field - possibly Mark Russ. Who will play second base is still undecided.

Tory Trackmen Win Opener

The Britton-Macon Tories track squad opened their season with a convincing win over Waldron 69½ to 34½ last Friday at Adrian College.

Highlights of the meet included a new school record in the high jump set by Steve Gilmore at 5'9".

Other events in which Britton took a first place finish included: long jump—Dan Exelby, 17'6"; pole vault—Dave Wielfaert, 8'6"; high and low hurdles—Dave Wielfaert; 100 yard dash—Mike Servoss, 11 seconds; 220-Mike Servoss, 26.4 seconds; 880 run—Werner Jahn, 800 relay—Phil Loesch, Rudy Montalvo, Steve Crittenden, and Dan Exelby.

Second place victories for Britton: long jump—Jeff Brown, 17'2"; pole vault—Jon Hintz, eight feet; shot put—Craig Wagenschutz, 37' 1"; mile run—Mark Gilmore, 9.3 minutes; 100 yard dash—Steve Crittenden, 11.3 seconds; low hurdles—Dan Exelby.

Third place finishes: long jump—Rudy Montalvo, 15'6"; Pole valult—Perry Taylor tied with a Waldron boy each at eight feet; shot put—Doug Armstrong, 35'6"; high hurdles—Jim Frayer; mile run—John Marks, 6.09; 100 yard dash—Jeff Brown, 11.4; 440-Paul Wielfaert, 61 seconds.

The Tories are hoping for a better season this year than last when they finished with a 2-7 dual meet record. Enthusiasm is high with 38 students out for the team. Of that number 11 are returning lettermen including, Mike Servoss, Dave Wielfaert, Dan Exelby, Jeff Brown, Steve Gilmore, Don Korican, Doug Armstrong, Perry Taylor, Jack Geigler, Dan Gorton, and Steve Crittenden.

Lettermen to keep an eye on this season are Mike Servossmost valuable player last year, holds the school record in the 100 and 220; Dave Wielfaert—holds school record in pole vault, strong in hurdles; Dan Exelby—league champ in long jump and finished fifth in state last year in that event; Jeff Brown—also strong in long jump and 100 yard dash; Steve Gilmore—strong in high jump; Jack Geigler—finished fourth in conference in two mile run and holds school record in that event.

Coach Randy Salisbury says of the team, "We have outstanding performers in some events. If our underclassmen can give us some depth, we'll be a definite challenger for the league title."

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

Jewelry has been worn since pre-historic times by men and women of all cultures. Why? Usually for ornamentation, but also as a badge of social or official rank, and sometimes as emblems of a religious belief. Today, as ever, jewelry is important for its beauty, its long lasting quality, and the sentiments it represents. In the weeks and months to come, we will discuss some of the historical and modern facts about one of the oldest arts. Why not join us?

We welcome you to our columns and hope you will enjoy its contents. When you have any questions you wish to ask or when you're looking for jewelry for yourself or as a gift, be sure to stop in at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. DUNEDIN BEACH

We drove 21 miles, were gone four and-a-half hours and had a perfectly marvelous time. Our goal was Sunedin Beach and our purpose was to check the identity of two big birds we had seen there. On that particular day, we had intended only to run a couple of quick errands and had therefore left binoculars, cameras and bird-books at home. We should know better.

The birds in question were so far away that all we were sure of was their large size, heavy dark bodies and white heads. They were sitting on a bare limb of a gnarled old cypress tree and in a nearby dead tree was a huge bulky nest. They had to be either ospreys or bald eagles. With all our hearts and souls we wanted them to be eagles but common sense and our heads said ospreys.

Although we had planned to go back the next day, it was almost 10 days before we could. And then what a beautiful day we had for going to the beach. Bright sunshine, blue sky in which not the tiniest cloud could be seen and a strong cool breeze to temper the sun's heat.

The birds in question were at the far end of the island and we knew that, if they were still there, they would be close to the next and there was no need to hurry.

Therefore, our first stop was at the side of the causeway. A sheltered little cove of water where we thought there might be some action. The car had barely stopped when a willet bobbed along the beach.

A long-billed skinny-legged shorebird with a light, freckled breast and a darker, freckled back. His head jerked forward with each step as though he were pulling himself along.

Then action over the water attracted our attention. Over and in the water actually. There were big splashes as though someone were throwing good sized rocks in the water. It was no such thing of course, it was terns diving for their fishy dinners.

Lovely birds, smaller than gulls and much daintier. They have narrow wings, deeply forked tails and flying ability surpassed by few. Their eyesight must be extraordinary too for they were not flying quite so high and suddenly dropping straight into the water.

The pelicans were doing the same thing; however, they were not flying quite so high and their plunges into the almost aqua-colored gulf were not as graceful.

There were sometimes four, of these birds and often they were quite close to shore. Close enough for us to see that as they splashed into the water their wings were only partially folded—no wonder water flew everywhere.

They were also close enough for us to see that they usually caught their fish. They would lift their bill up, let the water drain from their pouch and then, with a couple of good gulps and a little head jerking, the fish was swallowed.

One pelican was apparently an excellent fisherman. He drew the attention of first one and then two laughing gulls. These are pretty birds with white bodies, jet black heads, white eye-rings and dark gray and white wings. Perhaps their black heads are really bandits' hoods because this pair was trying a nifty bit of thievery.

They followed the pelican and after each dive were waiting for him. As soon as he surfaced, one lit on top of his big light colored head and the other plunked down in the water right by him. They were trying to steal fish! What a ridiculous sight and how we did enjoy watching. In spite of their persistance, and they did follow the big bird for some time, I do not believe they were very successful.

Near the second bridge we pulled off the road to watch some fisherman. Human and bird. The men were not doing very well even though fish were jumping not far from their lines. The great blue heron was doing better. As other fellows came back to their cars they tossed their catch, which apparently was not big enough to take home, to the waiting heron.

Even when free-loading, this tall character did not loose his dignity. Four times we watched as he picked up a fish, strode back to the water, put his bill down and swished the fish back and forth to wash off the sand, straightened up, shook his head until the fish was head first into his mouth and gulp it was gone. Then a few sips of water and it was back for another course.

But we could stand it no longer. We had to see whether our birds, the big white-headed ones, were eagles or ospreys. A short bumpy drive down the beach and there they were! At least there was one of them. Glasses up and Mom could immediately see dark eye-markings—an osprey!

Not quite as exciting as an eagle but almost. And best of all, we saw her leave the bare perch and to the nest where she settled down as though on eggs or newly hatched babies.

So it is that the possibility of watching a pair of ospreys raise family will make it necessary for us to return often to Dunedin Beach.

You Told Us

by Dorothy Grigg

For lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds has come — Yes, as in the Songs of Solomon of old, spring has surely arrived even though there is still chill in the air.

One can feel it in the wind, see it in the willows and tulips that are leaping through the cold ground in their eagerness for rebirth.

And the sun, the wonderful sun, that we have not seen but once in a while this winter.

Maybe it was events of the winter, maybe a few added years or perhaps it was the exultation of a wonderful Easter but now we are sure that those spending the cold ones in Florida can safely come home and expect a warm welcome from Michigan. It has, indeed, been a long winter.

Long Meeting Ends in Approval

CLINTON—After a lengthy board discussion, Clinton Board of Education approved a resolution supporting the formation of a Lenawee Community College district to serve the intermediate district residents.

The following position statement was drafted by Superintendent Richard Wegner and adopted March 31.

Several years ago the residents of Lenawee County voted on the issue of whether to establish a community college or not. The issue was defeated.

Now, reports from State Representative Jack Mowat indicate that a community college redistricting bill is being proposed for submission to the State Legislature.

Pressure for this legislation emanates from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the State Board of Education and the State Community College system.

Certainly the concept of equal rights and opportunity is involved.

When legislation is introduced it will have a direct effect on Lenawee County, the question will not be, to have or not to have a community college serving Lenawee students.

Rather, it will be, where shall it be located as to which existing community college should the various Lenawee public schools be annexed to Jackson or to Monroe?

It appears that the option will no longer be left to a vote of the people. It will be mandated from Lansing.

Lenawee County has two fine colleges which are working hard to keep enrollments up to be able to continue to serve the educational needs of the community.

We have the Lenawee Vocational Technical school, which has developed a diversified vocational training curriculum. It has the potential for far greater development. We have all the facilities necessary to operate a community college system without additional building construction.

In order to have direct input into this legislation that is being written a Community College Sub-committee, made up of representatives from the school districts, and colleges in Lenawee County, has been functioning.

It is recommended by this committee that the Lenawee Intermediate District not be divided, with one-half going to Monroe Community College and the other half going to Jackson Community College, as the legislation currently states.

But, that Lenawee be authorized to establish its own community college district utilizing already existing facilities at the colleges and the Vo-Tech Center.

When districts are annexed to Monroe or Jackson community colleges the taxpayers will be required to pay for buildings and operation costs which may exceed three mills.

To establish a Lenawee Community College District, using existing facilities, would cost less than half that millage.

At a special meeting of the Clinton Board of Education members voted unanimously to support the Community College Sub-committee's recommendation and to urge Rep. Mowat to work toward rewriting the legislation to allow Lenawee County to develop and operate its own community college district.

Richard Wegner

18 Off to Mexico

CLINTON—Eighth Annual Spanish Carnival will be sponsored by Spanish language students of Clinton Schools, April 9, 10, 11 and 12 in Clinton Middle School.

Carnival hours are 6 to 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, 6-10 p.m. Friday, and 1-10 p.m. Saturday.

Main purpose of the event is to raise funds for senior Spanish students to visit a Spanish speaking country. In the past students have visited Spain and Mexico several times.

Cost of the trip is approximately $500 per student, and many money-making activities are held each year, including bake sales, dances, card parties and movies.

Four Spanish Clubs, comprised of the four high school Spanish classes, share the proceeds of the carnival, which each year raises several thousand dollars.

Besides being a fund raiser, the carnival is a teaching-learning process and it demonstrates elements of Spanish speaking cultures to the community.

Kim Porterfield is chairman. Committees include decorations, Melanie Way; publicity, Stacy Kavos and flowers, Jackie Faulhaber and Sherry Krohl.

Mrs. Thomas York is the high school Spanish teacher, and orginator of the carnival idea.

Seventh and eighth grade Spanish students, under the direction of their teacher, Janice Porter, will have two booths featuring a duck pond, grab bag and lollipop sale.

A color television, $100 cash and many other prizes, donated by local merchants, will be given away at the Saturday night drawing.

Besides the wide variety of games and flea market, which have always been a part of the carnival, new this year will be Jackpot, Penny Pitch, Astrology booth and Type and Tell.

Homemade tacos, hot dogs, chips and pop will be served at the refreshment stands.

Proceeds will help 18 seniors with their expenses for an 11-day visit to Mexico City, leaving June 17. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas York, Mrs. Francis Faulhaber and Mary Jo Truesdale.

Smile for MD Fund

CLINTON—Saturday, April 5, has been dubbed "Smile Saturday" by Village President Clayton Strolle, in recognition of the Clinton High Student government smile project to benefit Muscular Dystrophy Fund.

Brad Shelley and Cindy Piatt are in charge of the project which will have student representatives canvas the entire community selling smile candles.

Candles burn for 20 hours, and each purchase benefits a child with muscular dystrophy.

Smile Saturday volunteers will canvass from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Candles will be delivered within three to four weeks.

Appeal To Board

CLINTON—An appeal has been made to the Lenawee County Board of Education, on the transfer of the James Tonneberger property to the Tecumseh School District.

A special meeting is set for April 7, to act on the request at the Lenawee Intermediate School District office.

In a letter, Richard R. Wegner, superintendent of Clinton Community School board, advised Milton Porter of the county board, that although the property transfer has been "seriously considered...it is the unanimous feeling of the Board that the property transfer is not in the best interests" of the Clinton district.

The board "continues its long standing policy of discouraging property transfers."

Easter Message

By Pastor Charles Mellring
Ridgeway Baptist Church

There is a line in the well-known hymn that says, "Death could not hold his prey..." This has Scriptural support, for we read in Acts 2:24 that it was "not possible" for death to hold Christ.

When one hears the trite retort that Christ's resurrection was "impossible," he should remember that the Bible declares non-resurrection impossible!

May I suggest some of the many reasons I know Christ arose? First, because I believe the Bible to be what it claims to be, the Word of God. The Bible says Christ arose.

Second, Jesus' resurrection verifies His own claims; He said He was God; He said He was sinless (thus qualifying as the Substitute for sinners;) He said He would rise from among the dead. To raise Christ from the dead thus proves that He was who and what He claimed to be.

Third, I know He lives because of the testimony of those to whom He appeared alive after Calvary.

In I Corinthians 15, Paul lists in order those appearances, six different individuals or groups.

I find it of great interest that Paul simply states the historic facts of Christ's death and burial, but gives six instances of people who saw, handled, and fed the risen Lord.

Finally, I'm convinced Christ lives today because for almost 40 years of ministry He has been working right along with me.

Like so many who may read this, I was comparitively honest, decent, and even somewhat religious. But I was, as the Bible says, still dead in my sins.

For me to be alive spiritually required more than religion. The moment I believed the Bible and obeyed the Gospel by acknowledging my sin and need of saving, God gave me faith to accept the living Christ as my own personal Saviour and Lord.

Now the risen Christ lives within my heart, as He promised. I know my wife is alive, because I see her and hear from her every day. I know my Lord lives because I commune with Him each day.

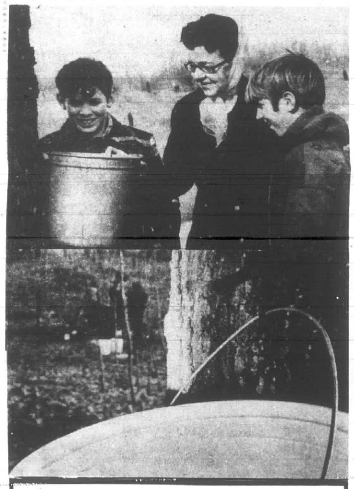
Making Maple Syrup Is Fun

BOILING THE SAP — Sweet Maple tree sap is boiled outdoors by Jeff Gerstler, 14, and Mark Prichard, 13, center, while Irene Wisner, left and Frank Prichard, right, watch in the Prichards' back yard. After 18 hours over the open fire, the contents of these 30 gallon tubs will boil down to approximately a gallon of maple syrup.

SEE HOW IT RUNS — Cold nights and warm days start the sap flowing from the trees into the pails attached to spiles in the trees of Irene Wisner's front yard. Jeff, left, and Mark check the sap level. The two boys used every available plastic milk and peanut butter container to gather their own sap, below. (Photos by Cortland Hunt)



BY KATHY KULCZYK

Irene Wisner had only the desire to make maple syrup. But like the man who set out to make rock soup and ended with a meaty dish thanks to his acquaintances, she has realized her desire through the encouragement, advice and implements of her "good neighbors."

Miss Wisner just retired after 47 years of school teaching which took her to Japan and Brazil. She now lives on the property her grandfather and father settled. Her family always made the syrup.

"As a youngster, nothing was quite as exciting. When we walked through the woods on the way to school my brother and I always wanted to see how much sap had dripped into the pails," she said.

Conveniently the maple trees are in her front yard.

Miss Wisner's activities did not go unnoticed by two curious neighbor boys, Mark Prichard, 13 and Jeff Gerstler, 14, who inquired about the project and decided they wanted in on the fun, too.

Warm days and cold nights are the ideal weather conditions for drawing the sap from the trees.

Miss Wisner explained that the sweet sap is gathered by drilling holes into the trees and inserting a "spile" or spigot which allows the sap to drip freely in to the container attached to the spile.

Sap from individual tree containers is collected, poured into a gathering tank, transported into an evaporator and boiled down into pure maple syrup.

When the sap is running the collecting and boiling down process often goes for 24 hours. It is a labor of love not profit, since 30 gallons of sap boil down to make 1 gallon of syrup.

Miss Wisner simply uses a roaster to hold the cold sap and boils it in a huge soup kettle on her kitchen stove.

"I know what I'm going to have a big electric bill. But it really doesn't matter. I've had fun. This is the most fun I've done all year. I'm convinced that I have the most wonderful neighbors. Now I can invite my friends in to share hot biscuits and maple syrup," she said.

The boys on the other hand decided to rough it.

Frank Prichard said that the first weekend of their sap gathering adventure, his son and a friend camped outdoors in a makeshift lean-to. They stayed up until 4 a.m. Sunday morning watching the sap boil over a fire they carefully built in the clearing of the backyard maple grove.

Right now, they are neck and neck with Miss Wisner at approximately one and a half gallons of syrup.

The syrup is strained through felt to remove sand and other impurities.

Miss Wisner said that one old method of this was boiling a quart of milk and four eggs to 10 gallons of syrup and skimming off the mixture.

Another "sugar bush" family was the clan of the late Herbert C. Munger. Gerald Munger said that he remembers the harvest season as a big event. Their gathering tank was more elaborate with siphoning valves that drew out cold sap from storage into a boiling tank.

Incidentally, if you think the cost of pure maple syrup is a little on the expensive side, consider that a maple tree should be at least 40 years old with a diameter of 10 inches before it is tapped.

Each tap of a tree will yield about 15 to 20 gallons of sap per season.

HOMEOWNERS CORNER

by Vic Clauda

On May 19, 1975, the new "B.O.C.A." Plumbing Code goes into effect. This means that there will have to be a permit-take out with the State for any plumbing done in the State of Michigan, whether in the city or in the country. This will not stop a home owner from doing his own plumbing but he will have to obtain a permit to do so.

The new code has more restrictions than the old code but they are to the benefit of the individual as far as health benefits are concerned.

INTRODUCTION TO TRANSACTIONAL ANALYSIS (T.A. 101)
This is a one day presentation of the basic concepts on Transactional Analysis, a system of describing, predicting and changing human behavior. The course, based in part on Thomas Harris' book, "I'm OK - You're OK," will enable participants to identify those less desirable types of behavior and feelings in themselves and others. More important, the program will show the individual how to improve the quality of his or her life in family relationships, on the job and in the community.
Topics to be discussed include psychological games, childhood scripting, passivity, aggressive behavior and dependency. We will give examples on the techniques we use to confront these behaviors and we invite people to move along the road to autonomy, free of unreasonable dependence on others. Ample time is allowed for questions and, as time permits we will include exciting new concepts in the field of transactional analysis.
The only prerequisite for the course is a desire to better understand the person and his relationship to others. The course is required for all wishing to become Regular Members of I.T.A.A. and to study toward advanced membership. Registration Fee: $20.

As an independent agent we answer to one boss — our hometown people
We represent several firms, but we work for only one boss—you. That way, we can always place you with a company which we think is best for each line of insurance you need. Naturally, we prefer companies like Auto-Owners who look at a loss and take care of it right away, without haggling or delays. That's one of the reasons we're part of the Altogether Family. Like us, they're always there when you need them.

SUPPLEMENT TO:
THE TECUMSEH HERALD
THURSDAY APRIL 3, 1975

"We've got a feeling you're going to like all our 1975 Oldsmobiles, including our sporty new Starfire."

It's a good feeling to have an Olds around you.

"There's a lot of new small coupes on the market. What makes Starfire special?"

"Starfire is a 4-seater Supercoupe with Oldsmobile for a last name."

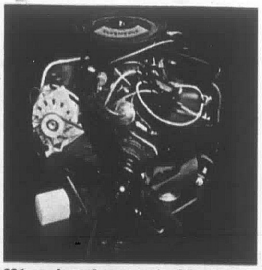
Starfire is smaller than compact in size—but it's so big on looks, features and performance (and economy), it's really a brand new kind of car: a Supercoupe.

It was born for the sport of driving. Plush bucket seats. Console. Gauges and tach. New V6 engine, 4-speed full-synch gearbox. Torque-arm rear suspension. Power front disc brakes. GM-specification steel-belted radial tires.

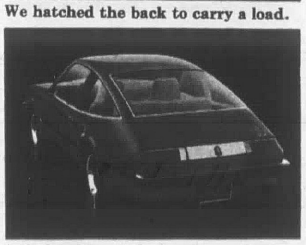
Which helps explain why it's a good feeling to have this Olds around you.

High-back buckets, front, fold-down seat in back.

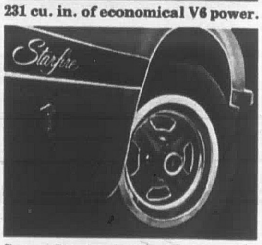
We hatched the back to carry a load.



231 cu. in. of economical V6 power.



A sleek, action look—coming and going.



Super Stock wheels, chrome rings, stripes are available.

Starfire standard features include: 97-inch wheelbase • Curb weight, 2865 lbs. • New V6 engine with 2-bbl. carburetor, high-energy ignition and catalytic converter emission control system • New extended-interval maintenance schedule • Full-synch 4-speed transmission, shifter mounted in center console • High-rise front bucket seats • Lights/gauge instrumentation • Tachometer • 4-spoke, softgrip steering wheel • Map pockets on doors • Plush-pile carpeting • Steel-belted radial tires, 13 x 6 wheels • Torque-arm rear suspension design • Power brakes: disc front; drum rear • Pliable nose and tail surfaces • Hatchback rear door • Folding rear seat, carpeted deck over 5 feet long • Space-saver spare tire, carpeted cover.

Available equipment includes: Turbo Hydra-matic • Power steering • Tilt steering wheel • Anti-spin axles • Raised-letter or white-wall steel radial tires • Super Stock sport wheels • Leather upholstery • Air conditioning.

"We drive down to the ocean a lot. So we were thinking about stepping down to an import to save gas."

"Omega Salon is a roomy compact that's easy on gas—yet it's equipped to give you the kind of comforts you'd get in a little touring car."

First, Olds improved the basic, low-price Omegas for '75. The results were so impressive, they went on to create a new compact-size touring car: Omega Salon.

With high-back reclining lounge chairs in front, a new steering geometry and a steel-belted grip on the road, it has the kind of look and feel you'd expect in an imported touring car. But not the price.

Salon also has those basic Omega improvements for gas economy. It's a lot of little Olds—and then some.

Contoured seats, padded wheel rim, plush carpeting—in a compact!

Touch the lever, lounge back at the angle you like.

Omega and Omega Salon come in coupe, hatchback and 4-door models.

Omega Salon standard features include: Automatic transmission • Front and rear stabilizer bars • High-back reclining front seats • Special Salon interiors • Softgrip sports steering wheel • Wheel discs • Headlamp dimmer switch on turn-signal lever.

All Omega models include these features: 111-inch wheelbase • Steel-belted radial tires • 250-cu.-in. Six engine • High-energy ignition • New catalytic converter emission control system • Extended-interval maintenance schedule • Economy axle • Flow-thru ventilation system • Cut-pile carpeting • Deluxe vinyl and vinyl/cloth trims • Swingaway grille.

Available equipment includes: New 260-cu.-in. "Baby" Rocket V8 • Power steering • Power brakes • Super Stock sport wheels • Raised-letter or whitewall tires • Air conditioning • Pulse windshield wiper system • Power windows • Fuel economy gauge • Hatchback camper-conversion tent • Sport striping.

"I don't make a lot of money—so I can't spend a lot. But I still want a car I can be proud of."

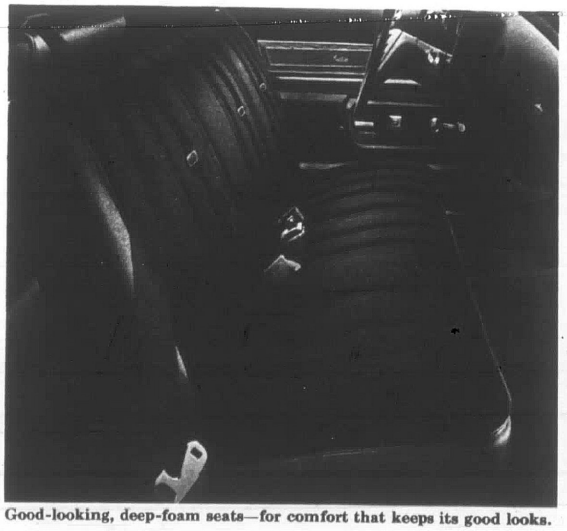
"When you step up to a Cutlass—for less than the price of some other mid-sized cars—you'll be proud and pleased. And you'll like the gas mileage, too."

When Car and Driver readers voted Cutlass America's "Best Domestic Family Sedan" in '73 and again in '74, you know it's a car to be proud of in a lot of ways.

Now it's also more economical, in a lot of ways. High-energy ignition. Economy axle. Catalytic converter emissions control. GM-specs steel-belted radial tires.

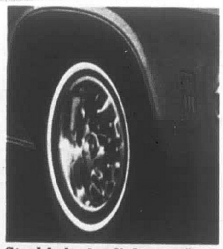
All standard. A thrifty Six is standard, too—and a new "baby" V8 is available.

The nice thing is, Cutlass is still an Olds in looks . . . and ride . . . and value.



Good-looking, deep-foam seats—for comfort that keeps its good looks.

Swivel buckets, available in Cutlass S.



Steel-belted radials, standard.

Besides a Cutlass coupe, there's our sporty Cutlass S.

Cutlass standard features include: 250-cu.-in. economy Six • High-energy ignition • New catalytic converter emission control system • New extended-interval maintenance schedule • Power steering • 3-speed synchro-mesh transmission • Economy axle • 116-inch wheelbase for sedans; 112 in. for coupes • Steel-belted radial tires • Front-disc brakes.

Cutlass S standard features include: Bright metal trim on rocker panels and wheel openings —Deluxe upholstery selections • Plush-pile carpeting.

Available equipment includes: New 260-cu.-in., 350-cu.-in., 455-cu.-in. V8s—Turbo Hydra-matic transmission • Power brakes • Tempmatic air conditioning • Vinyl top • Swivel bucket front seats (Cutlass S) • Super Stock sport wheels • Raised-letter or whitewall tires • 4-4-2 appearance package (coupes) • Heavy-duty ride and handling package • Sports mirrors • Fuel economy gauge • Anti-spin rear axle • AM/FM stereo radio • Pulse wiper system • Vista-Vent (coupes).

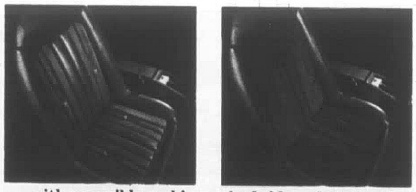
"A woman in this business needs a car that makes a good impression on people. But I don't want to spend a fortune to do it."

"Take a good look at Cutlass Supreme—our "little limousine." It's a very luxurious car for its size and price. Delivers good mileage, too."

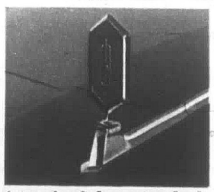
What's made our "little limousine" so popular is all that luxury in a trim, easy-handling car. Now it offers smaller engines and better gas mileage, too.

Supreme makes available some things even big limousines don't. Like contoured bucket seats that swivel you in and out, with reversible seat cushions and backs—durable vinyl on one side, rich fabric on the other. And Tempmatic air conditioning. All to make your Supreme even more of a little limousine.

Our little limousine also offers swivel bucket seats . . .



. . . with reversible cushions: vinyl side and fabric side.



A touch of class, standard.

Cutlass Salon: luxury in the grand touring tradition.

Cutlass Supreme standard features include: 250-cu.-in. economy Six engine • High-energy ignition • Catalytic converter emission control system • 112-inch wheelbase, coupes; 116 in., sedans • Power steering • Steel-belted radial tires • Economy axle • Front center armrest • Deluxe upholsteries, including velour selections • Plush-pile carpeting • New extended-interval maintenance schedule.

"Baby" Rocket V8 • Automatic transmission with console shifter • Special suspension including heavy-duty stabilizer bars, front and rear • High-back reclining front seats • Sports steering wheel • Headlight dimmer switch on turn-signal lever • Special Salon wheel discs.

Available equipment includes: 260-cu.-in. V8 and automatic transmission (Supreme), 350- and 455-cu.-in. V8s • Power brakes • Tempmatic air conditioning • Landau roof (coupes) • Raised-letter or whitewall tires • Super Stock sport wheels • Fuel economy gauge • Vista-Vent (coupes).

"My Mom lives way out in the country, so we need a car that'll take a lot of driving, but not a lot of gas."

"The family sized Delta 88 Royale is built to take a lot of miles and give good gas mileage. And it'll take you in style and comfort, too."

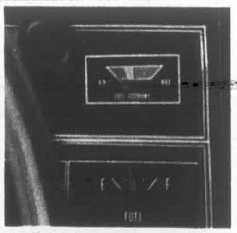
Delta 88's been known to be a tough car, built for the distance. Now it's built to get more efficient performance and more distance from every gallon of gas. With less required maintenance, at that.

But there's more. Olds has re-tuned the ride. Changed the emissions system. Restyled the roofline of 4-door models, and added those little windows you see.

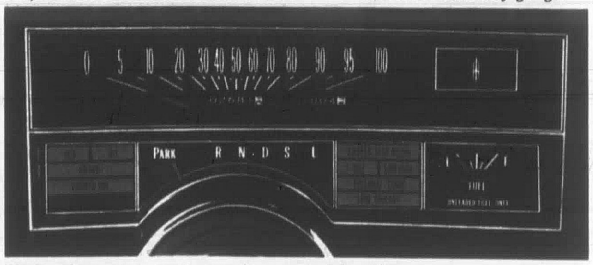
So if this year's Delta 88 seems to take you farther and more luxuriously on a gallon of gas, it's not just illusion.

Luxury, comfort, center armrest—all standard in this Royale.

Yes, there's still an Olds convertible.



Available: economy gauge.



Electronic message center monitors up to 9 functions.

Delta 88 and Royale standard features include: Rocket 350 V8 • Hydra-matic with Turbo Hydra-matic 350 • Catalytic converter emission control system • Economy axle • New extended-interval recommended maintenance schedule • Turbo Hydra-matic transmission • Variable-ratio power steering • Power front disc brakes • Steel-belted radial tires • 124-inch wheelbase • Electronic message center • Swingaway grille • Full-wheel discs • Deep-foam seats.

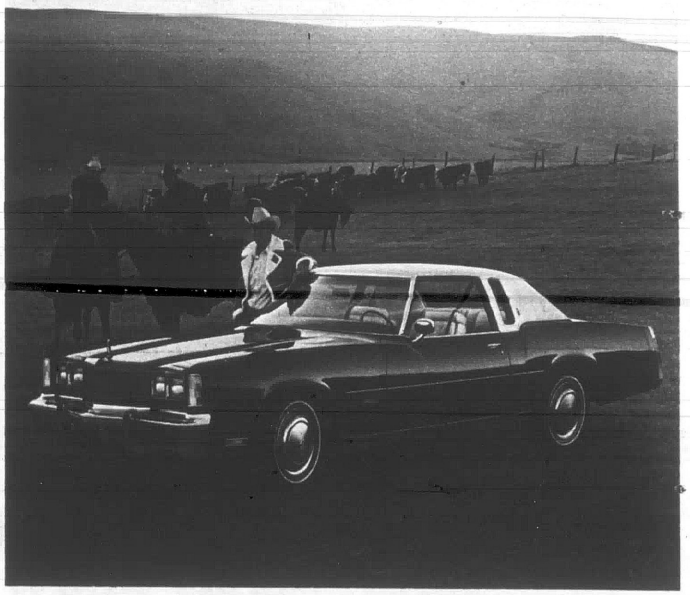
"I think they've done a great styling job on the 98's —but what'd they do about gas?"

"With Oldsmobile's 98 Regency and Toronado you don't have to lower your standard of driving to raise your miles per gallon."

"I've been a Toronado man since '67, but these days you have to consider gas economy, too."

98 Regency—famous for its uncommon touches—now has some new ones: New rectangular headlamps, new side visability and rear styling, a new smaller V8 engine available. Plus more miles per gallon than last year.



Toronado—America's first contemporary front-wheel drive luxury car—makes news for '75 with substantially improved gas mileage, a new Toronado Brougham model, and a sophisticated new "invisible" anti-theft alarm system you can order.

Handsome velour seats with a "loose cushion" effect.

98 Regency standard features include: Rocket 455 V8 • Turbo Hydra-matic • Power steering • Power front disc brakes • Power ventilation • Power windows • Special Regency seat design • Divided front seat with center armrest • Driver's power seat controls • Zippered pouches on front seatbacks • Digital clock with quartz crystal movement • Electronic message center • High-energy ignition • New catalytic converter emission control system • Extended-interval recommended maintenance schedule • Economy axle • Steel-belted radial tires • 127-inch wheelbase • Dual rectangular headlamps • Stand-up hood ornament • Rear wheel opening covers.

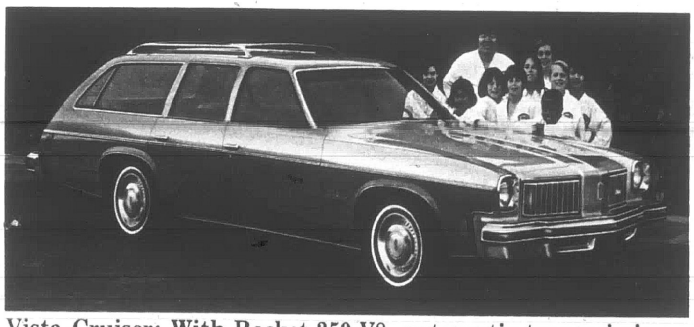
"The kind of kids I drive around can break just about anything. So I need a wagon that's tougher than they are."

"There's a wagon full of reasons to buy an Oldsmobile. Being tough is just one of them."

"We spent a year finding just the right house. Now we need a luxury wagon that's tough enough to help on moving day."

Oldsmobile reserves the right to make changes at any time, without notice, in prices, colors, materials, equipment, specifications and models, and also to discontinue models.

GM
MARK OF EXCELLENCE



Vista-Cruiser: With Rocket 350 V8, automatic transmission, power steering and brakes, GM-spec. steel-belted radial tires, and basic Olds durability standard on a 116-inch wheelbase, you've got a tough wagon. Cutlass Supreme wagons, too.

CHUCK AND MARCIA DES ERMIA SELL STORE TO KEN-RAY OWNER, RAY DUBRINSKY

Ken-Ray Buys Des Ermia Store, Plans July Move

Ray Dubrinsky, owner of Ken-Ray Drugs, has purchased Des Ermias Furniture store and plans to move his pharmacy there in early July.

The sale with Charles and Marcia Des Ermia was completed last week. When the furniture business is phased out in the next couple of months, it will mark the end of a furniture business started here nearly 40 years ago by the late Lyle Des Ermia.

Chuck, who has been in the furniture business for approximately 19 years, and Marcia took over the store here five years ago and after the death of Mr. Des Ermia.

Mr. Dubrinsky has not completed his plans for the 9,500-square foot store but says some interior remodeling is scheduled along with the possibility of installing a new and larger prescription department.

Other departments, including the health care equipment department, will be expanded. New departments are being contemplated for the store, which is approximately five times the size of the present Key-Ray store.

Private parking for Ken-Ray customers will be expanded behind the store, but it will not affect the present city parking lot. A large portion of the city parking lot in that area is now owned by Mr. Dubrinsky.

Three Admit B & E's

Three juveniles, caught Tuesday night in St. Elizabeth Church, have admitted to three other breaking and enterings and acts of vandalism, local police report.

The youngsters, two 13-year-old boys and one 12, reportedly told officers about breaking into the city barn, also Tuesday evening; Presbyterian Church, Sunday, and recent B&Es at Eggleston's Jewelry and the Methodist Church.

At the city barn, spectacles belonging to a city employee were smashed and a phone ripped from a wall. The phone was then hurled through a window at the dog pound.

The Presbyterian Church was entered Sunday afternoon. Main office door was smashed and chocolate was thrown on the floor.

Dogs Are Champions

BY KATHY KULCZYK

Out of the barn and into the doghouse.

Five years ago, that is how Ann Fox got her husband, Gerald to switch hobbies from horses to dogs. Today, they own Echo of Erin Kennel in Tipton. Showing Giant Schnauzers is their hobby.

The couple started with a Miniature Schnauzer, then a mixed breed and then co-owned their first giant of show quality.

Now they are in the champions' circle and enjoy the competition.

They owned Champion (Ch.) Brandenburg Kate, the 1974 top producing bitch. Kate was the mother of the most puppies to become Giant Schnauzer champions.

Three of her litter are champs and two more are pointed toward championship, meaning that they have acquired a significant number of points.

Kate was the best of winners over 15 other dogs at the 1972 International Show in Chicago. Her son, Archie, won the same title over 17 other dogs in 1974.

Ch. Deberic Giant Jodi is the number one Giant Schnauzer bitch in the show ring for the last two years and has been campaigned throughout the country.

She is co-owned by the Foxes and R.E. Maytag of appliance fame. She has been professionally handled and has won over 50 best of breed titles in two years.

Showing an animal to the best of his ability and making many friends from coast to coast are satisfactions the Foxes derive from their hobby.

Ann, art teacher at Tecumseh High School, enjoys "seeing a nice puppy emerge from a ball of fur." She compares grooming the animals to sculptoring.

A good deal of time and work goes into preparing the animals for showing. Ann spent 17 hours grooming dogs for the ring at the recent Cobo Hall show in Detroit, one of three major shows in the country. Gerald does some of the showing. (He teaches physical education in Tecumseh schools.)

"It takes three months to properly prepare a dog for the show ring. Hairs are plucked, cut, washed and sprayed," Ann said.

"Showing a dog is similar to showing a horse. The animal is judged on his gate, which must be clean, true and efficient movement. When the animal trots, the back step must be in the same place as the front step," explained Gerald.

The animals are judged on confirmation, bone structure, head formation, etc., too. The bloodlines are important in breeding a potential champion.

The husband and wife team's efforts paid off. Echo of Erin Ammo Van Emo was winner's dog and Dolric Megon Von Gestern was winner's bitch at Cobo Hall.

Megon was also selected best of winners, winning over Ammo.

Zorn Presents Thrifty Budget to City Council

A tentative and thrifty budget for the 1975-76 fiscal year was presented to Council Monday night by Cal Zorn, city manager, with the possibility that millage will remain at 12 mills - or even be lowered.

Several councilmen are known to have questioned Zorn's proposed $64,300 capital improvement program, and if the major portion of the program - a $40,000 expansion at city hall - is rejected, it is conceiveable that the millage will be reduced.

Council for three straight years has lowered millage, and could make it the fourth straight year when the budget comes up for approval on May 12.

Tecumseh's increased assessed valuation of $2.9 million enables officials to retain the present millage, or lower it. The 12 mills would bring in over $513,000 from the city's total assessed value of $42,772,050.

Besides local taxes, main sources of income come from state and federal collected taxes, local utilities and federal grants.

Anticipated income for the next fiscal year is $1,525,730, compared to $1,341,601 last year, and expenditures of $1,536,523, compared to $1,367,521 a year ago.

Proposed major fund totals, in comparison to last year, are:

General - $541,542 to $496,837, increase of $45,000.

Parks and Recreation - $120,181 to $144,337, decrease of $24,000,

Major Streets - $324,912 and $153,145, increase of $71,000.

Public Utilities - $251,838 and $269,696, increase of $18,000.

Included in the Major Street Fund is an expenditure of $200,000 for the Russell Rd. project, an improvement of the street between Adrian St. and Mill Hwy. Federal funds will contribute $107,000 to the cost.

Zorn's tentative budget has a salary package, increasing wages for city employees by 30c an hour with a maximum of 5c per hour per quarter for cost of living. Police, who are union members and have their own contract with the city, are not included in the salary package.

Gambles Opening

Next Tuesday will mark the grand opening of the new Gambles Home Improvement Center in downtown Tecumseh.

The new Home Improvement Center will be operated by the previous Gamble dealers, Don R. Martin and his son, DJ.

The Tecumseh store has been completely remodeled and renovated to the Home Improvement Center concept and is among the first in the nation of former Gambles stores to undergo such treatment.

A bold red and white sign faces W. Chicago Blvd. and defines the eight remodeled departments in the store.

The grand opening will mark 40 years of service here by a Gambles store. First store was opened in 1935 by Donald Goddard.

Mr. Martin acquired the business on July 4, 1947, and in 1961 his son became a partner in the business.

. . . and Jerry's, Too

Jerry's Market will hold its grand opening this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, climaxing several weeks of remodeling and installation of new equipment and fixtures.

Delbert King, owner, has turned the market into a delicatessen, increasing and expanding many food and beverage lines.

Bill Puffer is manager of the market and Bob Coffey, who operated the market with his mother after the death of his father, is manager of the meat department.

A former part-time employee was Eddy Clark, who is now home after being severely beaten in a robbery attempt in February. He spent seven weeks in University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Chairman, Member Quit Commission

Resignations of Planning Commission chairman, Richard Eggleston, and commissioner Stephen Illeck were accepted by Council Monday night.

In his letter to council, Eggleston said his reasons were personal. He mentioned he was satisfied with the planning commission's accomplishments and the new directions it is taking for city planning.

The Tecumseh businessman served the commission for 17 years. He owns Eggleston's Jewelry.

Council appointed Ronald T. Tietsema, 121 Burt St. to fill Eggleston's unexpired term.

Illeck, a 20-year veteran of the planning commission, gave no reason for his resignation. Mrs. Jeffrey (Janice) Baker, 501 Blanchard, was appointed by Council to fill his unexpired term.

Council also appointed John Deming, 605 Russell Road, to fill the expired term of Mrs. William Flanders on the Parks and Recreation Board. Deming is an active leader of Boy Scout Troop 272.

Dancer's Operating

Dancer's opened its new department store in downtown Tecumseh Monday with Mike Hurst as manager.

The store, formerly Osborne's Department Store, has been remodeled and new fixtures installed. The store was closed the past two months while work was being completed.

Hurst says the Tecumseh store joins a chain of 13 other stores, including stores in nearby Saline, Chelsea, Dexter and Belleville. Home office is in Stockbridge.

Dorothy Osborne and her late husband operated a family department store here for over 25 years and were very successful. In recent years she remodeled, including a new front, and expanded the store into one of the largest in town.

She sold the business to Dancer's late last year, but still owns the property.

Vote for Union

Tecumseh school bus drivers association, numbering 33 members, voted about four to one Wednesday morning to join an affiliate of the AFL-CIO, and about three to one against no union at all.

Three driver-mechanics rejected joining the union.

2 Orphans Expected

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Makinen, 208 S. Union St. anxiously await the arrival of two little boys, 3 and 5, from Vietnam, along with others to be placed in Lenawee homes.

Makinen, a teacher at Boyesville, and his wife, Sharon, spearheaded the drive to bring the children to Lenawee. Last June they adopted Tien, 4 and Margaret, 15 months, half sisters from Vietnam.

Other children in the family are Matthew, an adopted Michigan two-year-old, Lisa, 14 and Dede, 11, biological children of the Makinens.

The expected little boys have polio paralysis but their parents hope that the condition is relieved by physicians in Ann Arbor who desire to help.

Herrick Memorial Hospital has contributed food, formula and cases of diapers and Tipton Community church members gave a check and offered additional help.

Council Accepts Bid

Low bid of American States Insurance Co. through the F.C. Hanna Agency was accepted by Council Monday night.

Estimated monthly premium to insure city employees is $288, about $20 less than the present policy.

Plan covers eight department heads with $18,000 each of life and accidental death and dismemberment insurance and $12,000 of each for 22 general employees.

City's 11 police officers are covered for $10,500 life and AD&D, and accident and sickness pay at $35 a week.

Bid of General American Life was rejected since the amount of coverage had to be corrected after opening the bids.

You Told Us

by Dorothy Grigg

It's not nice "to be fooled" by Mother Nature. And we certainly were fooled, mostly by the bright sun the first part of last week before the blizzard Wednesday night. And for heaven's sake, why is it taking so long for the blamed ice and snow to melt away?

Well, anyway the birds know it's spring. We had four beautiful white swans on the lake Sunday and the Dunc Oliphants who were in Dresden, Ontario, Canada saw thousands of large white birds alighting in a corn field en route home.

Dunc took a picture with a telephoto lens and time will tell what the huge birds were on the flyway in the migration.

A sister, Mary McCarnnen of Detroit went with the Oliphants to celebrate another sister's 81 birthday anniversary.

Three Earn College Credits

Six high school seniors of Lenawee County are saving time and money by attending Siena Heights College as SCOPES students.

SCOPES is the program which allows high school seniors of good scholastic record to take their first year of college at the same time as they complete the final few credits for a high school diploma, thus saving one year educational expense.

The six include Christine Baker of Onsted, Donna DiCarlo of Tecumseh and Cynthia Geiger of Clinton.

If a student takes advantage of SCOPES (Special College Opportunity Program for Exceptional Students) he or she may enter Siena Heights college with freshman status upon completion of his or her junior year in high school.

During the first year on campus, the student completes the senior year of high school and, at the same time, begins the first year of college. At the end of the second semester, he or she receives a high school diploma and a possible 30 hours of college credit.

Voice OF THE HERALD

Although Tecumseh has some parents active in the 4-H Top Notchers, Camp Fire Girls, Scouts and recreation programs, lack of parent leadership is still a common problem.

Because Tecumseh has many talented people in every field, professional, skilled trades, homemaking, artists and craftsmen, it is hard to believe that there is a lack of talented adults to lead youths hungry for action.

These talented adults can teach the young how to build and how to carpenter; how to landscape, plan and garden; how to operate all sorts of machines; how to plan budgets; how local government and politics operate; and how small businesses operate.

Considering the negligence and poor workmanship now becoming widespread, and the need for economic and political good sense, it would be of great benefit for the young to work side by side with people who take pride in their work and strive for excellence.

Retirees can share their knowledge with young people and acquire a sense of worth.

Tecumseh has several organizations which might be looking for new projects. They should consider the education of youth and promote leadership of youth among members on an individual basis.

Those presently uncommitted to any civic organization can also find rewards guiding youth.

Finally, to those individuals already active youth leaders, a salute to you.

By Dick Eggleston

A major portion of the gold which is mined from nature is used in coinage and in jewelry. For these purposes it is alloyed with other metals to give it the necessary hardness. Coinage gold is composed of 90 parts gold to 10 parts silver. Green gold used in jewelry contains copper and silver. White gold contains zinc and nickel or platinum. Gold is unaffected by air, heat, moisture, and all ordinary solvents. Perhaps that is what makes it so valuable to man.

Gold as well as silver watches and other pieces of jewelry can be found at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. Accutron, Bulova, Caravelle and Seiko watches, costume jewelry fine items and inexpensive braclets, necklaces and rings and men's jewelry are displayed.

Every day when you bathe, scrub your feet and toes with a brush and plenty of suds from a lanolin-rich soap. Rub the soles of the feet lightly with a pumice stone to prevent the formation of callouses. Dry your feet thoroughly - don't forget between the toes! Using an orange stick wrapped with cotton, push down the cuticles once or twice a week. Massage in a softening oil to relax muscles and keep the skin soft.
Many ladies feel that detergent is number one among the causes of roughness and redness in their hands. Usually, if this is true, it is caused by using too much detergent, and by keeping one's hands in it too long. Try stacking dishes before washing them, and use only half as much detergent in a dishpan. You will have lovelier hands because of the lesser amount of detergent. Just think what you will save on soap bills. Keep a small jar of hand lotion beside the sink, too, and give yourself a beauty treatment the minute your dishes are done.

FLORIDA NIGHTS

It was the eeriest night I remember. Mom says the same thing. Dad slept through it all, I don't know how but he did. Although we have offered to wake [illegible] when something exciting comes along, our offers are always received with something less than enthusiasm.

The evening weather forecast talked about a strong weather front headed our way. Small craft warnings were up from Tarpon Springs northward. It felt as though a storm were coming; the hot, humid air seemed muggy even though a brisk wind was blowing. Fortunately there was no talk of any thing more serious than a good old-fashioned thunder storm.

As I went to sleep, distant thunder rumbled and a few, far away flashes of lightning could be seen. The main thing though was what the wind was doing to the palm trees and the shrubbery around our mobile home. The palms along the lake are not large but they are healthy and the fronds are long and willowy.

When the wind blows through them they brush together and make a peculiar rustling sound. Quite unique. As for the foundation plantings, they are stiff evergreen type bushes and oh, how they do rattle and scratch. Our 'tin house' is noisy.

All of a sudden I was wide awake. The wind was much stronger now and in addition to the rustling, scraping and scratching I heard it whistle and moan. About then I saw Mom moving around checking the windows to make sure everything was closed tightly.

When she came in my room we talked it over and decided that no, Dad really would not appreciate being called and actually the storm was not bad enough to frighten either of us to the point of spoiling his sleep.

It was much too noisy and bright for either Mom or I to go back to sleep. When the hard rain began beating down, I believe we both had unspoken second thoughts about arousing Dad.

Sometimes a man's presence just makes the 'helpless females' feel better. But this was not that bad. However, until you have been in a coach during a heavy Florida rain with all the thunder, lightning and wind, you really have heard nothing. And when the lightning becomes so continuous that the sky is never dark, you have really never seen anything.

Suddenly all of the fireworks and the noise were jolted into the background. There was a different sound 'out there'. One which neither Mom nor I had ever heard.

Yet instinctively we each knew exactly what it was. A harsh, guttural sound with almost a throaty hiss. It was a primitive sound. While it is sometimes called a roar, on this wild and wooly night I thought it was more of a bellowing. Who? No one else but the alligator!

It just had to be him, nothing else in the world would make that kind of a noise. As we listened there came to mind a clear picture of these ancient looking creatures. We knew his mouth was wide open; but, Mada, you need not go into detail about the sharp teeth, cavernous mouth nor red throat.

Suffice to say that what our ears heard stood hairs on end. An eerie experience. The storm and the alligator combined to make the night something out of a Southern historical novel.

Not all of our Florida nights are full of such spooky noises though. The mockingbirds are nice to hear. Also, when the night is balmy enough, there are insects and frog noises to enjoy. The chirruping, clicking, sawing, wheezing and peeping are exactly what we hear on hot August evenings in Tecumseh. Well, perhaps the word exactly is not quite right, similar would be better.

Just as I make no claim to know the members of the Michigan night-time chorus, neither do I know the Florida gang. In fact, I am more than content to just listen and not see.

Another after dark sound is easy to identify. It is made by a bird and he names himself. Whip-poor-will, whip-poor-will, whip-poor-will! How very exciting.

These nocturnal birds are more often heard than seen and I am sure most Michiganders associate their lonesome call with the wild forested region of Northern Michigan. Here, of course, we are hearing the birds as they pass through on their migration.

During the past few weeks, just after the sun sets and for perhaps an hour after the sky is completely dark, we have heard another sound. It reminds us of the rattling, rapid-fire noise a flicker makes when he bangs and hammers on a TV antenna.

But no self-respecting flicker is out so late at night and in our park all television sets are connected to a cable so there are no antennaes. At first we were sure there was an owl around but our neighbor says it might be herons clacking their bills. It seems that they do this as part of the settling down for the night ritual.

So it is that the days are always busy and now I have reached the point of begrudging the time spent sleeping — I just don't want to miss anything that might happen during these exciting Florida nights.

Walk-A-Thon for Hunger by Youths

The youth of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church will sponsor a Walk-A-Thon appeal on April 19, starting at 1 p.m. from the church.

They plan to walk 10 miles. Members of Tecumseh churches and the community can participate by responding generously when they will be asked to pledge dimes, quarters or dollars for each mile the youth walk for easying the hunger of millions of people.

ELIZABETH PASCHAL MEAL—The parish of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church celebrated the Passover Meal conducted by the worship committee of the church with Boyd Larrowe on the left, chairman, explaining the significance of the various actions. Msgr. Vincent Howard, standing, offered the blessings and answered the questions. Also seated at the table are Mike, Ruth, Chelly and Kim McCann.

Officer Speaks to Kiwanis

Lt. Dwain Phillippi, Commander of Clinton State Police Post, spoke of the operation of the post and the aspects of general crime prevention at the Kiwanis meeting this week.

The Rev. Herbert Nation was program leader and guests included Earl Mason, Henry Newlin, Richard Beckwith of Tecumseh and an interclub group from Blissfield, Mearl Betz, Lynn Southward, Lawrence Ricker, Jay Isley and Norman Buehrer.

Howard Cloyd of Lebanon, Ky. was also a visitor.

President Ed Gilson announced that the current popcorn sale at Airport Bowl will continue until April 5.

Past President Bill Norris, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers to be formally elected next week.

Labor Pool To Clear Roadsides

County general labor pool of CETA program workers is coordinated with some direct relief welfare recipients to help clear rubbish from county roadsides.

Beginning April 1, two CETA workers with trucks towing wagons were assigned to this task. The Bureau of Social Services will assign 10 welfare recipients to gather the stuff.

Operation is conducted under supervision of the County Drain Commissioner with vehicles from that department. The project is for six weeks.

In mid-May these vehicles and drivers will be needed to carry out a planned brush control program to delay the regrowth of brush in county drainage ditches. That annual project can be conducted until mid-Aug.

School Pool Debt Shared

CLINTON — At the regular meeting of Clinton Township Board, Monday night, Supervisor Harry Comstock reported on a recent meeting concerning 1974 pool operation debt at the school.

Board voted to pay the cost of one-fourth of the debt or $475.89. Other units sharing pool debt cost are Clinton United Fund, Clinton Village and Clinton Community Schools.

Communication read from Michigan Township Association concurring in the opinion expressed by the township's attorney, that there is no reason why Clinton Township cannot share with the Village of Clinton in the inhalator service.

A budget of $155,910 was adopted. This compares with previous year's budget of $93,936.

Major item in budget, $96,000 is for road work to be done by Lenawee County Road Commission, and is comprised of funds accumulated from last two years because work was not completed. Previously scheduled road work and upgrading of some gravel roads are expected to be done this year.

Allocation for operation of Riverside Cemetery was increased from $6,000 to $7,250.

Fire Department operation funds remained at $10,000, and a sum of $4,000 was allocated for future capital equipment for the department.

Edwin Piatt, a taxpayer, was present to question rules and regulations governing Clinton Township Library and Library Board.

Charles Wilson reported on building permits totalling $38,400 which were approved.

At the annual meeting of the Clinton Township Board, nine electors were present, Saturday evening.

The proposed 1975-76 budget was discussed.

CPA firm of Schippers, Kintner and Robertson was retained as auditors.

Charles Wilson was retained as building inspector.

Baker, Marr and Durst, attorneys will be the township attorney when needed.

Clinton State Bank was designated as depository for township funds.

All regular meetings will be first Monday of month, except when it falls on a legal holiday, then meeting will be held following Monday.

Waltz Appointed to Board Post

CLINTON—Board of Education, at a meeting April 7, appointed Roger Waltz to fill the unexpired term of Harlan Ruhl to the board, effective immediately.

James A. and Karen Tonneberger were present to discuss further the property transfer to Tecumseh School District. Board will stand firm, as stated in a letter sent to Milton Porter, and reported in The Herald.

Anticipated revenue and expenditure for 1975-76 school year were reviewed.

Millages, possible staff reductions and operational savings were discussed.

Amendments to the Master Contract proposed for the coming school year, submitted to the Clinton Education Association, were reviewed and discussed, and a negotiation meeting at the board office was scheduled for April 15 at 7 p.m.

Kindergarten Roundup

CLINTON — Parents and pre-kindergarteners will have an opportunity for a class room experience and school bus ride under the supervision of a teacher when Kindergarten Round-up is held April 18 at the elementary school.

Children who will be five years old before December 1975 should be registered at this meeting.

Country children who will be riding the bus should be registered at 8:30 a.m. Children who live in town and will be walking, should register at 10:30 a.m.

Only the regular morning kindergarten class will be cancelled that day.

Parents will meet Pat Elkins, school social worker; Marallyn Wight, speech pathologist; Beth Hatch, school nurse; one of the two kindergarten teachers and Mrs. Maurice Tuckey, bus supervisor.

Child's birth certificate, not hospital certificate is needed at this time. Birth certificate may be obtained at county clerk's office in the county of birth.

Forms for immunizations will be issued to parents to be returned by June 6.

For further information call the elementary school, 456-7441, ext. 34.

Board's Authority Disputed

CLINTON—At a meeting attended by 35 citizens, Tuesday night, Clinton Library Board was advised of a legal question concerning the board's authority to act.

The board voted certain personnel policy changes and library hour scheduling at a previous meeting, not publicly announced. It's scheduled Tuesday's public meeting to vote again on the same matters.

Five board members present voted unanimously, without discussion, to change status of librarian, Janet Welch, to that of assistant librarian, and add a professional full-time librarian to the staff.

Mrs. Robert Winder, was out of town.

Other change voted would add 11 additional open hours to library scheule.

Given the option of accepting proposed change in status or resigning, present librarian, Mrs. Janet Welch said she would do so "only under protest."

Citizen Edwin Piatt submitted to the board petitions signed by more than 250 Clinton Township residents, requesting that the board retain Mrs. Welch in her present position.

Piatt cited Mrs. Welch's many years of service to the community. She has served as Clinton's librarian for more than nine years.

Board president, Mrs. Philip Groeb, who is [illegible] assistant Lenawee County librarian, explained the board seeks by its action to provide a professional librarian to expand library services.

Many citizens present expressed their support for Mrs. Welch, and several suggested that another professional librarian be hired as an assistant to accomplish the board's objectives. A part-time professional librarian, Mrs. David Pray, is already on the staff.

Board members, however, remained adamant in their action.

Quoting from Michigan library acts, Piatt said the board can only serve in a "caretaker" function to maintain the library and has no authority to change personnel policy.

Clinton Township Supervisor Harry Comstock asked [illegible]'s delay until legal opinion could be obtained on the authority governing the library board action.

Board finally voted to "suspend" action, and retain Mrs. Welch for one month until the township attorney can be consulted and a report is made at the May 6 meeting of the board.

G. Underwood Leases Site

By FRANK WEIR

CLINTON — Members tackled a long agenda during the regular monthly meeting of the Clinton Village Council Monday night. Among other action, the Council agreed to lease the six-acre site of the burned out Clinton Engines plant to George Underwood Ford Lincoln Mercury on a monthly basis for $150 a month.

The lease proposal generated a good deal of discussion. In voting against the proposal, Councilman Dale Sourbeck stated, "I don't think buying property and sitting on it is part of our job." Sourbeck maintained that the Council should actively seek a buyer of the village-owned property. The rest of the Council voted for the lease proposal.

Also at the Council meeting, a public hearing was held concerning the rezoning of property owned by Virginia and Grover Artz on Clark St. to non-conforming use. If the rezoning resolution is passed, the Artz' would be allowed to operate a commercial business in a residential area. If passed, the rezoning area expire automatically if they sold the property.

Councilman Sourbeck noted that a petition had been submitted listing 68 signatures all approving of the rezoning. Included were signatures from adjacent neighbors of the Artz'. Several supporters of the Artz also attended the meeting. Council will hold the final vote on the request at a special meeting April 14 at 7 p.m.

In other action, the Council passed a motion by Richard Peterson that Clinton's 1974 pool operating deficit of over $400 be paid equally by the United Fund, Clinton Community Schools, Village of Clinton and Clinton Township.

The final police budget for the coming year was approved at $45,504.51 for 5,000 man hours including those for a parking enforcement officer. Councilman Gilbert Hill and William Stout voted against approval disagreeing with the need for a parking enforcement officer.

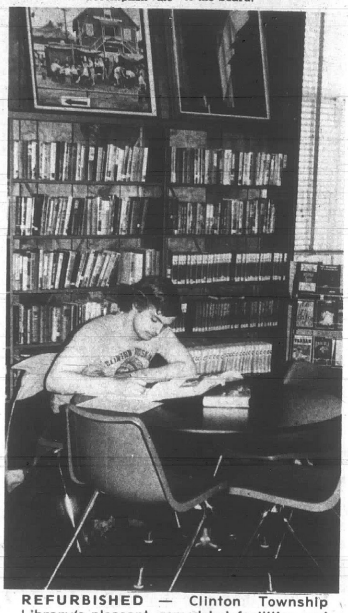
Final budget for 1975-76 which was unanimously adopted by the Council, stood at $289,344 of which $140,169 is derived from taxes.

In other business, Clifford Cobb took over Gilbert Hill's seat on the Council. Hill did not run for re-election recently.

Village president Clayton Stroll made the committee appointments for the coming year. Melvin Smith was elected village attorney with Councilmen Sourbeck and Cobb dissenting. Sourbeck maintained that the Village should employ an attorney living within the village if possible. He noted that a semi-retired attorney was now living in the village and had expressed an interest in the job.

Richard Peterson was elected president pro-tem.

The Council agreed to the purchase of a Minolta copier at a cost of $1325.25. In addition, they accepted the bid of Gilbert's Automotive Supply for a lawn mower. The bid was $1537.50 less $400 trade-in for an older mower. Total cost for the mower came to $1137.50.



REFURBISHED — Clinton Township Library's pleasant, remodeled facilities and well-stocked resource materials provide CHS student Randy Elliott and the community with a wide range of library needs. Open house will be Sunday, April 13 from 12 to 3, when visitors will be shown what's new at the library.

"One good bargain... deserves another."

They look alike.
And for the most part, they work alike. Both are hooked up to your own telephone line. Both can keep you in touch with more than 100 million other phones in the U.S. And, another 100 million around the world. And, both give you unlimited local service.

However, there is a difference.
The phone on the right is an extension. It saves steps around the house. It gives added security, especially at night, when you've had it installed in your bedroom. And it also provides extra privacy.

So the extension gives you more.
Twice the convenience.
Nevertheless, it costs much less because we only have to connect it to your first phone.

Isn't it nice to know that you can have something that gives you more, yet costs you less.

INTRODUCTION TO TRANSACTIONAL ANALYSIS (T.A. 101)

This is a one day presentation of the basic concepts on Transactional Analysis, a system of describing, predicting and changing human behavior. The course, based in part on Thomas Harris' book, "I'm OK - You're OK," will enable participants to identify those less desirable types of behavior and feelings in themselves and others. More important, the program will show the individual how to improve the quality of his or her life in family relationships, on the job and in the community.

Topics to be discussed include psychological games, childhood scripting, passivity, aggressive behavior and dependency. We will give examples on the techniques we use to confront these behaviors and we invite people to move along the road to autonomy, free of unreasonable dependence on others. Ample time is allowed for questions and, as time permits we will include exciting new concepts in the field of transactional analysis.

The only prerequisite for the course is a desire to better understand the person and his relationship to others. The course is required for all wishing to become Regular Members of I.T.A.A. and to study toward advanced membership. Registration Fee: $20.

New Entry Fee at Hidden Lake

Theft, vandalism, speeding and littering are a few of the troubles that prompted the administration of Hidden Lake gardens to initiate a security patrol.

Funds to finance this security will be raised by 25 cents for all visitors and continuing the 50 cent vehicle road fee now in effect.

Neither development nor maintenance of the Gardens is dependent on funds from the State of Michigan or from Michigan State University. Its income is derived solely from the Fee trust, gifts and road revenues.

The Fee and Herrick families and Michigan State University have combined over the past 50 years to establish the arboretum, rated as one of the finest in the country.

How Nutrition Labeling Can Help You

Though packages of some foods have provided facts on their nutritional composition for many years, most have not. During 1973, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration issued regulations for Nutrition Labeling, seeking to encourage many food manufacturers to provide such information on nutrients.

The goal is to provide nutrient information in the same form on many foods. This information can help you:

* become more aware of key nutrients needed for good nutrition and health.
* recognize the specific nutrients present in individual foods.
* compare the nutritive values and relative costs of different foods.
* select foods for the whole day that in total will supply the recommended amounts of vital nutrients.

At A&P we are including this nutrition information on many of our private label products. Look for it and start to use it.

Interest in Bicentennial Gaining Momentum

(EDITORS NOTE: Thelma Younglove, member of the Bicentennial Committee for Ridgeway Township, was appointed by the county commissioner to promote area interest and inform the community on the upcoming 200th birthday for celebration of the United States, in which the township will participate.

Miss Younglove has compiled stories of the origin of Ridgeway [illegible] will take readers on a bicentennial tour each week on the Britton page of the Herald.)

Interest in the Bicentennial observance (200th birthday of the United States) throughout all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and all of the territories of the United States is increasing.

Preparation for the celebration in 1976 began early in 1974 with committees being formed in cities, towns, and hamlets of all sizes to promote the effort.

In Lenawee County, a Bicentennial Committee, appointed by the County Commissioners and other interested people representing various organizations, has been meeting monthly at the Lenawee Historical Museum in Adrian since January 1974 to develop plans for the Country's Bicentennial observance.

The Bicentennial has three main objectives — Heritage, Festival, and Horizon.

Heritage means considering the natural physical features of the area — swamps, lakes, woodlands, elevation, drainage, and types of soil.

It includes the life story of the early settlers, telling where they originally lived, why they came, where they settled, and [illegible] they contributed to the community.

Festivals are the observances of special days and other social events, especially Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, and Thanksgiving.

Homecomings and picnics, often reenacting past events and ethnic celebrations are included.

The third objective, Horizon, looks toward the future. Its purpose is to preserve, improve, and beautify landscapes, highways, parks, and private property.

Public buildings are being restored and painted. Trees, shrubs, and flowers are being planted along streets and roads. Our forefathers took pride in the land. Why shouldn't we?

LAVERN WONDERS PRESENTS BOB BUSH WITH BELL

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

"I used to be quite a runner and liked to sprint the mile and a quarter to and from Mills School each day," 87-year-old LaVern Wonder proudly told Bob and Myra Bush during a recent visit with the Wonders at their home in Adrian.

Wonder also recalled "going up to the house" (next door to the school, where the Bushes now live) "to fetch water." The students took turns at this chore, but Wonder said it seemed like his turn came up more often. "I didn't mind the diversion, though. It meant getting out of school for awhile," he laughed.

Wonder has many pleasant recollections of Macon. He is very pleased that his old school is being restored.

Two of Macon's most talented seamstresses, Wilma Clark and Lois Jordan, are making the most adorable "Betsey Ross" dolls, using of all things, empty 32-ounce liquid detergent bottles.

The little ladies (the Betsey Rosses, that is!), sporting calico print dresses and white aprons, and wearing tiny "granny" glasses, carry little baskets full of miniature flags. They're being sold to benefit Macon United Methodist Church's apportionments.

Wilma and Lois would appreciate you girls saving your detergent bottles to help their project.

The Rev. John Vance will award class certificates of recognition during worship service this Sunday at Macon United Methodist Church to nine boys and girls who have completed junior acolyte training under the direction of Mrs. Ivan Bugbee.

The class included Lori Ables, Kelli Crittenden, Kelly Feldkamp, Vicki Hover, Tonya Mohr, Paula Reel, Jeff Rhoades, Mark Short and Sharon Stentzel.

Families and friends of the new acolytes are invited to share in their accomplishment.

Alice Duer Miller, who wrote a poem entitled "The English Are Frosty," never had the pleasure of having a phone conversation with Macon's British transplant Trevor Williamson. Positively charming, my dears!

March 21 was the first day of spring, but you couldn't prove it by local thermometers or folks dressed in their warmest winter garb. Spring—or what my trusty Funk and Wagnall's calls the "vernal equinox"—is many things to many people.

For the homemaker, spring means thorough house cleaning, overdue repairs, painting and a general sprucing-up; it is long days in the fields for the farmer and a slush-less jog for the physical fitness buff.

To the kids, spring means marbles, kites, jump ropes, baseball—and more importantly—the almost-end of nine months of school. But for just about everybody, spring means rebirth and a freshness of the earth.

Spring is bound to catch up to Macon sooner or later, and here's what that means to a few area residents.

Joyce Conrad: "Spring for me means looking forward to our annual community garage sale, picnics and being able to work out in the yard." And to five-year-old son Michael, spring simply means "goin' fishin'."

For the Rev. John Vance, spring is "being able to ride my Honda."

Tom Foster, seven, said to his mother's dismay that "Spring is getting stuck in the mud walking over to Todd's (Dennis) House." Nine-year-old sister Sheila added that "Spring is flowers blooming, trees budding, children riding bikes and puppies."

Lois Jordan: "Every year, usually in late February or early March, I order a rose bush or two from a seed and nursery company. They know just when to send it—when the weather is warm enough for planting. When my bush comes, that means spring."

I almost haven't the heart to tell you that Mrs. Jordan's rose bush has yet to arrive. We'll keep you posted. In the meantime, don't pack your thermal undies away!

HOMEOWNERS CORNER

by Vic Clauda

If you have your own water system, you should make sure that your pressure tank is at least one-third full of air at 40 pounds pressure. If there is not enough air in the tank, your pump will cycle on and off too fast and will run up the electric bill and will also shorten the life of the motor and pressure switch. If this happens, shut off pump and drain tank. You will have to get air into the tank to get the water out. If you have a schraeder valve (tire-valve stem) on the tank, you can pump air into tank until all the water is out. Turn on pump.

You get experienced people to do your plumbing and heating installations, repairs and remodeling when you come to CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. Contractors, builders, commercial firms and private individuals are welcome to call for free estimates. We handle American Standard and other plumbing fixtures, Genoa plastic sewer pipe, Kitchen Aid dishwashers, Insinkerator garbage disposals, a wide variety of hbt water heaters, Lennox gas furnaces, marble walls for bath areas and fancy items for the bathroom including soap dishes, towel racks, glass holders and others.

HANDY HINT: Put 10 or 15 pounds of air in the tank before starting up pump. This will delay the time you will have to drain tank again.

Members Welcomed

New members welcomed to United Methodist Church Palm Sunday are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Garvin, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Crombez, Ross Dornan, Mr.* and Mrs. M. William Croft and Linda Lou Underwood.

Softball Squad Opens Season

Ready or not, Tecumseh's girl softball squad travels to Addison this Friday for its first contest of the season. Due to the weather, Coach Nancy Fisher confides that the players have been together as a team for just one day.

As yet, she has been unable to finalize a starting lineup. The team's prospects will be largely dependent upon returning letter winners from last year.

Senior letter winner returning this year is Julie Murphy. Junior letter winners are Julie Anderson, Jane Faulkner, Sue Frazier, Lisa Lee and Betsy Miller. Only sophomore letter winner is Tori Iffland.

Several freshmen who have looked promising thus far include Carol Zimmerman, Pam Palmer and Sue Long.

Second year coach of the Indians, Fisher is hopeful her team will take the league championship after a second place finish last season in the Huron league. In addition, this will be the first year that post-season tournaments will be held. And that could mean a good deal of softball excitement for Indian fans.

Fisher says of the teams strengths and weaknesses, "Our strength is in our defense. We'll have a stronger offense this year although we may not be as strong in pitching as we were last year. I think we'll do well, we're shooting to win the league."

Lettermen Return to Tory Baseball Squad

Senior returning lettermen include, Jeff Brown, Dan Exelby, Alan Reau, Mike Saxton, and Mike Servoss. Junior lettermen back again are Don Gorton, Dave Wielfaert, Craig Wagenschutz and Jim Craddit.

Coach Jim Sweigart has a tentative starting lineup; although it is subject to change. Mike Saxton will head up the pitching staff, a position he held last year. When not pitching he'll play first base and when he is Don Gorton will handle that chore. Jim Craddit will be at second base, Dan Exelby at short stop and Craig Wagenschutz will play third base. Alan Reau will be in center field, Dave Wielfaert in left field and Randy Smith in right field. Mike Servoss will be catching.

The Tories have a wealth of pitching and hitting talent. Both top hitters from last year are back again including Mike Servoss who was the leading hitter with a .400 average. Behind Servoss was Craig Wagenschutz. Mike Saxton is head pitcher followed by Wagenschutz, Jeff Brown, Randy Smith and Alan Reau.

Sweigart confides that the Tri-County Conference will be tough this year but the Tories hope to improve upon their 8-6 record from last season.

Mike Duhan to Play for the Huskies

It was recently announced that Indian football star Mike Duhan will be attending Michigan Technological University in Houghton.

Duhan - a halfback - will be playing for MTU's Huskies football squad. Duhan was the leading scorer in the Huron League and received all-league and all-county honors.

Still Time to Sign Up for Summer Programs

The Tecumseh Parks & Recreation Department wishes to remind everyone that youth baseball registration is now in progress at the Community Center and urges all parents to have their children registered prior to April 18th.

A late charge will be applied after April 18th.

In other recreation news: Openings are still available in the mens evening slo-pitch league because teams have dropped out of the Tecumseh Recreation Department's softball program.

All games are played on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings and all players must reside in Lenawee County.

For further information, please contact the Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department at 423-5602.

Clinton Redskin Track Squad Preparing for April 10 Meet

Clinton High School track team is busy preparing for its opening meet April 10 at Hanover Horton. Clinton has 10 returning lettermen from a turnout of over 40.

Third year Coach Ozzie Hashley feels this is probably his best squad yet and potentially could be one of the finest Clinton track teams in several years.

Creating much of this optimism are seniors Mark Carlton and Dan Bristle. Carlton is the school record holder in the 880 and leading point scorer from last year's team while Bristle was second in the conference in the 220 and third in the county in the long jump.

Other returning lettermen include seniors Dave Santure - high jump, 440, who is being switched to hurdles to help fill the gap left by graduated hurdler Mike Emerine; Ed Erickson - pole vault, sprints; Al Hively - pole vault, hurdles; Ron Duda - 440; Jeff Bean - hurdles; and Dan Schindler who holds the school record in the two mile.

Returning Junior lettermen are Jim Klanke - sprints and Keith Pernie - 440-880. The only sophomore letterman is Terry Higgins - long jump sprints.

Much of Clinton's success will depend on a talented bunch of non-letterwinners and newcomers including senior Jim Scoggins and freshman Wally Pike, two of the top cross country runners; seniors John Johnston (880-440); Tom Claus (shot put); juniors Dave Steinmetz (distance) Mike Adkins (hurdles); sophomores Phil Erickson (880-mile); Ted Ordway (880-long jump); Dave Tallman (880); Phil Martiny (440-long jump); Doug Feldkamp (hurdles); Greg Busch (hurdles); Terry Sell (shot put); Brad Gauss (440-880); Pat Werner (880-mile).

Others include freshmen Ernie Lutz (880); Tracy Richardson (hurdles); Tracy Pratt (880); Bob Mastie (long jump); Terry Keith (440-pole vault); Dave Rafferty (distances); Jamie Murphy (shot put); Rick Miller (shot put); Richard Brown (sprints); Ron Henrich (distances); Wally Heimerdinger (shot put); Bill Willis (pole vault); Jeff Voorhees (shot put); Chris Wojtowicz (distances) and Jerry Cline who has looked especially impressive in the distances.

Coach Hashley says of his team's hopes for the season, "We will be weak in the shot put, and lack depth in the pole vault, but we should be pretty strong in all other events. We have a group of very enthusiastic kids that are working very hard. I think we can surprise a lot of people." Assisting head coach Hashley will be Stan Gage.

Addison and Grass Lake loom as the power houses to beat in the conference.

Youths Arrested

Two Adrian youths, arrested early Saturday morning inside Spielman's Nursery, at Adrian, are suspects in a breaking and entering here Friday night or Saturday morning at Moore Lumber Co.

Rickie Dale Stephenson, 19, and Scott Harman, 18, were caught inside the building by Adrian police after finding a garage door open at the nursery.

Police then discovered a calculator and police scanner on the backseat of their automobile. Both had been taken from the office of the Tecumseh business and the scanner, owned by Wallace MacGeorge, fire chief, had his name on the bottom of it.

2 Positions Up for Grabs

Although no petitions have been taken out for two School Board positions up for grabs at the June election, Supt. Robert Duhan says current member Hugh Des Ermia plans to run again.

Incumbent and board president Bill Brown, however, is still undecided about seeking re-election, Duhan reports.

Petitions for the board are available at the Board of Education office. They must be completed and filed there no later than 4 p.m. on May 12.

Pay Increased

Pay for the Tecumseh Board of Review was increased to $30 per day by Council Monday night.

For the past 20 years, the board received $20 per day.

State Aid

The amounts of state aid, which school districts in the 40th legislative district will receive in their next state aid payment, are Tecumseh Public Schools, $287,990; Britton Macon Area Schools, $36,710; Clinton Community Schools, $51,590.

Payment dates during the school year are the first of Aug., Oct., Dec., Feb., April and June.

Purse Snatched

Geraldine French, of 121 Maple St., told police Saturday that two boys snatched her purse in the Kroger parking lot.

Instructors Needed at Siena Heights

There are openings for four to six instructors to work in the Upward Bound program at Siena Heights College this summer.

Upward Bound is an on-campus, residential program for 48 disadvantaged high school students of the Adrian area. Its goal is to provide remedial and enrichment courses and other experiences to raise the academic ambitions of deprived youngsters.

The summer Upward Bound program will include six weeks of instruction from June 23 to August 1, and one week of orientation, and in-service training. Pay ranges from $750 per month for residence coordinators to $900 per month for instructors. Communication skills are important.

Interested persons should contact Mr. Arizpe or phone 517-263-0731, ext. 289 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Firemen Complete New Training

Twelve Raisin Township firemen have recently completed training in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation rescue to obtain or renew cards.

The Raisin Department is awaiting arrival of a new C-900 Ford chassis purchased from Underwood-Ford-Lincoln-Mercury dealer in Clinton.

It will be sent to Sutphen Fire Equipment Co., Amlin, Ohio for addition of a 1,000 gallon per minute pumper and same capacity water on the truck.

The vehicle will replace a 1950 Ford pumper the Department has kept as a third unit.

Raisin also has a 750 gallon per minute pumper on a 1966 Chevrolet chassis that will remain as a first run pumper along with the new unit expected to be completed by late 1976.

City Crews to Begin Clean-Up

City crews will begin spring clean-up the week of April 28 for the northwest and southwest quadrants of the city and the week of May 5 for the northeast and southeast sections of the city.

Trucks will collect brush, limbs and items that will not fit into regular refuse sacks.

Cal Zorn, city manager told city council Monday night that this plan might control "call backs". Many persons wait until the trucks have passed an area before placing items on the curb.

"We budgeted $6,000 this year, July through June, for this type of clean-up and have spent $10,700 already for the fall clean-up (due to the late delivery of leaf bags). We must have the cooperation of the residents or the cost of this service will become prohibitive," Zorn said.

Approved

Federal urban funds of $107,000 for the city's Russell Road project from Adrian to Mill Street, have been approved by the Federal Highway Administration, Council learned Monday night.

However, the city did not receive Community Development funds for the project.

City's engineer is begun to prepare plans, and the project may start late summer or early fall, city manager Cal Zorn said.

Total cost of this part of the project is $200,000, with the city's share already budgeted.

To the Editor

Also we would like every father who attended our annual father-daughter banquet on March 22 to know that they are very special people to us and their girl.

The leaders do appreciate you very much. Thank You for making 1975's banquet a great success.

To all of you,

To the Editor:

Yesterday our three-year-old son comes up to us with the latest issue of the Tecumseh Herald and says, "Why is that lady going to shoot that man?"

He knows the Herald is the local paper; he thought the people were real; he thought it was a picture telling a real story. Visual image has a tremendous impact. It's hard to explain to a child that one picture in the paper is all pretend; but that all the other pictures are real. It's hard to explain why the paper used this picture; especially when we have tried to teach him that even pretend violence of this degree is harmful.

We believe that the Tecumseh Herald used very poor judgment in printing a picture depicting one person ready to shoot another person. A picture is real, to a child. Who knows how many children have viewed this picture, and may seek (at some later date) to re-enact what they have seen. Let's hope, if they do, they have a play gun rather than a real gun which their parents may have around the house to protect the family in these times of violence.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Nelson

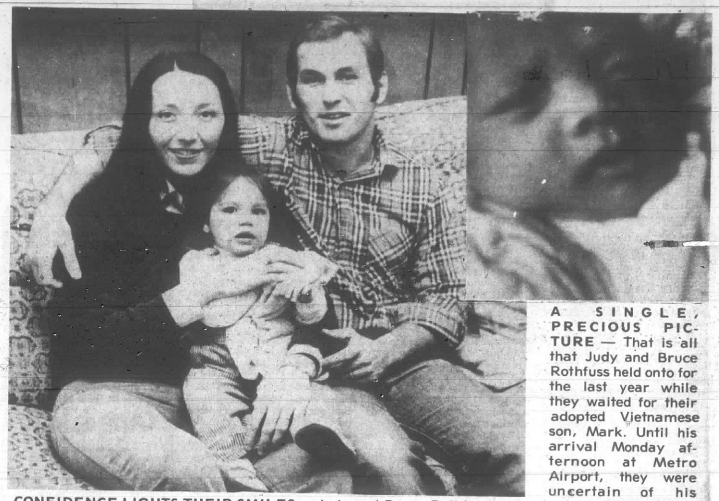
SPRINGPORT

They Have Arrived



A SINGLE, PRECIOUS PICTURE — That is all that Judy and Bruce Rothfuss held onto for the last year while they waited for their adopted Vietnamese son, Mark. Until his arrival Monday afternoon at Metro Airport, they were uncertain of his safety and helath. He is at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

CONFIDENCE LIGHTS THEIR SMILES — Judy and Bruce Rothfuss with biological daughter, Jessica, almost two, wait to have Mark Jeffrey home at last.

Long wait for adopting parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rothfuss, Route 5 Gady Road, finally came to an end Monday afternoon when their three month old Vietnamese son, Mark Jeffrey (Loung Tia Minh) arrived at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

His arrival was a relief to the Rothfusses who anxiously awaited news of their son's welfare since the excitement of recent airlifts.

Mark weighs only 7 lbs., 5 oz. and suffers from malnutrition and an upper respiratory infection. He is hospitalized at Mott Children's Hospital, Ann Arbor for a time.

"We're very relieved. I know he's going to make it. I think that with a lot of love and attention, he'll pull through. I think he's beautiful," said Judy Rothfuss, sounding much relieved of the "mental confusion" she said plagued her in the last few weeks.

The Howard Makinen family, 208 S. Union St., received one of their expected sons, three year old Dan, on an earlier flight. Sunday, Mrs. Rothfuss accompanied Mrs. Makinen to Toronto to pick up the Makinen boy.

The three arrived Monday at 11 a.m. Dan was immediately hospitalized along with six other children at Motts', for a diarrheic problem and tests.

Children on that plane all suffered from the intestinal illness and one died according to Howard Makinen.

The Makinens expect Dan to remain hospitalized for some time.

They are still trying to locate their other five year old adopted son through immigration authorities. He is believed to have been brought to the United States by another adoption agency.

Call to the Rothfuss family about the arrival of their baby came 2:30 p.m. Monday while Mrs. Rothfuss was at work. She is a bus driver at Lenawee Institute. Her husband, a nursing supervisor at Ypsilanti State Hospital, was at home.

The Rothfusses have a biological daughter, Jessica, almost two.

Harry K[illegible], who is a teacher at Boysville, and his wife, Sharon, who also taught there, have been acting as a clearing house for expected parents here and in Pennsylvania.

The Makinens have Liisa, 14 and Dede, 11, biological children.

Last June they adopted Tien, 4 and Margaret, 15 months, half sisters from Vietnam, through the Holt Agency in Washington.

Matthew, from Michigan, also adopted, is two.

Both children expected by the Makinens have polio paralysis and were requested by the adopting parents.

Dr. Robert Ferrie, director of Kuan-Yin Foundation in Canada, has been looking for children to be placed with licensed adoption agencies in that country and had found 22 when the most recent need arose.

He is presently in Saigon making sure that all the children are evacuated, Mrs. Makinen said, with six other people known to her who are involved in the same effort.

Tiny Trotters to Come

By FRANK WEIR

Many aficionados enjoy the excitement of live harness racing traveling miles each season to such widely known racing centers as—Northville Downs, Jackson Downs, Fairview Downs in Tecumseh.

What??? A RACE COURSE in Tecumseh?

Local denizens are probably unaware that their fair city will be the scene of several national harness races this summer—and in miniature no less.

The ponies are called trotting breds and can stand no higher than 50½" from shoulder to ground with their shoes on the weigh in the vicinity of 400-500 pounds.

A local expert on the sport is Donald J. Ries of Britton. He owns four of the ponies which are actually a cross between a standard bred horse and an ordinary pony. Ries and his wife, Marilyn, have been involved in the sport for eight years now and recently returned from a successful racing sojourn to Florida.

Mr. Ries—riding his own D.D's Little Hick—captured a second place finish in a race at the Florida State Fair held at Tampa with a time of 1:23.2 in the quarter mile. In addition, the two participated in eight other races in Florida grabbing three first place victories and five second place finishes.

Due to the difference in weight and speed of the ponies from standard bred horses, Mrs. Ries states that racing trotting breds is a "great retirement hobby." She knows of one instance where an 83-year old man riding a 19 year-old pony competed in a race.

Ries is vice-president of the 25-member South Eastern Michigan Pony Association an off-shoot of the National Trotting and Pacing Association headquartered in Pennsylvania.

And Tecumseh will be stepping into the limelight of the national organization when it is the scene of several national races this summer. James Feight, on Russell Road in Tecumseh, has had a quarter mile track for trotting breds for some 10 years. He calls it Fairview Downs and May 31 is the date for the first national competition there. Between 85-100 drivers from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan and their ponies are expected for the race. The public is invited.

Kindergarten Registration

Kindergarten registration for parents of children who will be five years old on or before Dec. 1, 1975 and reside in the Tecumseh Public School district, will be during the week of May 12-16.

The car was parked in Tecumseh Products parking lot near gate 4 and the larceny from an auto occurred sometime between the hours of 3:30 p.m. and midnight Tuesday. The unit was valued at $160.

In other police news, Jerry D. Ridlin, 817 Michigan Ave., in Adrian, told police that his car had been taken from Airport Bowl sometime after 7 p.m. last Saturday. The vehicle was recovered at about 10 p.m. on Bidwell St. with two flat tires and a damaged oil pan.

On Monday, Mrs. Gordon of 606 Sutton Street in Tecumseh reported that a tricycle had been stolen from her residence around 1 p.m. that day. Officers set the value at $12. Two neighbors, [illegible] Hartley, 504 Sutton St., also reported that a tricycle had been stolen from her residence on the night of Monday or Tuesday.

It would seem that Sutton Street residents had better keep a close eye on their trikes.

You Told Us

Whatever you write on the heart of a child, no waters can wash it away . . . A lesson for all is encompassed in the few words of the poet and what a shining example is set by the couples of the community who are so anxiously opening their hearts and homes to the little ones from Vietnam.

Compassion goes out to the Makiñens, the Rothfusses and other Lenawee families who have had to give their newly acquired infants immediately over to hospitalization due to extreme illnesses.

We can only pray that God in His Goodness will guide the hands of those who minister to the tiny tykes.

By Dick Eggleston

The oldest and simplest of the many standardized shapes of cuts given to gem stones is the cabochon cut. This cut results in a smoothly rounded cut. The cabochon cut is still used for opalescent gems, because a smooth surface is necessary to show these qualities to their best advantage. Modern cabochon-cut stones ar frequently flat, or hollowed on the underside. This is especially good for stones like garnets, which are so dark in color that otherwise they would appear black.

Precious and semi-precious stones placed in all types of settings can be yours with just a visit to EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. In addition to sales, we size rings, re-set jewelry, do expert watch repairs and can arrange for the bronzing of your child's baby shoes.

CUDDLY FRIEND—What started out as a joke ended up as a new addition to the John and Marilyn Swanston family of Macon. The family decided to play an April Fool's joke on Mrs. Swanston by telling him that a new kid had been born when he came home from work April 1. Upon his arrival, the family exuberantly carried out thier charade only to discover that the joke was on them. A trip to the barn showed that a kid had in fact been born after all. Naturally they named the kid "April" and took the young animal to local schools for the students to admire. Above Anita Rodriquez, Mrs. Swanston and Chris Gatt, admire April. The two children are students at Herrick Park (Photo by Frank Weir)

NOW YOUR DOCTOR NEEDS YOUR HELP...

PROFESSIONAL MALPRACTICE LIABILITY INSURANCE IS EITHER UNAVAILABLE IN MICHIGAN, OR SO COSTLY AS TO BE PROHIBITIVE.

- This situation affects you, the patient, because no new doctor of medicine can obtain liability insurance in Michigan today.
- Many specialists in "high risk" areas of surgery, anesthesiology, and obstetrics are limiting their practices instead of paying enormously high premiums.
- Older physicians are retiring early rather than paying high premiums. Some physicians who have never been threatened with lawsuits have had their insurance cancelled.
- Some physicians' premiums have jumped 300 to 800 per cent since 1974.
- Some hospitals are already curtailing services because of the unavailability of insurance for physicians.

YOUR DOCTOR NEEDS YOUR HELP NOW...

ASK YOUR STATE LEGISLATORS...

- To vote for Senate Bill 227 to clearly define the period of time in which suits may be brought against physicians.
- To support Senate Bill 230 to require the plaintiff attorney to file an "affidavit of merit" with each malpractice suit, and thus safeguard against nuisance suits.
- To vote for House Bill 4326 to extend the Good Samaritan Act and protect doctors in hospitals who care for patients not their own.
- To support House Bill 4349 to require insurance carriers to report to the state full data about each malpractice suit filed in Michigan and how each is resolved.
- To vote for Senate Bill 386 to provide immunity from suits to doctors who sit on various medical review panels which discipline doctors.

This is a public service message of the LENAWEE County Medical Society

Drivers Ed. to Start

BRITTON—Driver education program at Britton-Macon High School will start on May 12 and continue through the middle of July, principal John DeLine told the school board Thursday night. Bob Johnson and Dwight Durocher of Dundee are the instructors.

Board accepted the resignation of Mark Lewis as athletic director. Lewis will remain on staff as a teacher and coach. Mark Ruhlig of Dexter has been hired to teach Vocational Agriculture for the balance of the school year.

The board decided to initiate a junior high football program, starting in the fall of 1975. The Tory Boosters have contributed $650 toward the purchase of uniforms.

Supt. William Saxton was authorized by the board to pay off the balance on the 1963 debt. Balance which amounts to $80,975 will be paid to the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh. Elementary addition that was added in 1963 will be completely paid for by July 1.

In other action the board agreed to make the school facilities available to the American Red Cross in the advent of a major disaster.

Board went on record as opposing any bill that would require all schools to be in a Community College District. If such a bill were to pass, it would favor Lenawee County remaining alone to form its own Community College District.

Earlier in the evening the board met with Robert Goodrich from the Goodrich Construction Co. of Adrian. Goodrich talked about pre-engineered school buildings.

Supt. William Saxton reported that the cost of heating the school has increased 66 percent over the previous year. Heating bills this year amount to $13,171 compared to $7,913 for the same period one year ago.

The cost of electricity has risen 36.6 percent over the previous year. So far this fiscal year, he added, we have disbursed $7,719 for electricity while last year at this time the board spent $5,647.

Airman Warren J. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel D. Anderson of Britton, has completed six weeks of Air Force basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. The airman is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field. Airman Anderson is a 1974 graduate of Britton-Macon High School.

Bi-centennial Journey

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Second in a series by Bi-centennial committee member, Thelma Youngloye).

BRITTON—The Sesquicentennial has not been celebrated in Britton because the first settlers did not arrive in the area until about 1831.

Those first arrivals found the region forest covered and the wilderness abounding with a variety of wild life. The excellent stand of timber was of considerable value to the hardy pioneers who were determined to make their home in the region.

Trees supplied not only building materials for the log cabins and shelters for the family's livestock, but fuel and fence material.

Some trees were cut down and burned to obtain ashes used to make leach for hominy and homemade soap.

The maple trees were tapped for the sap from which maple syrup and maple sugar were made.

Berries found in the wilderness provided fresh fruit in season and nuts could be harvested in the fall.

Settlers experienced many hardships in attempting to establish homes in the wilderness. With simple crude tools those brave pioneers labored from sun up to sun set to clear the land of the heavy timber before they could plant small plots of potatoes, wheat, corn, and vegetables to provide food for their families.

Many changes that have taken place in the area from the forest clad land to the huge well cultivated productive fields that are harvested by enormous machines would be beyond the comprehension of those hardy pioneers who came to settle less than 150 years ago.

Next week: Early Roads.

Style Sense by Evel

More than any other feature, the eyes tend to retain their color. Decreased vitality, lack of zest for life often lead to the impression that they have faded. A bit of eye shadow, chosen to compliment the iris, blended with the finger to warm the oils, and then applied sparingly with the finger to the outer half of the upper eyelid; this is really all it takes to complement the color of your eyes. Eyes are the barometer of age: do all you can to keep yours young looking.

What is sunbursting? It is an exciting new way to give brown-blonde hair some extra zip! You can get light blonde highlights these days that look natural and give your hair real style. You will not believe what this process can do to make your hair look richer. It will even give your complexion a lighter, brighter look! The ideal thing about this process is that it only needs to be touched up two or three times a year.

Our phone number is 423-4250, by appointment only.

Law Practice Opening

A new law practice is opening in Tecumseh. Henry H. Newlin, 39, is opening his practice at 304 E. Chicago Blvd. The firm will be known as "law offices of Henry H. Newlin and John R. Zeigler."

Mr. Newlin is originally from Ohio but moved to Lenawee County when in the third grade. He graduated from Blissfield High School in 1954. He received a BA in geography from the University of Michigan and an MS in social science from the Elmira (N.Y.) College. He earned his law degree from the State University of Buffalo Law School in Buffalo New York.

Mr. Newlin is an Army veteran and was assigned to Far East intelligence work. He was also a reporter for the Worchester (Mass.) Telegram and Gazette and assistant city editor for the Elmira (N.Y.) This is the first year Clinton has offered track and field as a varsity sport for girls. Any high school girl (grades 9-12) who has passed a physical examiniation and is passing at least three academic courses is eligible for the team.

The track events included the 100, 220, 440 yard dashes; the ½, one and two mile runs; the 440 yard, 880 yard and 1 mile relays; and the 110 yard hurdles. The field events are the high jump, long jump and shot put.

The seventeen members of the track team have been practicing daily since March 17 in preparation for the first meet on April 21, 1975. Since Clinton does not have a track facility all the meets are away.

The following girls are members of the team: Gigi Roberts, Jean Mende, Shannon Traves, Amber Traves, Sandy Marion, Judy Goehorn, Ellen Wegner, Dawn Santy, Cindy Haskell, Roberta Girback, Sandy Porterfield, Traci Bowman, margaret Campbell, Laurie Markham, Kay Curtis, Karen Curtis, and Renita Bellmore. Managers are Tammy Marcum, Sharon Burkhardt and Lori Pike.

Summer Sports

Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department still has openings for slo-pitch softball teams in the summer leagues for this year.

Games are played on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

Entry fee is $150.00 and all players must be residents of Lenawee County.

Teams interested should contact Tecumseh Recreation Department at 423-5602 during business hours.

Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department youth baseball registration ends April 18.

Any youth not yet registered should do so by Friday.

Registration fee is $2 per boy. Each youth must be accompanied by a parent.

Split Pair

Tecumseh's junior varsity baseball squad opened their seasonwith a win over Adrian and a loss to Evergreen by scores of 8—5 and 5—3 respectively.

Indian Jeff Ives was the winning pitcher at the Adrian game striking out 10 and walking four. Ives also earned two of Tecumseh's seven hits. Other Indians who got a hit were Terry Brooks, Tim Mayers, Randy Arnett, Gerry McFadden and George Lynch. The team made six errors.

Adrian scored four hits and six errors.

A home run by Evergreen's catcher in an extra eighth inning spelled defeat for the JV squad on Tuesday. David Bohannon was the losing pitcher for Tecumseh with six strikeouts and three walks.

Players to earn Tecumseh's 11 hits included Tim Mayers with three out of four tries, Gerry McFadden two for three, Randy Arnett and Mark Hunter both two for four.

Coach Richard Montcalm commented, "The team played an excellent game. Tim Mayers made several excellent plays at first base on erratic throws. This saved on errors and helped with the outs."

CHS Girls Softball

The Clinton Redskins began their second season in girls softball with a team turn out of twenty girls.

With a large number of girls interested and wanting to play softball many of the LCAA teams have decided to play a JV game directly after the varsity squad. Although the JV squad will play approximately 3-5 innings, it will give the girls an opportunity to play and gain experience for varsity competition.

With many of last year's players returning, Clinton will be very competitive against their opponents especially last year's LCAA league champs, Addison, whom they came so close to beating.

The season will start off with the Redskins scrimmaging Hudson on April 22nd.

Girls out for softball are: Ruth King, Judy Simison, Stephanie Pratt, Karen Busch, JoAnn Grossman, Cindy Tallman, Cathy Gibson, Paula Scherremburg, Pam Williams, Cheryl Russ, Geri Mastie, Kim Porterfield, Jaci Faulhaber, Sherri Halchishak, Sue Halchishak, and Sherrie Miller.

Tourney Set for April 19

A drawing was recently held to determine competitors in Tecumseh's upcoming four team baseball tournament April 19.

The Indians will square off against Chelsea at 10 a.m. at the varsity diamond. Saline meets Columbia Central at the same time at the American Legion diamond.

Winners of the morning round will take on each other at 1:30 at the varsity diamond and losers play each other at the same time at the American Legion diamond.

CLOWN CLASS—As part of a weekly cross-grade tutoring project at Herrick Park Elementary School, sixth grader Sandy Adams dressed in a clown costume and explained how she applied makeup and other "clown tricks" to first graders. Sandy studied clown techniques at Tecumseh Recreation Department's clown school. After Sandy spoke to the first graders, the sixth graders helped them write poems about clowns for display in the school hallway. Grand Opening for New Home Improvement Center

Tuesday marked the grand opening of the all-new Gambles Home Improvement Center in Tecumseh.
The new Home Improvement Center occupies the building which housed the former Gamble store. It will be operated by the previous Gamble dealers, Don R[illegible] Martin, [illegible] Donald J. [illegible] Martin ("DJ") Martin.
The store has been completely remodeled and renovated to the Home Improvement Center concept and is among the first in the nation of the former Gamble stores to undergo this treatment. The Center will offer many new features.
Customers will note that the [illegible] mix in the new Home Improvement Center is quite different from the assortment offered in the old Gamble store.
The center contains eight specialized departments: hardware, housewares, furniture, appliances, paint (including wall coverings and carpeting), TV and sound, automotive and sports.
Also appealing and helpful to Gambles' [illegible]ers will be the color dynamics and contemporary graphics in the Home Improvement Center. Brilliant red was chosen as the dominant color for store front signage, merchandise cartons, advertising, and even employee jackets because it quickly gets attention and conveys a new, fresh look.
The look [illegible] tells consumers about the eight specialized areas in the store, and when they enter, the colorful department signage guides customers to the merchandise they're looking for. Each department has its own color scheme.

THE POWER OF THE PRESS

It was not a rare thing in Tecumseh; in fact it happened frequently enough to become a joke. In an article I would mention something not happening and, almost like magic, the bird who had not showed up would appear or the baby squirrel, we had not yet seen, would struggle up to the near-my-window feeder. As I often kidded, the power of the press is great! But, that was in Tecumseh - would The Herald have influence way down here in Tarpon Springs?

Yes indeed! Do you remember the column about the alligator and how we heard him bellowing one night? When I wrote that, Mom and Dad had seen him several times but always early in the morning before I was in any 'lake looking' condition.

Well, only a few days after those fateful words were dictated I too joined the ranks of alligator watchers.

It happened on a dark overcast day when the weatherman's prediction of occasional scattered showers proved 100 percent correct.

The scattered showers were falling here and I was debating whether to really wake up or enjoy a quick 40 winks - - a soft rain pitter-pattering down on the roof of our mobile home is a lovely thing to sleep to.

The decision was made for me. Mom had gone to the porch windows just to see what was happening on the lake and wow, something really was! The alligator was there.

Quickly she called Dad and they flew my bed to its usual porch corner. The head of the bed was cranked up and, whereas the next step is usually positioning the reading table, this day Mom held the binoculars for me. I could read any time but this was my first chance to study the alligator.

By now the rain had just about stopped, only a few drops dimpled the quiet surface of the lake. As Mom put the binoculars up to my glasses she told me where to look and good gracious, there he was! At this time all that was visible were the two bumps of his eyes.

But there was no mistaking what they were. Without the field-glasses they looked almost like the dimples made by the rain-drops except, of course, the rain circles grew larger and larger while the alligator's stayed the same.

As it turned out he spent most of the day lazily drifting up and down the lake. Sometimes he was here near the island and then again he would be way down at the other end. It was easy to know his whereabouts, all we had to do was look at the people.

Apparently everybody was anxious to see him - - I'll bet the telephone lines were busy announcing the 'appearance' - - and small groups popped out of almost every coach. Not all at once of course, the lake shore was not solidly lined with people but almost all day we noticed that in front of first one place and then another there were folks looking and pointing.

And whenever that happened we could check the water and yes, there was the alligator. We saw more binoculars and cameras than we knew existed in the park.

In the afternoon we had an especially good look. He came quite close to the shore between the Duncans and our neighbors,the Dunbars. At first only his eyes showed, then the big lump of his nose came into view and finally the top of his head.

He was staring towards the shore - - often he was doing this and we could not help wondering if he were enjoying people watching just as the people were enjoying alligator watching.

Suddenly there was even more than his head visible - - a large area of his back was out of water and beyond that we could even make out the outline of his tail. His back was rough, no wonder that the very first time Mom saw him her initial thought was of a deeply etched or grooved rough-barked tree limb.

So it is that you may call it luck, coincidence or even impatience on my part for commenting that something had happened yet when in the normal course of events it would occur shortly - - or who knows, I write that I have not seen the alligator and immediately he appears, perhaps that IS the power of the press.

Oh, by the way, there are other creatures in our small lake. Mom and Dad looked out early one Sunday morning and there were three otters. They were swimming towards the island but, much to the folks disappointment, they did not climb up on the sand for a bit of sun.

Instead they continued on to the end of the lake, scampered up the steep bank and when last seen were headed south. Possibly to another small lake.

Mom and Dad were surprised at how large the biggest one was and speculated that perhaps what they were watching was a mother otter with two not quite full-grown youngsters. I have not seen them yet - - -

The Son's Light Shines on Hobbyist

BY KATHY KULCZYK

Tom Bailey of 7665 Centennial Road is one country boy who can't get the dirt out of his fingernails.

He is now the proud owner of The Son's Light, a greenhouse at his home that has been a lifelong dream and the answer to his prayers.

The name of the greenhouse, which just began in October, refers to Christ. "I hope to be able to share the gospel with the people through my work. Not enough businesses today are willing to testify for Christ," explained Tom.

He and his wife, Diane, have been natives of the Ridgeway area most of their lives and are not strangers to working in the soil.

In college Tom studied botany for three years. A few years ago when his wife was in nursing school in Toledo, Tom worked full-time for a greenhouse there.

The couple moved to Scandia, near Marquette, and Tom was foreman of a greenhouse.

"When we moved back to my wife's grandfather's home (Ray Lembrick) in 1972, I still had the dirt under my fingernails," Tom said.

"My husband prayed for a source of heat for the greenhouse. Then we found a furnace which didn't cost so much," said Diane.

"I got the glass paned structure from a Christian friend's father for practically nothing," Tom added.

He propagates his own seeds and plant cuttings. Even his mother-in-law contributed her house plants to the cause.

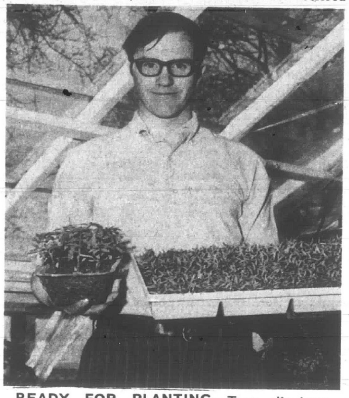
He likes to offer the unusual, such as horseradish and mint, as well as the common, geraniums, celery, head lettuce, pepper and tomato plants. "Myron, the mouse ate the watermellon seeds," he said.

Tom plans to offer a prize brilliant yellow marigold and unusual maroon colored geranium that are "beautiful when planted together."

Diane admits that she doesn't assist her husband very much with his hobby, "only in controlling the greenhouse temperature," which somehow seems appropriate for a nurse to do.

During the day when Tom is at work the greenhouse temperature soars to the 80's and 90's. Diane opens the top ventilators to allow air to circulate. Tom cares for his plants after work and on weekends.

Tom is a school teacher at Faithway Baptist School in Ypsilanti. At this time, he is not interested in the greenhouse as an income and sells his plants and seedlings practically at cost.



READY FOR PLANTING—Tom displays seedlings started in October and shows them transplanted from beds to trays, ready for some anxious vegetable gardener to take home and plant after the last frost. Tom's "house" is loaded with vegetable seedlings and house plants of all kinds.

Smile the Clouds Away

It's a line from an old gospel hymn, "Sing and Smile and Pray."

Our little lady with the checkered raincoat and umbrella has a most engaging smile. We're not sure whether she's happiest about her "storm gear" or her puppy dog or perhaps where she's going on this rainy day.

But this is certain—it takes preparedness to smile the clouds away.

Every Sunday in our churches millions of youngsters are learning with Christian conviction to sing and smile and pray. Their religious training is preparing them for all-weather living.

The darker the sky, the brighter the gleam in the eyes of faith.

Meal Planning For The Older Person

Remember the old adage "You are what you eat!" The basis of good health at any age is to eat a wide variety of foods so that each of the necessary vitamins, minerals and protein are included in the whole diet. The United States Department of Agriculture recommends that a well-balanced diet for the older person should include the following each day:

- 2 or more servings of milk and milk products: a serving constitutes 8 oz. of fluid milk, yogurt or 1½ cups cottage cheese; 2" cube cheddar-type or 3 scoops of ice cream.
- 4 or more servings of fruits and vegetables: a serving equals ½ cup of any fruit or vegetable, (raw or cooked), or a normal portion such as one medium apple, banana, or potato. A serving of food rich in Vitamin C is essential.
- 2 or more servings of meat and meat alternates: one serving is 3 to 4 oz. of meat, fish or poultry; 2 eggs or 4 tablespoons of peanut butter. Nuts, dried peas or dried beans may be substituted for meat, fish, poultry or eggs.
- 4 or more servings of cereals, breads and pasta: one serving equals ¾ cup oatmeal; 1 cup enriched cereal; 1 slice enriched bread or ¾ cup enriched macaroni.

If you find the suggested portions of foods too ample for you, reduce the size of each serving. DO NOT ENTIRELY ELIMINATE ANY OF THE FOOD GROUPS.

CHERRY PICKER HAS 51-FOOT LIFT

$47,000 DROPPED FROM BUDGET

City Millage Cut

City taxes will be lowered by one mill this year, based on Council action following the regular meeting Monday night.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says councilmen have ruled out an expansion at city hall this year along with lights for the tennis courts. Both items were included in Zorn's original, proposed budget for the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The city manager says the elimination of these two projects from the proposed capital improvement program will enable the city to operate at 11 mills. The two projects would have cost over $47,000.

It will mark the fourth straight year that Council has lowered millage on city properties.

Further sessions over the 1975-76 budget will be held before Council approval on May 12.

Anyone Want Kennedy House?

By KATHY KULCZYK

Unless a financially responsible buyer can take it off the city's hands by Aug. 1 and refurbish it, the Spafford-Kennedy house at 123 N. Ottawa will be leveled and join the ranks of historic buildings that have been neglected or demolished. Council voted 6-1 on the motion.

Councilman Wallace Whiting cast the lone dissenting vote. "I think that it is going to take longer than 90 days to find a suitable buyer," he commented. He supported the idea to refurbish the building for community use, such as the proposed information center.

Discussion on the future of the Kennedy house was triggered when city manager Cal Zorn told Council he had been asked to remove most of the trees around the foundation of the house, vacant since late 1972.

The property was purchased by the city in 1965 with parking meter funds for $10,000. Income from rental until 1972 and expenses were charged to the system.

Zorn told council he did not consider the cost of cutting the trees or the continuation of the insurance a legitimate cost to the parking system and asked Council where the cost should be charged.

Property has $10,000 fire coverage.

"I think that the time has arrived when we should decide what we are going to do with the Kennedy House," Mayor Harold Easton said. "We are on the verge of negotiating something. . . for an active building," said Councilman Jim Palmer.

He explained some members of the Chamber of Commerce felt it could appropriate $500 to $1,000 in its new budget for establishing a meeting place there for organizations and a mailing address for the Chamber.

He suggested it be staffed by senior citizens and possibly be an activity center for them, too.

"The city has done nothing but spend city money on it for insurance and mowing the law. We haven't seen one person come up with one buck. After a certain date, if there is no interest, let's level it," countered Councilman Carlton Cook.

Don Berkley, president of the Tecumseh Area Historical Society told Council that the State Historic Commission advised the Society, "don't accept the project either for a museum or office, because we don't have the funds or the personnel. It isn't big enough for civic groups to meet, since kitchen facilities would have to be provided."

Estimated cost to refurbish the building to its original condition would cost $7,000 to $12,000, according to estimates known to Berkley.

The Historical Society does have a committee to seek an alternative use for the building, but it is still organizing.

The building is probably the oldest brick structure in the city of Tecumseh, circa 1851.

It was built by one of the first settlers of the town. It features classical revival style gothic door and belevedere in the single upper room.

Councilman Whiting also asked that the trees be cut. "They add nothing to the building and do nothing to enhance the sale of it." he said.

Mayor Easton suggested that the trees be removed and the cost be added to the sale of the building. Council agreed.

"We are very soon going to need parking on that corner," said Easton.

Council did not discuss the possibility of advertising the building for sale but Mayor Easton and Councilman Aden Mead said they are not opposed to the idea.

What to do with the empty house has plagued the city since it assumed ownership. House and lot were purchased by the city for possible future use as a parking lot. It could provide stalls for 30 cars.

Building was rented by the city but not since 1972. At that time house insurance for another party could not be obtained on the contents because of the electrical wiring.

In May 1973, Eleanor and Paul Johnson of Milan, who restored the classical style home at 219 N. Evans in 1971, offered to either rent the Kennedy house or "trade two parcels on N. Pearl" for it.

Council was willing to lease the building only for business purposes.

Zorn advised Council that if the house was used as a residence the lot would have to be rezoned because the cost of restoration would be more than 60 percent of its value.

In March 1974, Council decided to offer it to the Historical Society, who since has declined.

At the same time, one unknown party was interested in opening a 7-11 store on the site. The Herald previously expressed a desire for the property for employee parking.

C of C Elects New Officers

Reorganizing seems to be the life story of the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce. This year however, members are confident the new leadership will make all the difference for an active group.

Mary Lou Dangler was named president at the Chamber of Commerce meeting April 16 at Harry's Cafe. Mrs. Dangler and her husband Paul are co-owners with Jim and Judy Palmer of Gaston's Jewelry. Mrs. Palmer is with publicity.

Supporting officers are Opal Dickinson, of First Federal Savings and Loan, secretary and Sally Hunt, of Don's Contented Sole, treasurer. A vice-president and three board members are not yet appointed.

Mark King of Trickey's Inc. is chairman of the retail division and Margé Eggleston of Eggleston's Jewelry is vice-chairman.

Retail Committee includes John and Pat Seay, Judy Palmer, Bill Feight, Sr., Ron Baxter, Esther Frost, Charlie Trickey and Mrs. Dangler.

Industrial and professional divisions elect their own chairmen.

"On the whole, we want a better, improved Tecumseh," Mrs. Dangler commented. "Pulling together makes each member feel part of the community. Industry, too, will benefit, making them recognized by other communities. We will promote business right down to sidewalk sale promotions.

"There are empty buildings here that should be filled with shopping.

"People are glad we're revamping. They have been most cooperative," she added.

Mrs. Dangler also suggested the Chamber recognize people, new stores and "welcome them for better community relations."

Until his illness, Charlie Trickey, a past president of the Chamber, lent his expertise to the retail division. He was one of the nominating committeemen for officers.

Trickey outlined what he thought are three specific goals for the Chamber: fireworks for the July 4, sidewalk sale promotions and refurbishing the Santa Claus house.

An executive committee meeting to set the budget which may include these and other projects, is forthcoming.

Retail promotions are paid solely by participating retailers. Other community oriented projects are financed by the whole Chamber.

One new idea that the Chamber of Commerce will try is contracting a liaison to inform retailers and other Chamber members of activities and promotions.

"Retailers are simply too busy to do this themselves," commented Trickey.

A membership drive is also in the works.

Membership dues were $60 for retailers, $35 for self employed individuals and $100 for industry.

State Plan Would Incur Tax Increase

School Board Monday night discussed the possibility of the county being split into two separate community college districts in compliance with a bill now before the legislature.

If passed, the bill would require that all students in the state reside in a community college district. Tecumseh would then belong to the Monroe district and the west side of the county to the Jackson district.

Supt. Robert Duhan stressed that the legislation is still under consideration.

If Tecumseh became part of the Monroe Community College district, Tecumseh would have to pay an operational and debt retirement tax amounting to 1.6 mills. In exchange, students attending the school would pay resident tuition fees. At present they pay non-resident fees.

Duhan discussed the possibility of the county becoming a "contracting community college district" whereby the county would make arrangements with Siena Heights or Adrian College to provide required curriculum. This would cost only one mill, he estimated, and students would still benefit from a lower tuition rate.

Duhan went on to say that it is not yet known whether the county would be allowed to follow this course of action as legislation is not yet finalized.

In a resolution that passed unanimously, the Board indicated that it would prefer to see the county stick together as a unit and contract with a college in the county to provide the required curriculum.

Several board members made note of their displeasure concerning the proposed legislation.

Board president William Brown stated, "I have some resentment about the state telling us what to do." Hugh DesErmia agreed with Brown.

And Dr. Harold Ocamb said, "If we are forced into this, I would like to see us stick together as a county."

Dismissals, Sex Book Protests Heard by Board

By FRANK WEIR

At a meeting of Tecumseh's Board of Education Monday night, the Board listened to complaints from high school students concerning the dismissal of high school teachers Jay Pinsky and Jon Van Wagner.

In addition, a parent complained to the Board about the choice of reading matter for his daughter's class at Ridgeway and the use of a pass-fail grading system in elementary school.

Around 10 students from the high school attended the meeting.

Barb Henning read a letter drafted by the high school student assembly which took exception to the board's recent decision not to extend contracts to high school teachers Jay Pinsky and Jon Van Wagner.

The students also asked the Board for its reasons behind the dismissals.

Supt. Robert Duhan responded by informing the students that personnel matters are discussed by the Board in executive sessions and are not open to the public. He explained that this information is not a matter of public record to insure the privacy of individuals involved.

Circulate Petitions

School Board members William Brown and Hugh DesErmia are circulating petitions for re-election to the Tecumseh School Board. Both are incumbents. Their terms expire this year.

In addition, Louis A. Tepfenhart of Tipton has also indicated his intention to run.

Deadline for nominating petitions for potential candidates is May 12, as is registration for the office.

Board president William Brown also said, "This is a private situation. You wouldn't want information about your grades published."

Board member Harold Ocamb told the students that the teachers have their evaluations and may show them to students if they wish.

One student asked if the two teachers' "lifestyles" had anything to do with the Board's decision, and Dr. Ocamb firmly told the students that the question of "lifestyle" never entered into the teachers' evaluations.

Also present at the meeting was Roger Vick, a Tecumseh resident with a daughter enrolled at Ridgeway. He protested the use of Aldous Huxley's novel, "Brave New World," as part of her reading assignments.

Citing references to sexual relationships, Vick maintained that such matter was "a little strong" for a 12-year-old. He stated that he had asked his daughter's teacher to quit using the book and she had done so.

Vick went on to ask how materials are approved for use in the schools. Duhan told him that materials are screened through a textbook committee and through the state board of education. Duhan continued to say that "Brave New World" was questionable for that age group and that it had been mixed in with other approved books.

Vick also complained about the pass-fail grading system used in the grade schools, saying that he didn't think it gave a youngster enough incentive to do well.

Duhan told him that students on the system have regular parent-teacher conferences and are given standard achievement tests as well.

Brown also stated that the system has been in use for several years.

Band's Tag Days May 1-2

Tecumseh Band Boosters will hold the annual Tag Days Friday, May 2, and Saturday, May 3.

Parents of children in band from grade through high school will be posted at all of United Savings local bank branches, Kroger, A and P, Ken-Ray Drugs, D and C, Don's Contented Sole, First Federal Savings and Tecumseh Products Co.

Proceeds are used to send students to summer music camps, together with money from the David Day scholarship fund. In the past, the money from Tag Days has been used to buy the new Varsity Band uniforms, as well as other projects.

Flanders Music Co. is headquarters for the Tag Days. They also will play recordings of Tecumseh High School Varsity Band over loudspeakers.

Chairmen this year are Mrs. William German and Mrs. Kenneth Crause.

City Pickups Start Monday

Annual city pickups of leaves, clippings and discarded items will begin next Monday.

Leaves and clippings must be in containers. Large items, such as chairs, refrigerators, and other items of similar size must be placed next to the curb along with leaves and clippings.

Schedule is:

Residents living in southeast and northwest sections of the city, who have regular refuse pickups on Monday and Tuesday, will have free city pickups next week on April 28-29.

Residents who have regular pickups on Wednesday and Thursday, will have city pickups on May 5-6.

Officials Appoint New Committee

Too pooped to participate in the Bicentennial, the Tecumseh Area Sesquicentennial Executive Committee has retired and Tecumseh City Council appointed a new Bicentennial committee Monday.

New committee members are the Rev. David Fox, Isabel Sisty, Owen Merrill, also Tecumseh's representative on the county committee, James McDowell, Cecil Eby and Vera Driscoll.

Don Berkley, Tecumseh Area Historical Society president, explained to Council the Bicentennial celebration effort does not focus on pageants and parades, like the Sesquicentennial celebrated last year.

It is low key with many community organizations pooling resources for the projects that reflect community pride in the nation's birthday.

Berkley suggested that other organizations such as Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Rotary, churches, and others select representatives to cooperate with the Bicentennial committee.

Sesquicentennial executive committee was James Beardsley, general chairman; Doug Eggleston, student activities; Claire and Dwight Helms women's and men's participation chairmen; Betty Flanders, spectacle; Pauline Galazzi, treasurer; Patricia Ely, decorations; Ella Mary King, publicity; Mabel Lockwood, secretary; Earl Baldwin, insurance; June Macbeth, spectacle tickets; Robert Williamson, special events; Herbert Dillon, headquarters; Joe Fortunato, revenue; Joe Hanna, special days.

Five Thefts Are Reported

Five thefts were reported the past week, including a breaking and entering at Tecumseh High School.

Edward Mennomee, school employee, reported a locked wash room at the school was broken into Friday and a large wrench taken. Value is unknown.

Also on Friday, Mrs. William Rodgers, 509 S. Occidental Rd., reported that her children's clothing were taken from a locker at the high school. Clothing and items were estimated at over $50.

Ken Hooten, Adrian, told officers Friday that a skil saw was taken from his pickup while parked at the Cedar Shack. Loss was estimated at $150.

Last Wednesday Cecil Sharoock, 107 S. Union, reported a bicyle, valued at $100, was stolen from a back room area at his residence.

A coin box, worth $150 was ripped from a wall at the Sudsy-Duz-It Car Wash on W. Chicago Blvd. Wednesday. Box contained only $1.25. Theft was discovered by Tecumseh police while on patrol.

No Power for 3,900

Power outage on Consumers Power lines at 5:15 p.m., and lasting two hours, left approximately 3,900 customers without power Tuesday.

Included was all of Tecumseh, Ridgeway, Britton, and west, almost to Tipton.

Power company officials were able to determine that it was not an equipment failure, but are still trying to find out exactly what caused the short circuit in the Tecumseh substation.

Doctor's Wife Has Close Call

Jan Ocamb was expected home Wednesday afternoon by her husband, Dr. Harold Ocamb, after a close brush with death on Monday.

The Ocamb children found their mother unconscious. She had been spraying trees.

Dr. Ocamb reached his residence before Tecumseh Fire Department, summoned by the Sheriff's office.

Mrs. Ocamb was taken to Bixby Hospital intensive care unit.

THS Chorus in 'Follies'

Tecumseh High School Chorus will present "1920 Follies" May 8 and 9 in the Tecumseh Products Workers Union Hall with curtain time 8 p.m.

All members will participate in the concert featuring duets, solos and ensembles, dancing, skits and chorus selections under the direction of Gerald Bach.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

The Toledo Symphony Orchestra, 85 members strong, will appear at Dawson Auditorium May 12 at 7:30 p.m., providing a rare treat for music lovers. Tickets available at Flanders Music Co.

Mrs. Edward (Janet) Day was the soloist for the Stanifer-Escott wedding, not Mrs. Ralph Day as per the wedding form and while we are about it—There are presently two women employed in assembly at The Tecumseh Products Co. Reference was made regarding the blood bank a couple of weeks ago. Sorry to have offended Mrs. Leslie Montague who has given over a gallon of life saving fluid, not a fact to be flip about.

Special Election Set for July

After a series of motions, Council adopted a 30-year gas franchise ordinance for Consumers Power Co. to do business in the city of Tecumseh.

A special city election on July 16 was approved for electorate to vote on same.

Consumers Power Co. will pay the city $1,300 election expenses in advance.

City clerk was authorized to give notice of special election and registration of voters, direct the board of city election commission to prepare and supply necessary ballots; manner of canvassing votes; and clerk is to publish the franchise ordinance.

One Color

Council agreed Monday night to engage Paul Burns to maintain the lawn at the City Hall, as in the past.

Council also decided that new police cars should be all one color for easy identification by the community.

City is considering joining with the Hospital Board to auction outdated vehicles with hospital equipment.

Seek Rezoning; Abandon Plans

Right now, it looks like the city's hopes for the first privately owned senior citizens' housing here has been aborted by property owners Harold F. and Katharine S. Naser and builder Orrie Gilbert.

The Nasers requested Council Monday night to rezone the property on N. Van Buren St. back to one family residential district. Council referred the request to Planning Commission.

Last July, that four acres of property was zoned for housing for the elderly.

City manager Cal Zorn explained that apparently the couple could not make a profitable venture in their plans.

Gilbert proposed to build a retirement home for the elderly on the vacant four-acre lot, immediately south of Patterson School. The property is reportedly now for sale.

An 80-bed facility with one and two bedrooms and communal dining area was planned. Personal care, for elderly who need assistance with daily activities such as eating, bathing, medication and dressing, would have been available through the assistance of aides.

Council also voted six to one to refund the $100 zoning fee since the city designated the zoning for the single use. Councilman Ray Puffer cast the dissenting vote.

Resigns

During the regular monthly meeting of the Tecumseh School Board Monday night, the Board accepted the resignation of Herbert Beck, junior high math teacher.

Beck has been with the district since September of 1960 and has reached retirement age. He will be leaving the end of this school year.

Federal Grant

School Board passed a motion Monday night that the district apply for federal funds to continue its remedial reading program.

The program consists of two trailers which travel to Tipton, Ridgeway, Tecumseh Acres and Sutton schools to help students with reading problems.

Last year, a federal grant of $41,864 was allocated to the district for the program.

Supt. Robert Duhan told the board that this amount covered all but $1,000 of the cost of the program.

Dr. Harold Ocamb moved that the board re-apply for funds to continue the program. Duhan told the board that the district is guaranteed 85 percent of last year's grant.

Reading Program

Congressman Robert Hutchinson announced that the Federal United States Environmental Protection Agency gave the city of Tecumseh $29,700 in supplemental reimbursement grants for waste water treatment facilities.

This money is given under the Federal Water Pollution control act.

It supplements the previous payments of $106,400 for same purpose.

Sign Changes

Consideration of a request from a citizen in the audience prompted Council to decide to re-contact the State Highway Department about the lack of time on the light at Union St. and Chicago Blvd.

Monday night, councilmen complained that the back up time on the light, and the safety of school children warranted the change.

The yield sign on Logan St. at Van Buren near Patterson School will be replaced by the city with a stop sign to slow down Logan St. traffic, which attempts to bypass traffic lights on Chicago Blvd.

Accept Bid

Council decided Monday night to accept the low bid of DuBois-Cooper for a four by four Wemco recirculating pump to replace one installed at the original wastewater treatment plant in 1952.

Cost is $2,299.

Council rejected the bid of the Frank E. Early Co. at $4,996.

Readers Write

To the Editor:

Recently I read of suggestion made in a report of the City Planning Board by Mrs. Carlton (Lynn) Cook to renovate the second floors on the main street and convert them into living quarters for senior citizens.

The idea is good but impractical for that age group. Most people do not understand the needs of Senior Citizens even we, ourselves, do not understand us.

In the first place, the stairs are too steep and the steps are too narrow for arthritics, and people who are handicapped, or afflicted (if only temporarily). Adrian tried this. Were the results rewarding?

Why not turn the facilities over to the young adults who love and thrive on noise made not only by themselves but by the traffic and tavern closing hours.

The subject requires very special study. Space prevents me from writing further but I know a whole lot more from experience and study of the subject.

Why don't we hear further from the Gilbert project?

An elderly gentleman well known to all is of the opinion that property on the south side of Herrick Park Drive near Evans Street would be an excellent location for the Kiwanis Apartments and I agree with him.

The nearness of a shopping center including a bank, grocery and meat store, laundry facilities, gas and repair station, a doctor's office, church, a vacant restaurant etc., is already established. The building would be provided with the latest safety devices — maybe not as attractive but a God-send to the elderly.

My plea is for wide and low steps with plenty of railings and for public restrooms (and homes) to have chrome bars attached very securely to the wall near the stools.

Thank you for printing this letter. You don't know when you'll need all this consideration.

A senior citizen but not a crank as you might think.

The annual Easter Seal's Campaign is completed for 1975. However, if you have not made a contribution, your check may be sent to:

The Easter Seal Society of Lenawee County

Indeed, it is gratifying to know that your concern and generosity enables crippled children and adults to receive help and rehabilitation. Thank you for your support.

On the ot[illegible] is not gratifying to learn that someone felt compelled to steal one of the Easter Seal canisters from a local restaurant. Let us hope this individual will never require aid from the Society lest his (or her) conscience be adversely affected.

To the Editor:

Concerning the spot in "Behind Page One" about the Blood Bank held at the Tecumseh Products on April 4, 1975 — in case you haven't noticed, there are a great number of women who give blood. I myself have given over 1 gallon.

If the person who wrote the comment "Oh! are there any women?" had really been at the Blood Bank they would have noticed that there were a great number of women giving blood.

Why was a remark like that necessary?

It surely can't have made those women (many of them) who did give, feel very good.

Sincerely,
Leslie K. Montague

Need some important terms in glass design and construction? The three methods of forming glass are blowing, drawing, and pressing. Spiral hollows in a stem are produced by piercing the heated stem with rods, then twisting. Cameo glass is white glass placed layer on layer onto dark glass, then cut away cameo style. Cut glass is produced by abrasive wheels, and often have patterns cut by hand. Unpolished patterns are called gray cuttings. Etching is a satin like finish on part of a glass. The finish is put on by attacking it with acid.

Voice OF THE HERALD

Approve New Music Facilities

Stop and consider for a while one of the most joyous of all educational experiences — Music.

Somehow, we expect our children to read, write, spell and count. Yet students go into the schools singing commercials and a good number emerge with an instrument playing and singing music that gives us such pleasure.

Music also has a unique meaning to students. It helps put the three R's into focus. It sharpens a student's mental processes by encouraging clear thinking, creativity and self-discipline.

Music relates to other learning experiences: it develops individuality, enables the student to realize small successes daily and deepens feelings of self worth.

It offers a constructive outlet for energy and feelings and enables students to communicate with others. Students learn teamwork and cooperation and the mildly competitive environment challenges each one.

Perhaps no other aspect of education offers so many advantages for the community. Yet, these benefits are threatened by the complete lack of facilities.

Today, The Herald focuses attention on the goals and achievements in music education in Tecumseh Public Schools and encourages the total community to strengthen and support a comprehensive program of music education that will provide the much needed practice areas.

We recognize the creative approach music teachers and band boosters have taken to support and encourage students to pursue their musical talents and interests.

We join our voice, with what we hope is a resounding chorus of praise for music in our schools, and hope [illegible]munity will unite in a total effort to boost music facilities.

Two Accidents Investigated

Two traffic accidents on city streets the past week included a young pedestrian, who escaped unhurt.

Robert Burgett, 13, of 3000 E. Valley Rd., walked into the side of an auto driven on Evans St. by Robert Green, of Horton. Burgett returned to school and Green was not held responsible for the accident which inflicted only a slight leg bruise to the youth.

Janise K. Stevens, 17, of 2255 Munger Rd., and Charles D. Bow, 55, of 605 Brook St., sideswiped on Brook when Bow swung wide to turn into a drive. Miss Stevens was attempting to pass on the right at the time.

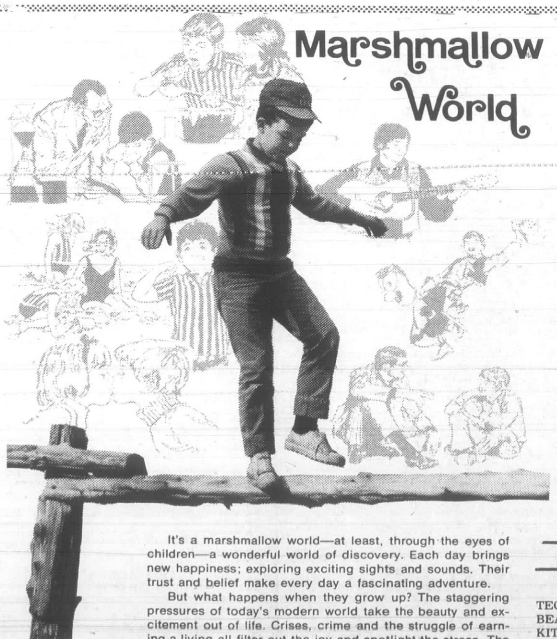
Marshmallow World



It's a marshmallow world—at least, through the eyes of children—a wonderful world of discovery. Each day brings new happiness; exploring exciting sights and sounds. Their trust and belief make every day a fascinating adventure.

But what happens when they grow up? The staggering pressures of today's modern world take the beauty and excitement out of life. Crises, crime and the struggle of earning a living all filter out the joy and spotlight the stress. The days are long.

But with all its problems, life is still incredibly beautiful. When we forget that it is, we need to be reminded that life has a meaning . . . we need to take on the faith of a child.

Come to that constant source of inspiration and truth and renew your strength in the Church.

Mini Courses Offered at THS

By KATHY KULCZYK

High school was never like this!

For three days, regular classes were suspended and Tecumseh High School students and faculty participated in mini-courses Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Ninety-four classes from skydiving to horseback riding, candy making to Spanish cooking, acid rock music appreciation to wilderness survival,and crafts of every kind were taught by faculty and guest teachers.

It was the first full scale program of this kind at THS.

Paul Cunningham, physics and chemistry teacher and Kathy Kelso, mathematics teacher, worked since October with faculty, administration and students to arrange schedules, speakers, transportation and appropriate rooms for classes.

They figure they have 150 hours apiece or three solid weeks of time put into planning.

Three fourths of the students got exactly what they wanted," said Cunningham. Quite a feat since over 1,000 students participated.

Everyone was given an opportunity to pick what they wanted to teach or observe. Schedules were arranged so each student at each grade level could get a class of his choice.

"Some classes were limited only by size of room, equipment or the teacher's patience," said Cunningham. Classes were free except where materials must be bought.

Cunningham said that the program was organized after observing programs in other schools and ideas were tried with the THS program.

Last year, on a trial basis, teachers were encouraged to teach mini-courses of their liking to their classes. Those who participated found it popular with most students.

After this year's program, faculty guest teachers, administrators and students will evaluate its success.

Hard to tell though, whether the teachers were more excited or the students.

Judy Kastel's English teacher, said she was a little apprehensive of her candy making class at the Y-W kitchen. She had just wrestled with a ditto machine that won. Nevertheless, she looked excited.

Pam Holtz, also an English teacher, said that she couldn't wait to participate in Jo Ann Cooley's jazz dance class. Holtz taught the acid rock appreciation course.

This year mini-courses substituted for "Sponge Week" during which the students dressed in 1950's clothes and practiced "slave week."

You Told Us

by Dorothy Grigg

Ever wonder why the street between Van Buren and Adrian is listed in the directory and phone books as Democrat and is Democratic on the street signs? City Manger Cal Zorn said that the name was taken from a plat from Union to Adrian Streets including Hoeg's addition to the Village of Tecumseh in the 1800's.

As always we went to Clara's book where, lo and behold, a page from the 1916 Atlas of Lenawee County reproduced showing the street to be — Sycamore!!!!!

Our historian threw light on that subject when she stated that sycamore trees love the wet lands and grew profusely along Evans Creek, thus the name and then — as Cal said "came the Democrats, the Orrs and the McClures and settled on said street and the populace began to call it by the later name.

Katherine Cameron, a resident of D ---- St. stated that she learned a long time ago from the late George Isaccson that Mr. Egan who operated the Eagan Shoe Store in Adrian said "no way could the street be called 'Democrat', in accordance with all that is proper and right, it must be called 'Democratic'. And that, dear friends, is an end to that.

More motors are ruined by too much oil than not enough. It only takes a few drops in each oil cup, a couple times a year for furnace blowers and burner motors that operate intermittently. Most water pump motors are of the permanent type and never need oil. On circulating hot water pumps, the motor is oiled the same but the bearing assembly part of the pump will use about a thimble full.

We work at giving you good service. When you need assistance on plumbing or air conditioning installation, repair or remodeling call us at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. Free estimates are provided and we provide service of everything we sell. Hours: 8 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. daily, until 9 p.m. Friday until 5 p.m. Saturday.

Handy Hint: Keep motors free of lint, etc., so the motor can breathe.

Indians Win Over Chelsea

BY FRANK WEIR

As the old saying goes, "Some you win, some you lose, and some get rained out." The Tecumseh Indians fulfilled most of this adage by drubbing Chelsea 9-4 in the first game of the Tecumseh baseball tourney on Saturday.

After the Chelsea game, Tecumseh played Saline, another winner from the morning's two contests. The game was called because of rain in the top of the fourth inning with the Indians in front 3-0.

Tecumseh started things out in the Chelsea contest with a run in the first inning. But they soon found themselves playing catch-up when Chelsea grabbed three runs in the third and one in the fourth.

Tecumseh added two for their side in the fourth and went on to score three runs in the fifth and sixth. Chelsea was unable to ante-up any more runs.

Five Indians scored hits in the game including a home run by Bill Smith in the 6th inning. Smith also hit a double in the game. Other hits were registered by Doug Bunch who was two for four with a single and a double, Dave Spillman two for three with two singles, Mike Corley, two for four with a single and double, and Ken Biscupski one for two with a single.

Biscupski also was the winning pitcher with six strike outs and five walks. Bill Smith was the catcher.

Tecumseh committed two errors in the game. Chelsea [illegible] hits and made three errors.

Saline defeated Columbia Central in the morning and won the right to take on the Indians in the afternoon.

Tecumseh scored two runs in the first and one in the third before the game was called in the fourth. Doug Bunch had the only hit, a single, at that point.

The game will be made up next Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Tecumseh. The two teams will start the game where they left off.

The Indians travel to New Boston Huron this Friday.

The Tories put on a stellar performance during the contest with Madison. Britton made 12 hits committing five errors while Madison could only come up with three hits on six errors.

Those Tories getting hits included, Mike Servoss with a double and two singles, Dan Exelby with two singles, Craig Wagenschutz with two singles driving in three runs, Jim Cradit with a single and a double, Dave Wielfaert with a double, Alan Reau with a single, and Don Gorton with a single.

Mike Saxton was the winning pitcher for Britton with 13 strike outs and three walks to his credit. Servoss again stole three bases.

Coach Jim Sweigart commented on the Madison game, "We really hit the ball. We had been getting good pitching and defense, we just put it all together for the Madison game. And that was a good time to put it together since it was the start of our league schedule."

The Tories take on Summerfield Wednesday and then the ever-tough Ann Arbor St. Thomas team next Monday.

Teachers Keep Music Program Alive, Vibrant; Chorus, Band Grows Strong Despite Facilities

BY KATHY KULCZYK

People in the Tecumseh School District have been hearing sour notes for a long time about the poor facilities they have provided for students.

Anyone who wants to hear some good news should talk to someone intimately [illegible] with the music program.

Band boosters, students, parents, supporting service organizations, faculty and administrators can give six good points:

Donald Johnson, 20 year veteran instrumental music teacher of elementary school cares that a child suits the instrument he plays, knows the basics and practices in a decent facility.

Helen Bendes, five years a vocal teacher, works with junior high school talent. She encourages and looks forward with her students to development of county vocal competition. She also teaches elementary students.

Diane Kenyon and Brenda Schedeler, together with Bendes, cooperate to expose grade schoolers to all kinds of music, encourage vocal development and enjoyment of music.

Jimmie Rice, energetic high school band director of two years, keeps the junior varsity and varsity bands active in county and state competition and parades. He shares part-time teaching duties with Johnson in the junior high program. Both are crossing their fingers for a full-time program in the junior high.

Gerald Bach, vocal and instrumental instructor for eight years, is the "big daddy" of the Tecumseh Stage Band. (As he proudly said, "It's my baby.") He uses auditions to promote quality students in band and chorus classes. Bach also teams with Johnson in instrumental instruction of fifth and sixth grade band students.

Thanks to the enthusiasm and creativity of these teachers and cooperation of aforementioned groups, the music program has improved by leaps and bounds.

Band and chorus practice facilities do not exist anywhere in the schools, except for the Sutton School vocal music practice room. Teachers do the best they can.

PRACTICE WHERE THEY CAN

Helen Bendes teaches junior high school vocal classes in the Tecumseh Public Library basement classroom every morning for three music periods from 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

"The (room) arrangement was to be temporary, but it has been temporary for five years. Acoustically, it is not the proper facility. It was not designed as a chorus room," said Bendes.

"Our vocal music program is hampered. We can't work with individuals or small ensembles. Scheduling of classes is tight and doesn't provide music teachers all the time. We don't have a permanent place to put extra music materials, books and instruments, either," said Miss Bendes.

"This is particularly noticeable in the grade school. Although we have a wealth of audio-visual materials and fine enrichment materials, we have to cart them from room to room because there is no place to store them. We do have excellent cooperation among teachers for use of these materials."

Presently most enrichment materials are stored in the basement of the school board office.

WHERE BAND BEGINS

Instrumental education begins in the fifth grade, said Don Johnson.

All fifth grade students are given pre-band instruments, called tonettes. After two months, teachers evaluate the ability, cooperation and coordination of the student.

Parents are advised whether or not the child would benefit from further lessons.

A group meeting is held for parents and children and the program explained. After three months, another progress report is sent.

Eventually, we transfer a student from one horn to another, or a wind instrument, which ever best suits the child's mouth structure and music ability," Johnson explained.

For the first time this year, the brass and reed instruments are separated and respectively taught by Johnson and Gerald Bach.

"A school gym or kitchen is a poor place to rehearse. The echo makes it difficult for the child to hear what he is playing. Putting him next to another group rehearsing makes it even more difficult."

Practices in the junior high school are held in the multipurpose room, also used for voting polls, lunches, activity rooms, etc.

Next year in the eighth grade, there will be 85 students in band "and these kids can't be split up since there is no other room for them to practice at that hour," said Johnson.

EMPHASIZE QUALITY

With Gerald Bach, the Tecumseh Stage Band, an accredited course for two years, has achieved professionalism. Listeners say the band qualifies now to enter the state Ionia Jazz Festival.

[illegible] band is by a special audition and limited to 23. Students play music from the 40's to today. Jazz is performed and students are encouraged to improvise.

Bach also uses auditions to promote quality in girls' ninth grade glee club and mixed chorus for grades 10 to 12.

"The vocal students have not participated in competition because they don't know what they sound like. It shakes the kids up to be in an acoustically perfect room," said Bach. They practice in the school cafeteria.

Vocal classes learn the history of music since Bach selects a variety and explains it to them. They acquire a working knowledge of music which yields a deeper appreciation for it and greater involvement in local church choirs.

Bach teaches them showmanship and also makes them responsible for costumes, publicity and props. Two concerts are upcoming in May.

TECUMSEH'S PRIDE

This summer, the "Pride of Tecumseh" as Jimmie Rice rightfully calls the high school marching band, will march in the Tulip Festival parade May 17 in Holland and the Cherry Festival July 11 in Traverse City.

Other extracurricular activities include the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Association festivals and Tecumseh Marching Band Festival, an annual, all county, band activity through the Lenawee County Band Directors Association. THS students are also eligible for summer camp scholarships.

Right now the band and other music classes in the high school are held in the high school cafeteria.

A small cramped office just off the cafeteria is the "band room" where some music is stored along with two desks for teachers. Other equipment is stored in cupboards along with wrestling gear.

Two periods a day from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., the cafeteria becomes a lunchroom. Approximately 12 to 16 minutes is lost by student crews who set up music equipment and take down eating tables, even though a janitor assists them. "We've shaved at least six minutes off the operation due to organizing these student crews," said Rice.

Practices disturb nearby classes.

"Thirty-five students in a class starts pressuring a student. (It) limits their performance ability," Rice explained.

"In spite of the limitations, enthusiasm from the students for a music program is quite high. So we build on that."

Rice has started a music theory class taught during the two lunch periods. Classes are open to all THS students who wish to learn about the science of music.

Other improvements include acoustically improving a separate classroom for use by ensembles practicing after school. This eliminated competition with the wrestling team for the use of the cafeteria after school.

One hundred band uniforms bought about three years ago, at $115 each, were piled in the transportation office. They now hang in a closet panelled to keep them dry.

BOARD INVESTIGATING

"Need for a band facility has long been recognized," said Hugh DesErmia, school board member.

He is chairman of the buildings and grounds committee who along with Todd Herrick and Jim Records, are investigating a new addition to relieve the cramped situation at the high school.

"If we built additional rooms, we could free up rooms we need for other classes," Des Ermia elaborated.

The committee is studying two plans. One would extend the present high school at the north quadrant, between the library and north hall.

A second alternative would enlarge and extend the present cafeteria and kitchen to the east and add a commons area. Band and possibile art rooms would be added to the east of that.

Cost figures from the Warren Holmes architects are expected soon.

SELF-AWARENESS—Group music classes in elementary grades help children build musical and personal skills and acquire self-awareness. Don Johnson, instrumental music teacher, emphasizes a point to a trumpeter John Eric Deming at Tecumseh Acres elementary school.

ARE YOU WITH ME TODAY?—Jimmy Rice, band director calls for attention from a section of the junior varsity band. Only practice makes perfect. The band and director work cooperatively, with mutual esteem.

JAZZ, HOT NEW SOUND—Jazz is blowing up new sounds in Tecumseh High School. It's one of today's happier sounds and is providing endless opportunity for creativity of THS Stage Band students through improvisation, solos and group performances. Gerald Bach conducts at a concert for Tecumseh Junior High School. Stage Band has also been heard across the county on radio and in personal appearances.

NOBODY LIKES EXTRA WORK, BUT—Student crews have clipped six minutes off band set-up time. Converting the cafeteria to a band practice room takes 12 to 16 minutes out of class time.

Return from Arizona

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davidson are home after a harrowing experience as they were returning from a winter in Arizona.

A high wind as they emerged from an underpass about 24 miles east of Holbrook, Ariz. caught their 20 foot trailer overturning it and demolishing it and the car.

Harold suffered a seat belt bruise but the couple were otherwise uninjured.

Myrna Tingley went with the Davidsons to visit her son, Dale, in Glendale, Ariz.

Personal belongings of the Davids were recovered and sustained only water damage.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

by Marda Gene Duncan

THE ANHINGAS

Most of our bird books do very well, in both text and pictures, with these odd birds, the anhingas. They are about 28 inches long and have a wing spread of at least 47 inches. Yes, they are big birds. However, much of this length is thanks to a long skinny neck and a long wide tail. Weightwise an anhinga would not tip the scales anyplace near where her dimension would indicate. As is the case with so many of the birds we have come to know on our small lake, these characters must be seen to be believed.

The first thing to know is that they are water birds. Fish is the main item in their diet. Unlike the double-crested cormorant who swims on top of the water much like a duck, the anhinga's body is usually underwater and all that shows is her long snake-like neck and her spear-like bill.

Her head jerks back and forth as she swims — it is a rather slow graceful movement and it looks for all the world as though somehow this motion were pulling her forward.

We have often wondered what prompts these birds, and the cormies also, to suddenly dive for fish. Of course they dive in a different manner — the cormorants tuck their heads down and jack-knife under while the anhingas simply sink straight down. Not every dive is successful but more often than not both birds come up with little fish.

As mentioned before, the anhinga's bill is like a long sword and it spears the fish. Quickly the 'snack' is brought to the surface and, with a beautifully executed flip, it is tossed off the bill and caught to be swallowed head first. When this act is performed just a few feet from our porch you can well imagine how thrilled and excited we are.

Mother Nature played one of her infrequent dirty tricks on the anhinga. Here is a bird who, in order to survive, must spend a great deal of time in and under the water and yet has no water-proofing.

Most other water-birds have superb oil glands which afford near perfect protection — well, we all know what they say about water running off a duck's back. Not the poor anhinga though. She becomes soaked and water-logged to the point of being unable to fly. Truly, she must dry off before taking off.

One of the best drying spots around our lake is on the end of the island. Nice for us. We have spent more time than I care to admit watching these birds waddle out of the water, struggle for enough of the beach so that the wind or air hits them, and begin the tedious job of hanging themselves out to dry. With wings held in a spread-eagle position this is the only way to describe the act.

It looks like such an exhausting position to hold for any length of time that we often become tired of just watching. And how is this for a discouraging sight, an anghina trying to dry off during a heavy downpour!

The male anhinga is an all black bird with silvery white up and down stripping on his wings. The female has a tannish neck and upper breast and, as might be expected, her wing markings are not as distinct as his.

It has been interesting to note that we can almost tell how quickly the birds are drying. As they weave from side to side in that peculiar spread-eagle position, their colors become more definite as the feathers dry.

When take-off time comes there is still fun in store for the anhinga watcher. These birds are good fliers once airborne and have an easily recognizable flight pattern of alternate flappings and glidings. The trick is to get high enough.

Usually the bird will fly almost the length of the lake and only gain a few feet of altitude, then she circles back and attains a bit more height and finally, after three or four passes, she is ready to take off for — well, who knows where she goes!

Now I guess it is confession time. We have named another bird. Have you noticed how tongue rolling it is to say anghina every few minutes? Well, it just become too much and besides, with a name such as hers, it just naturally shortened itself to Annie H. Even the males do not mind being called Annie; at least we have received no complaints.

Actually these birds have many aliases. They are called snake-birds because of their long skinny necks. When you see just that part of the bird bobbing along in the water it reminds you very much of a snake.

They are also known as water-turkeys and yes, their tails are very turkey-like. They are rather long, quite broad and even have a light stripe or band at the end. Mom says that under water these tails fan out. One day one happened to swim by close to the shore and Mom was in the right place at the right time.

So it is that our small lake supports many birds and I guess that perhaps the strangest of all are the anhingas.

Retired Army Veteran Studies for a New Career in Teaching

"After a 20-year career in the Army, I decided on teaching as my new career. My wife, a teacher, is in Siena's graduate program and my son is a freshman so I made it a threesome. Any apprehension I had about being accepted by fellow students 20 years my junior was quickly dispelled when I learned that they and the faculty were eager to share my experiences in Africa, Korea, and the Caribbean."

Poaching A Chicken

Most "leftover" chicken dishes taste better if they are made from poached chicken. If you have leftover roasted, broiled or fried chicken choose a leftover dish with a sauce or broth base.

Poaching chicken is easy. Simmer in water in a covered pot with a stalk of celery, an onion and a little salt until tender. Strain the broth and reserve it. Cut the chicken meat from the bones in generous slices. Any unused portion of the poached chicken may be stored in an air-tight container in the refrigerator or freezer for later use.

Bi-centennial Journey

EARLY ROADS
By Thelma Younglove

There were no roads when the first settlers came to the northeastern part of Lenawee County about 1831. Those brave, determined pioneers followed the Indian trails or winding streams, traveling on foot or on horse back. Land from the Ridge east for a considerable distance was very low and wet. For many years it was referred to as the "Muddy Swamp", especially during the spring months.

In the summer of 1832, a road was opened from Monroe to Tecumseh. Road began at LaPlaisance Bay near Monroe and followed an Old Indian Trail until it joined the Old Chicago Road at Cambridge Junction.

New road was called the LaPlaisance Bay Turnpike, often referred to as the Turnpike and later the Plank Road. For many weeks of the year, the road was so muddy it was almost impassable, even with horses and wagons. Traveling was so difficult only a few miles could be covered each day.

One of the earliest attempts to improve the road was to lay planks eight feet long and three inches thick across the road to keep the vehicles from sinking into the mud.

Road was then called the Plank Road. Each spring the road was repaired and damaged planks replaced. Few years prior to 1920, another attempt was made to improve the road. It was graveled from the Ridge east to what is now called Downing Highway. Men using teams and wagons hauled red gravel from nearby gravel pits. From the end of the graveled strip to the County Line was about one and one-half miles of unimproved road.

At times during the year that strip was almost impassable. In those days traffic was light. Few motorists who did venture out during the wet season were most unhappy when they reached the end of the gravel and found their car stalled in the thick mud.

Only way for the motorist to continue on his way was to hire a farmer to use his team of horses to pull the car through the bad stretch of road.

Some of us may complain about road conditions at the present but how many would want to drive on roads in the condition they were at the turn of the century? NEXT WEEK — Restless Americans.

"One good bargain... deserves another."

They look alike.
And for the most part, they work alike. Both are hooked up to your own telephone line. Both can keep you in touch with more than 100 million other phones in the U.S. And, another 100 million around the world. And, both give you unlimited local service.

However, there is a difference.
The phone on the right is an extension. It saves steps around the house. It gives added security, especially at night, when you've had it installed in your bedroom. And it also provides extra privacy.

So the extension gives you more.
Twice the convenience.
Nevertheless, it costs much less because we only have to connect it to your first phone.

Isn't it nice to know that you can have something that gives you more, yet costs you less.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

It's quite a shock to find out your husband of nine years is insensitive. I mean, what would you do if your spouse told you that saying a few words over your washing machine that had just given up the ghost was "going too far"?

Like there I was—trying to handle all that grief. Kenny (his given name, Kenmore, seemed too stuffy) and I were not, after all, ships that passed in the night. Ours was a lasting and meaningful relationship, built on mutual satisfaction and trust.

I'll never forget the day Kenny came to live with us. He had given my mother the best eight years of his life—performing outstandingly—with only an occasional cracked hose interrupting his tireless service.

You can imagine Kenny's reaction when he learned Mom was replacing him with new, more attractive model. Your ego wouldn't be exactly boosted either if you found out you were being traded in on something with a mini basket and a perma press cycle!

Kenny and I hit it off right away. I seized the first opportunity we had of being alone to reassure him he'd never have to face a similar fate while he was mine.

He stood by me through grease-sodden shirts, rugs larger than his capacity and the inevitable (and less than wholesome) diapers.

After performing above and beyond the call of duty for seven years, Kenny became ill. He started to cough and whine going into his spin cycle, which was hard enough to take. But when his shivering during his hot-water rinse developed into violent uncontrollable spasms, I called the repairman.

I guess I should have stopped using Kenny right then and there, but I couldn't admit to myself it was over. I will have to bear the guilt for the rest of my life for putting him through the rigors of a load of rags soaking with "Zip Strip"; and I will forever be haunted by the screech he made as he began to agitate for the last time.

By the time the doc arrived, it was all over. He stood there, box of tools in hand, unable to use any of them. He shook his head and uttered the words I'd dreaded: "inoperable."

I don't remember much after that. Somehow I got through the arrangements that had to be made. It was all very painful, but I'm slowly getting over it.

At least now I can walk through the large appliance section of a department store without becoming hysterical.

Under the Pension Reform Act, you can contribute annually up to 15% of your earnings—not to exceed $1500—to a pension plan. You can deduct the entire amount from your taxable income for the year and pay no current income taxes on it whatsoever. In fact, you pay no taxes on it until retirement when, most likely, you will be earning less and in a far lower tax bracket. What's more, the money contributed draws interest and increases rapidly in your retirement fund. And you pay no taxes on the interest, either, until retirement.

Through MONY, I have long specialized in pension plans. If you are not participating in a pension plan, I can show you how to get one of your own quickly and easily—while you save on taxes. Just fill in the coupon below.

Dedicate Airport Sunday

A special dedication Sunday, will mark the name change of Tecumseh Airport to Meyers Airport. The new name will now be designated on the 1975 official aviation maps.

It was known as Tecumseh Airport for the past 30 years and since Al Meyers began his aircraft business there.

Public dedication at 1 p.m. will be made by a representative of the State Board of Aviation.

Other distinguished guests will include Mario Fontana, chairman of the Department of State Highways and Transportation, representative of Michigan Aeronautics Commission, and members of the Michigan and Indiana Wings of the Aviation Pioneers OX5 Club.

In commemoration of the dedication, a tree will be planted by Mr. Meyers, who was named to the Aviation Hall of Fame last May. Commemorative plaques will be placed in the airport.

Also, the Meyers family will hang in the airport an abstract painting, "In Remembrance" by Shirley Martin, a local artist. Photograph of the painting and artist appear in this week's Herald.

Throughout the day group tours through Meyers Industries boat plant will be available.

There will also be a short demonstration program on parachutist's training. Weather permitting, there will be some spectacular parachute jumps at the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers will host a dinner for their special guests at Don's Contented Sole.

Schools Negotiate with TEA

Negotiations between school officials and representatives of the Tecumseh Education Association are being held weekly for a new contract for the teachers.

Next meeting will be held Tuesday at the junior high.

No information has been released as to any progress except that both sides have presented their proposals.

The schools are also negotiating with the bus drivers, custodians and maintenance employees, secretaries and noon supervisors.

All divisions are currently working under three-year contracts, which expire this year.

Maynard H. Harris, a teacher at Riverview who lives at 59 S. Crestview in the Sutton area, has taken out a petition for the Tecumseh School Board.

He joins incumbents William Brown and Hugh Des Ermia, who have filed, and Louis Tepfenhart of Tipton in the race for two seats on the board. Mrs. Tepfenhart, who is circulating a petition for her husband, also took out another petition but did not state who it was for.

The board race along with a millage proposal will be on the June ballot.

Deadline for filing is May 12.

HIT HEAD-ON — Fact that bus was practically stopped undoubtedly saved 36 students from serious injury Monday afternoon. Sharon Havlin, driver, was almost ready to discharge some students when oncoming car slammed head-on, disabling bus, totaling the car and injuring three students. (Photos by Cortland Hunt)

DRIVER, PASSENGER ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY

3 Students Injured in Car-Bus Crash

A head-on collision between a Tecumseh school bus and a car driven by a rural Britton resident on rain-slicken Sutton Rd. Monday afternoon resulted in minor injuries to three students and to the two occupants of the car.

Fortunately, there were only three of the 36 students on the bus injured and that no one was killed. The automobile was totalled in the collision and the 1969 school bus is "fixible," according to Mike Anderson, head of the schools' bus system.

The accident occurred about the time that Sharon Halvin, bus driver, was stopping to drop off students. The oncoming car, driven by Margaret Southwell, 48, of 8337 M-50, Britton, then slid head-on into the bus.

Apparently, Mrs. Southwell locked her brakes when she saw the bus's flashing lights.

The three students, Kris Miller, 16, of 4020 Haviland Dr.; Robin Van Sickle, 15, of 4223 Occidental Rd.; and Julie Reichenbaught, 15, of 47 Bailey Dr., and Mrs. Southwell and her passenger, Ledeana Sessoms, 31, same Britton address, were taken to Bixby Hospital where they were treated and released.

Mrs. Southwell was later taken to Herrick Hospital and was reported in satisfactory condition Tuesday.

Kris and Robin are 10th graders in Tecumseh High School, and Julie is in the seventh grade.

Mrs. Southwell has been cited for violation of the basic speed law.

Anderson did not know Tuesday whether the schools would attempt to have the bus repaired. It had one more year of service here before being retired.

The schools operate 24 busses on regular runs plus nine special education busses. They are now using a spare bus for transportation of students.

Operate On Victim

Eddie Clark, retired businessman who was beaten in an armed robbery attempt at Jerry's Market in February, underwent brain surgery at University Hospital in Ann Arbor Monday.

Family sources say his condition is stable. He is in intensive care.

Mr. Clark was hit on the head from behind during the robbery and spent seven weeks in the Ann Arbor hospital. He failed to respond to treatment and to rest at home here, and surgery was eventually decided upon by the doctors.

Two B & E's Reported

Proctor Shoe Store in downtown Tecumseh was broken into either late Saturday night or early Sunday with approximately two dozen pairs of shoes taken in the theft.

A small window was broken at the rear of the store. No estimate of loss has been recorded by the police, who discovered the B&E while on patrol Sunday noon.

In another breaking and entering, Howard Sussex, 203 S. Occidental told officers last Wednesday that approximately $277 in tools and equipment had been taken from a garage at this residence.

Sussex had been out of town for several weeks and did not discover the theft until after returning home.

Golfer Hurt in Accident

Mike Hill, pro golfer and former pro at the Tecumseh Country Club, suffered injuries Saturday when he upset on a motorcycle on his farm near Jackson.

His injuries, mostly leg, are expected to keep him off the golf tour indefinitely.

Hill, off to his best start this year on the tour, was 28th on the money list in 1974.

Legislation Forcing Increase

Schools Facing Hike in Operating Millage

Although a determination of millage for the June 9 ballot will not be made until the School Board's meeting on May 19, an increase of a half mill is likely in view of the governor's bill pending in Lansing.

Last June, the electorate approved 18 mills for operation, but the Board levied only 17, one less than authorized. A bill being discussed in Lansing for state aid would necessitate a district to levy 27 mills total in order to collect full state aid.

The schools receive 8.5 mills from county fixed millage, and 18.5 mills in June would give Tecumseh a total of 27 mills for state funds. Based on a student population of 3,650 and an estimated district evaluation of $90 million, local taxes and state aid would provide $1,120.50 per student for 1975-76.

Because of the evaluation increase, Tecumseh with a 27-mill levy would receive $63 less in state aid per student but would collect an additional and same amount from local tax payers.

Although the schools levied 17 mills last year, nearly two mills were not collected because of delinquent taxes. Delinquent taxes in 1974 were $157,275, amounting to nearly two mills, and compared to 1973's delinquent rolls of $113,441, the $43,834 increase was over a half mill.

Current district evaluation is $81,485,289, state equalized. New state equalized values have not been determined, but they're expected to about $90 million for the district.

Cleaning River for Recreation

Twenty-four students, junior and senior high school interested in cleaning up the Raisin River for recreational purposes, held their first Clean Up the River meeting after school, April 29.

They will ask City Council Monday night for support and suggestions how to organize a clean-up of the river from Clinton to Tecumseh for free canoeing.

Canoeing is now possible on Red Mill, Standish Pond and Mill Race, but logs, branches and brushes obstruct passage.

Group organized during a discussion of the sophomore class with Dave Ruff, advisor

Students complained there is nothing in town for them to become involved in during the summer months.

Jenny Fielder, Sue Hollis and Sheila Anderson are extemporaneous leaders.

"We want a place for recreation, so we can tell our kids we did this. . .a place to have fun," Jenny explained at the meeting.

"It won't happen overnight," Ruff told them. "Perhaps in your lifetime, it (the river) can be cleaned up throughout the county with a county sponsor," he added.

2nd Annual Canoe Race Is Planned

Plans are now being completed for Tecumseh's second annual amateur canoe race on Memorial Day, May 26.

Ward Eardley, city recreation director, says the event is being sponsored this year by the American Legion, Exchange Club and the recreation department.

The race is open to Lenawee County residents, age 16 and over. Registration and additional information may be obtained at the recreation department office in the Community Center. Registration is limited to 50 entries.

The Legion is also combining its annual chicken barbecue with the canoe race. It will be held in Satterthwaite Park at the Community Center, starting at 12 noon.

3-Year-Old Home, Brother Missing

Dan Makinen, adopted three year old Vietnamese son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Makinen, has come home after 11 days in Mott Children's Hospital, Ann Arbor, following his arrival in this country April 14.

His half-brother five year old polio victim Du Van Minh still has not come home.

Sharon Makinen said that the family is "hot on the trail" to locate him.

"We think that he has entered the country. But with the refugee situation and no picture of him, it makes the search difficult," she told.

Dan is reported "doing beautifully and enjoying everything he sees, hears and eats. He is fond of the other children and the others love him. He is a very affectionate child and there is no problem with a child like that fitting into a family," Sharon beamed.

The Makinens of 208 S. Union St. also have biological children Lisa, 14, Dede, 11, adopted half sisters Tien, 4 and Margaret, 15 months from Vietnam and Matthew, from Michigan, also adopted is two.

Mark Rothfuss, adopted three month old Vietnamese son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rothfuss, Gady Road, is still hospitalized, said Mrs. Makinen. "The tiny fragile babies are having a harder time."

Even in moments of sadness when a country falls, there are moments of happiness. Mrs. Makinen also said the family, of a Vietnamese woman friend in Addison, escaped to the Philippines. They will be united soon in Addison.

Jobs for Teens Begin Organizing

Jobs for Teens program begins organizing and registering teens for summer 1975 at a special meeting, Wednesday, May 7 at the Tecumseh High School library.

Parents and teens, 13 to 18, interested in continuing the program for the third year are invited.

Success of the program depends on parent supervision.

"The basic program is established. We need parents for publicity, registering, placing students with jobs and offering new ideas," said Barbara Johnson, one of the committeewomen with Donna Schiller and Geisala Gero.

Last year, junior and senior high school students worked as janitors, baby sitters, garden workers, painters, pet sitters and aids for the elderly.

Salaries are paid by the employers.

United Fund will again pay for the phone answering tape which refers prospective employers to the committee people to place students suited to the job.

Jobs for Teens is one program discussed at the Community Drop-In Center and campaigned by parents who attended.

Tories Beat Summerfield

BY FRANK WEIR

The Britton Tories continue to dominate the baseball diamond with a win over previously undefeated Summerfield on Friday of last week 6-5.

The win puts Britton in a tie with Ann Arbor St. Thomas for a first place in the league.

Most of the action took place in the last three innings. The Tories found themselves down 1-0 at the start of the fourth inning when they came alive scoring three runs including a home run by pitcher Mike Saxton.

Summerfield fought back scoring three runs for themselves in the fifth but Britton also racked up two more runs. The game was tied up after a Summerfield run in the seventh. Saxton knocked in the winning run for the Tories and it was all over.

Saxton went the distance on the mound for the Tories striking out seven and walking four.

Other hitters for Britton besides Saxton included Dan Exelby with a single, Mike Servoss and Alan Reau each with a double, Dave Wielfaert and Don Gorton each with a single.

Coach Jim Sweigart commented, "It was a well-played ballgame by both teams, our first real pressure game."

The Tories face their most serious threat on Wednesday and Thursday of this week as they take on Deerfield and Ann Arbor St. Thomas respectively.

Clinton Baseball Squad Loses

Looking for their first win, the Clinton Redskin baseball squad just couldn't find it as they dropped a close battle to Onsted 2-0 last Friday.

Clinton had several chances, but couldn't get a runner around. In the second inning, the lead off runner was picked off first base and in the third, Warren Corwin hit a long drive which landed foul. The Skins ended the inning leaving two runners stranded.

Onsted bedeviled the Skins with two double plays one in the fifth and the other in the top of the seventh.

Warren Corwin took the loss for Clinton striking out eight and walking one.

Clinton had four hits and one error while Onsted had three hits and no errors.

The Redskins now post a 0-2 record in the league.

Clinton's newly founded JV baseball squad lost a tough extra-inning battle with Grass Lake last Thursday 6-5.

The Skins came back in the last regulation inning from a 4-1 deficit to take a 5-4 lead. But Grass Lake tied and then won the contest in the eighth inning.

Jim Wilson pitched the entire contest for Clinton striking out seven and giving up three hits.

First place Tecumseh winners in the Airport meet included: long jump - Sue Brown, 16'3"; high jump- Robin Isom, 4'4"; low hurdles - Carol Duhan, 16.4; one mile - Sue Gould, 6:24.7; 100 - Sue Brown, 11.8 seconds; 220 - Sue Brown - 27.8 seconds; 440 relay - Carol Duhan, Janice Stevens, Becky Stormes, Sue Brown, 55.5 seconds.

Second place winners were, Mary Dana in the low hurdles, Carol Duhan in the 100, Cindy Wright in the 440 and Janice Stevens in the 220.

Patty Brosamer was third in the 100.

In the New Boston Huron meet, Tecumseh was clearly superior. They took first place victories in the following events: shot put - Janet Webb, 29'7½"; long jump - Sue Brown, 16'3½"; 110 hurdles, Carol Duhan, 17.3; mile run, Sue Gould, 6:22.7; 100 - Sue Brown, 12.5; 220 - Sue Brown, 28.0; two-mile - Jeannell Mumme, 14:27.1 plus all three relay races.

Second place Tecumseh winners included Janice Stevens in the long jump and 220 dash, Melinda Ternak in the shot put and 880 Run, Cindy Wright in the high jump and 440, Mary Dana in the 110 hurdles, Julie Murphy in the mile run and Carol Duhan in the 100.

Tecumseh's season record stands at 2-1.

Places in State Finals

Tecumseh wrestler Dan Yoder placed third in the state in the 13-14 year old, 135 pound weight class at the Michigan Kids State Wrestling Championships held at Grand Valley State College last Friday and Saturday.

Two other Tecumseh boys along with Yoder had qualified for the finals after a regional meet held at Holt, Michigan two weeks ago. Those two were Bob Bagby, eight and under age group, 70 pounds, and Tim Connors, 9-10 age group, 100 pounds. Although they both wrestled well, Yoder was the only one to place in the finals.

Nearly 500 wrestlers took part in the two day tourney.

According to Coach Pat Connors, Dan just missed a second place medal. He tied the match 2-2 but lost the final decision because his opponent scored first.

Connors added, "We are very proud of these boys and all the others who wrestled in the districts and regionals."

Respective scores were 80-43 in the Morenci contest and 92-31 against Addison.

Two days later, the squad participated in the Springport Invitational finishing sixth out of 13 teams.

Clinton star performer in the Morenci meet was Al Hively who took a first place in three events including the pole vault, 100 and low hurdles. In addition, he was a member of the first place 440 relay team.

Things went the other way on Thursday as Clinton bowed to Addison. Redskin Dan Bristle captured the only first place victories for Clinton in the 100 and 220 dashes with respective times of 10.6 and 23.9. Both are his best of the season.

Dan Schindler broke his own Clinton school record in the two mile with a time of 10:42.7 but finished second.

Al Hively picked up a fifth place in the pole vault at 10'6".

Tecumseh had three hits and made a few mistakes in the field.

But after a rain-out on Wednesday the team bounced back and had 11 hits in the process of defeating Grosse Ile 7-1.

Tim Mayers led the attack with three hits, a single, double, and triple. Mark Hunter added three singles, while Dave Bohannon pitched a strong game striking out 12 and added two hits as well.

On Friday the JV's defeated New Boston Huron 9-2. After just 2 innings it was 9-0 and Jeff Ives pitched five innings with no hits for Huron.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

by Marda Gene Duncan

A WINDY DAY!

Weather-wise it was a wild morning. I finally 'came to' enough to realize that if the roll-out windows near the head of my bed were cranked shut perhaps the roaring and screaming Michigan blizzard would quit. It did. Once on the porch I had a truly good look at the weather and decided that the weather-man had been over-cautious with his 'slight chance of scattered showers!

The sky was black on gray. Low hanging clouds were practically falling over themselves. The wind lashed the palm trees. It was an exciting morning — the kind of a morning I knew anything could happen.

I knew it could happen because it already had. It has become Mom's custom to check the lake the first thing every morning. This day, she had barely opened the glass-door when she dashed back into my room, grabbed the binoculars and exclaimed, "He's there!" On her way through the living room she called for Dad to come. The alligator was back!

Mom and Dad both had good looks. He did not stay in sight long but they saw more of him than ever before. And what they saw made them revise upward their estimates of his size. So much of his dark brownish-gray, rough skin back was out of the water that instead of seven or eight feet, they now say he must be 12 to 14 feet long.

I spent the morning watching birds who were obviously enjoying the wind. Neither it nor the madly racing clouds were a bit ominous; in fact, just the opposite was true, there was a super-charge of exhilaration and excitement in it and them.

Handsome Papa Cardinal did not seem to mind that he had to have an extra tight foothold on the birdfeeder's perch. Mourning doves took off like rockets and when an unbelievably red-shouldered blackbird tried to land on the roof of the feeder but had a gust of wind hold him about 10 inches away, well, he didn't even squak. Even the fancy flying mocking bird was 'tail-ended' off Bill and Joan's roof when he tried to land.

But there were great and exciting things happening high in the sky too. Weather front was blowing through very fast and the skies were opening. It was still gray and there were several more showers yet to dump themselves on us but there were some signs of clearing.

Many of the birds we have come to know down here — gulls, herons, egrets, anhingas, cormorants and yes, even the vultures — are superb users of the air. They ride and soar. This day the winds must have been going every which way because the birds certainly were. Vultures and anhingas circled higher and higher until they were out of sight. Other birds, often just far enough away to be unrecognizable, rode the winds up and down. Everyone was having fun!

Just above the lake, the black-headed laughing gulls were wheeling and slipping. Sometimes they headed into the wind and almost stalled out. They were so busy experimenting with first one flying technique and then another that they hardly had time for laughing.

Both the black-throated male anhinga and his buff-throated mate repeatedly showed me absolutely perfect three-point landings. Flying into the wind they set their wings in an outstretched position and then very gracefully glided down to hit the surface.

First the underside of that broad fanned tail hit and then their two feet. Of course, the dignity of the picture-landing was lost in the next instant when their body splashed down and immediately sank with only the long skinny neck and pointed bill left showing — they were snake-birds again.

Best was saved until the last. Late in the afternoon most of the sky cleared and the sun shone brilliantly. There were still some black clouds to the north and east and the wind, although strong, was nothing like it had been earlier.

Suddenly against the background of the gray clouds flew our two egrets. As they gathered themselves for landing, their huge white wings were held out straight and ever so gently did they let the wind lower them to the ground. Actually, one lit on the ground and the other settled on top of a coach. It was such a soft landing though that I'll bet the people never knew they had company.

So it is that the whole day was exciting, but it will be a long time before we forget the thrill of those two white birds with the sunshine illuminating them against the black background — a perfect ending for a windy day!

To the Editor:

As the 200th anniversary of the founding of this republic approaches, it is appropriate, indeed it is imperative, that the American people give heightened attention to the preservation of the towns and villages, the buildings and places across the land that have shaped our lives and are the tangible evidences of our past.

The houses where we have lived, the buildings where we have worked, the streets which we have walked for more than 300 years are as much a part of our heritage as the wisdom of the Founding Fathers and the works of art which succeeding generations of Americans have bequeathed us.

These buildings and places, great and humble, not only are our roots, they are sources of pride in our past achievements and they enrich our lives today.

We must think of them and treat them as living parts of our environment. They served a useful function in their time. Preserved, they can continue to do so.

Historic preservation today involves much more than period rooms in house museums. It means that old homes, public buildings, hotels, taverns, theaters, industrial buildings, churches and commercial structures can be saved and put to contemporary use.

Our landmarks are living history. If we treat them with respect, include them in our planning as our towns and cities grow, they will give us an environment of quality and enduring interest.

We must save our historic places and make them accessible—places in which to walk, to work, to teach, to live—to be enjoyed. They are every where; they are for everybody; they are what the United States has been since the beginning.

We need them to know who we are, where we are and how we got there. For as a great American poet has written: "If America forgets where she came from, if the people lose sight of what brought them along, if she listens to the deniers and mockers, she will begin the rot and dissolution."

In acknowledgement of the significance of historic preservation of our country today and in the Bicentennial era immediately before us, I consider it an obligation and a privilege to honor the millions of Americans who are working, most of them as volunteers, to save our heritage of historic landmarks and to urge many more of our countrymen to join their ranks.

NOW, THEREFORE, I Harold Easton, Mayor do hereby proclaim the week beginning May 12, 1975, and ending May 18, 1975, as National Historic Preservation Week in Tecumseh. I call upon all the people of Tecumseh, and especially the preservation organizations, historical societies, and other civic groups, to observe that week with activities and ceremonies designed to call public attention to the urgent need to save our historic landmarks for the enjoyment and edification of our people present and future and to demonstrate our lasting respect for this unique heritage.

Garbage disposals are a handy item in the kitchen as you can get rid of your peelings as they accumulate and not let them wait for someone to take them outdoors to the garbage can. Did you know that it is mandatory to install one if you are building a new house in the city of Tecumseh? Disposals come in various models and prices, depending on design, size and horsepower. A good one has the reversing action each time it is started (less apt to jam), has a ½ h.p. motor and is constructed of stainless steel. Some have a locking cover so that children (and parents) can't drop a foreign object in it while it is running, and it won't run until the cover is in place and turned to "On" position. Some of the less expensive models are made out of white metal and the detergents do tend to eat the metal away at the drain outlet.

CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121 handles most of the essential materials you need for plumbing installations. We invite do-it-yourselfers to come in for advice on how to handle a project and help in selecting the proper materials. Hours: Daily 8 a.m. - 5:30 p.m., Friday until 9 p.m., Saturday until 5 p.m.

Handy Hint: Install a flow switch in the cold water line so that the water will have to run before the disposal will start.

Jan Ocamb Is Out And Well

Jan Ocamb is well out of the hospital, and already planning her next onslaught on the enemies of fruit and evergreen trees.

She was overcome last Wednesday by hydrogen sulphide in a spray she was using on the trees, which included a 20-foot Norway spruce.

Completely recovered, Mrs. Ocamb was pleased there was no breeze that day to blow the spray away, but it proved her undoing since her upturned nose inhaled too much of it.

She plans to use a painter's mask and stay up wind of the spray next time.

Bi-centennial Journey

Restless Americans
By Thelma Younglove

Americans are and have always been a restless, dissatisfied group of people never content with what they have, but constantly striving to gain a better education, acquire more wealth, improve their living conditions, and seek new horizons.

Now that the 200th anniversary of our country approaches, renewed interest in the history of our land and its citizens is quite evident.

Many people are trying to trace the history of their background.

To achieve this goal they are studying old records. The family Bible is being consulted to find records of births, marriages, and deaths. Scrap books are read and re-read. Older relatives are being visited again and again. Trips are made to libraries, museums, cemeteries, and historical sites.

Old histories, census records, probate court records, and old atlases are being studied. Sometimes surprising bits of information are discovered.

It is to be hoped that the knowledge gained will be recorded and preserved so that this generation and future generations will have a valuable source of information.

History is made every day, but not all is recorded and is forgotten.

Those families who have never compiled a family history should work on it. To write a family history is time consuming, but if properly done, is rewarding and fascinating.

If your family doesn't have a written history, why not start it now?

Macon Dialog

It's back to the proverbial drawing board for Macon's zoning ordinance, which was defeated in last Thursday's referendum vote, 149 to 62.

A. Lincoln said, "You can fool some of the people some of the time, and all of the people some of the time; but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

Substitute the word satisfy for fool, and you'll get the picture.

Sign of the times. Macon United Methodist Church women report the most financially successful rummage sale ever.

The following news flash is being whispered, lest we anger the gods. The rose bush Lois Jordan ordered back in Feburary has arrived. So maybe it's fair to assume. . .

Speaking of roses, things are coming up just that for Judee Williamson. Judee, probably the Miniature Enthusiast organization's most enthusiastic, if not most talented, member — is now teaching.

Her five-week course on miniature making at the Bee's Hive in Birmingham is booked through September! Judee's one-woman show in Detroit's Fisher Building has been confirmed for Nov. 17-28.

She'll also display her work, a "Miniature Enthusiast" show on the preservation of old doll houses and at an M.E. national convention in Milwaukee.

Seems like the arrival of Lois and Paul Hover's grandson Christopher Sommerfield was just announced, and here he is a year old already! The Hovers traveled to Columbus last weekend to help celebrate. They stopped in Findlay to pick up great-grandma Helen and the birthday cake she'd decorated for Chris with a tiny wooden train.

Past presidents will be honored May 8, at Macon Woman's Club hostessed by Mrs. Paul Kollar.

Fine Arts Career Beckons Student

by Kathy Kulczyk

As a student of a fine arts degree program struggling for recognition in today's art world and an income in today's economy, one needs more than talent, one needs drive and courage.

Shirley Martin, Tecumseh student who graduates from Siena Heights this year, spoke about her ambitions and anxieties at a recent one woman show of her work at Studio Angelico on campus last week.

Shirley's show, "Catharis," means an emotional release through painting. She prefers to work in abstract "because I can better express myself than by painting a portrait . . . to convey my feelings to the viewer."

"I appreciate every art form, all are a part of me. I particularly studied Jackson Pollock, an American artist most active in the 1940's."

Even though the job market is tight all around, Shirley said that she does not want to "leap at any job. I want something that will suit my purposes to learn more about art."

She said "living in an artist community would offer a chance for growth," enabling her to exchange ideas with fellow artists.

Her works are done on huge five by four foot canvasses, some larger, with the common media of enamel and latex housepaints.

"They are spreadable and best interpret my ideas." She applies them by either pouring them, thus creating a large area of color on the canvas or with thin sticks, which creates a more restless, uninhibited effect.

Shirley contemplates what she paints. Instead her paintings are spontaneous, reflecting her moods and emotions. "I never title them right away. I have to live with it for a while and think about it."

Her feelings are revealed even as she recalls painting "As Far As the Flood Goes." The canvas, in orange, yellows, robin's egg blue and black evokes a mellow feeling in her now, as then. It is her second favorite.

Her favorite, "In Remembrance," is a selection from her more recent paintings, post a European tour which she said had a strong influence on her present works.

This latter painting was sold reasonably and although appears at first sight to be blues, whites and silver, is actually of various layers of white, which lend a very soft, reflective tone for most observers.

"My objective is to sell all my works so that I can start all over again."

Discussing most people's reaction to her abstract works she said, "Most people don't know what to say. They don't want to criticize me or hurt my feelings. I find the average person is not open-minded about abstract art. I don't really blame them. I just hope that they would be more open-minded."

Shirley, a Tecumseh High School graduate, said that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin, always encouraged her to pursue a college education. "I try to explain my art to my parents and they are coming around to understanding it," she became more animated.

Whatever the future holds for Shirley, she has the determination and the will to try and succeed.

SELF-EXPRESSION — Shirley Martin, bachelor of fine arts degree candidate at Siena Heights, enjoys all forms of art. Abstracts, however, best allow her to release her sensitivity on canvas. Many may claim a five year old can create an abstract, but it takes someone with a sense of design and color to create one that expresses emotional feeling. "In Remembrance," behind Shirley reveals the maturity of the artist. Painting will be hung May 4 at Meyers Airport in the dedication ceremony to commemorate the official change of name from Tecumseh Airport to Meyers Airport. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Enrolled in the Journalism II class at THS, both are Smoke Signals staffers.

Crystal won for continuing news coverage and Jeff for editorials.

"I COULDN'T BELIEVE IT" — Lillian Bilby couldn't believe what she was hearing when the lottery number was read over the radio and it matched one she had purchased at the local Kroger store. "I was talking to Flanders Music Co. and wrote them down, then I called them back to make sure," she said. Dow came into the picture Friday when he took his wife to the Lansing office to pick up the $2,000 check and two of the couple's daughters were waiting for them to go for dinner on Dad. The check was deposited in the bank for further consideration.

Michigan Week Shaping Up

CLINTON — Michigan Week plans in Clinton are shaping up well according to chairman, Charlie Peart.

Mayor exchange tours May 19 will be made by Clinton's Clayton Strolle and Manchester's David Little.

Mayor Little will be recieved in Clinton for an 8:30 a.m. breakfast at Clintonian Inn by the tour committee, Mr. Peart, Jane Hebert, Richard Peterson, Richard Sharpe and Jean Magee.

A tour of the community industries, businesses and schools will be made through the day.

A combined Manchester-Clinton Mayor Exchange Banquet will be May 19 at the K of C Hall, Manchester.

There will be a cocktail hour from 6 to 7 p.m. and dinner at 7. Tickets are available to the public of both communities from Charlie Peart, Jean Magee and Jean Hebert. The event is being co-sponsored by the Manchester and Clinton Chamber of Commerce.

A parade is planned for Tuesday May 20 at 2:30 p.m. Clinton High School band will play.

Six high school girls are to be named candidates from which a Michigan Week Queen will be chosen by the Chamber of Commerce Board. Queen and her court will ride in the parade.

Committee is seeking the oldest senior citizen in the community to honor during Michigan Week. Suggestions for this honor may be made to Jane Hebert or Charlie Peart.

Legal Status Is Sought for Library

CLINTON—Search for a lost document continues as legal status of Clinton Township Library came under further question at a public meeting, Monday night.

Informal meeting called by a local citizen, Edwin Piatt, was attended by more than 75 residents, and representatives of Clinton Township Board, Clinton Village Council, and Township Library Board.

Marlene Thayer, State Library Services Law Specialist for Michigan Department of Education explained that the state does not have any record of the local library establishing a legal library district.

Apparently assuming that such legal library district had been established some years ago, the Clinton Township Library has been operating with a six-member library board, elected to six-year terms, and one-mill tax has been levied on Clinton Township residents to cover the cost of operation.

However, no one has yet been able to find the necessary legal documents which should have been filed with the state.

Mrs. Thayer explained that the present library board only has authority over the building, utilities, insurance and other custodial matters.

Lenawee County Library apparently has the authority to hire and fire library personnel in Clinton, as the situation now stands.

Harry Comstock, Clinton Township supervisor, said he is still searching for supporting legal documents in the matter.

At the time of the change in the local library's status, source of financial support changed from penal fines and state aid to the one-mill tax levy.

Under the present situation, Clinton Township's fines and state aid, based on a per capita pro-rata system, has gone to the County Library Board and it, in turn, has supplied county library services as requested by Clinton's library. Amount concerned is over $2,000 this year.

If establishment of present library can not be legally determined, Mrs. Thayer described ways it can be done if local citizens wish.

Mrs. Thayer emphasized action must be initiated locally, and a library district may be formed by resolution of ONE or MORE municipalities such as townships, villages, school districts or others.

Such a district can be initiated by petition of 50 eligible voters. At least three-tenths mill must be levied for operation of a district library, apportioned any way the consenting municipalities to the district determine, upon the vote of residents involved.

Once legally established and documents are filed with the state, the new library district could qualify to receive penal fines and state aid for the library.

Then, if county library services are desired, they could be contracted at a cost to be determined.

Supervisor Comstock assured questioners that the present library board would not take further action concerning personnel changes until the matter is cleared up.

There the matter rests, while the search goes on.

Fall Festival Picks Up Steam

CLINTON — At a meeting of the Fall Festival committee plans were made to again sell tickets on a new automobile.

Winner will choose a Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth with a model to be announced later.

Proceeds of the car ticket sale will be divided between the four churches in the village of Clinton.

Fall Festival dates are Oct. 3,4, and 5 to coincide with Clinton High School homecoming festivities.

Besides the homecoming parade on Friday, a Sunday parade will also be scheduled.

Already scheduled features include barbecue luncheons at St. John's Episcopal Church on both Friday and Saturday; second annual fish fry supper at United Church of Christ on Oct. 3; outdoor roast by Clinton Area Jaycees on Saturday night; and a Rotary chicken barbecue on Sunday.

St. Dominic's Altar Society will have its apple treat booth and the United Church of Christ will again feature pretzels at their Calico Kitchen booth.

Mrs. Arthur Searle and Mrs. Nick Karapas were named to a committee to contact area merchants for sponsoring donations.

Charles Steffens was named to examine the possibility of arranging a dance for Oct. 4.

Booth registrations must be made by June 1 with Mrs. Gary Service.

By Dick Eggleston

The appearance of a gem as seen by reflected light is called luster. The luster of gems is an important index as to their value. Luster is also a way to discover and type gems before they are cut. As might be expected, there are several different types of luster. Metallic, as for gold, adamantine, like the luster of a diamond, vitreous (like the luster of glass), resinous, silky, pearly, dull. The type of luster a precious stone has, is especially important when craftsmen must decide on its setting.

We have expert craftsmen to handle new settings. If you would like your stones re-set — see us at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. This would be a nice time to convert into a new setting as a gift for Mother's Day. BankAmericard and Master Charges are honored.

GEM FACT: Be sure that your jewelry is itemized for your insurance policy.

PTO Nets Over $1,690

Tecumseh Acres Parent Teachers Organization (PTO) reported a net profit of $1,695 for Fun Day.

Prizes for the drawing were donated by local merchants. Anyone who has not picked up his prize, may do so by calling Mrs. Rutherford, 423-7951.

At the April meeting Mary Katharine Basterra's first grade room was for having the largest percentage of parents in attendance.

New officers to be installed in May are Polly Judd, president; Frances Robison, vice-president; Carol Rone, secretary; Joel Rutherford, treasurer; Marilyn Finnegan, teacher vice-president.

Debbie Rutherford will be room mother. Other chairmen are Carol Watson, kitchen; Carol Ahrens, hot dog; Claire and Dyke Helms, fun day; Ellen Marvin, hospitality; Joel Rutherford, Green Thumb Project; John Day, painting equipment project.

Positions still empty are program, pancake, and membership chairmen.

Anyone interested in these positions may contact Polly Judd, 423-2667. Room mothers are also needed.

The first grade entertained parents and grandparents with four square dances under the direction of Gerald Fox, physical education teacher.

Several fathers joined in the dancing with their daughters.

Final meeting for the school year will be announced via letters sent home with the children.

Church Board members are Harold Ashenfelter, Noble Poe and Lonnie Stalls.

Regular Sunday services are Sunday School at 9:45, Worship Services at 10:45 and 7 p.m.

Open Business

Venus House of Beauty, 115 S. Pearl St., owned and operated by husband and wife, Larry and Rushia Coscarelli, opened Tuesday.

The business offers a "unique one stop beauty center," explained Mrs. Coscarelli, combining an expanding line of beauty care from cosmetics to hair styling, fashions to beauty consultation.

Mrs. Coscarelli, a district manager for Beeline Fashions, directs more than 100 sales people from the new location.

Three experienced hair stylists, Jean Royer, Libby Rainey and Connie Maddux, combine to give hair care including precision cutting, air blowing, color specializing, and permanent styling.

The trio recently attended a Toledo seminar given by Paul Mitchell, one of the leading educators in hair styling.

The shop acquired its name from Rushia's own middle name, "Venus."

"My great grandmother, a full blooded Cherokee Indian, delivered me and according to family tradition, she always named the baby she delivered."

This is not the first business venture here for the couple. Mrs. Coscarelli is former owner of Rushia's Apparel.

Her husband, operating the Candy Kitchen, then opened Larry's Grill in the same location, now the Chilean House, owned by the Arana family.

When Mrs. Coscarelli's part-time involvement in fashion sales grew too large for her home she said, she "wanted to stay with fashion and couldn't think of a better way to combine fashion and hair styling than in one shop."

Now training and promoting in the fashion company, Mrs. Coscarelli won a trip to Chicago for two, for the fourth consecutive year.

Last year she also won the company's only trip to Hawaii for her and her husband.

This is her 14th year in the company.

Mr. Coscarelli continues to encourage and assist his wife with the new business operation. "Without him it wouldn't be," said Mrs. Coscarelli.

The Coscarelli's have five children, Linda, 22, Gina, 20, twins Steve and Mrs. Roger (Patti) Slick, 19, and Richard 10, and a grandson, Joshua, one.

11 Mill Budget Set for Approval

A special meeting of Council next Monday night will be to approve 1975-76 city budget which will call for the levying of 11 mills, a mill less than a year ago and the fourth consecutive year that officials have lowered millage here.

Cal Zorn, city manager, originally presented a budget in April that would have retained the millage at 12 mills. Councilmen over-rode his plans for some capital improvement projects, and requested a revised budget.

Monday evening officials informally accepted his revised budget that has an anticipated income for the next fiscal year of $1,493,668 and anticipated expenditures of $1,504,461.

When Zorn's April budget was presented, anticipated income at 12 mills was $1,525,730 and expenditures $1,536,523.

Major deletion from the April budget was an expansion at city hall.

THS Principal Poley Resigns

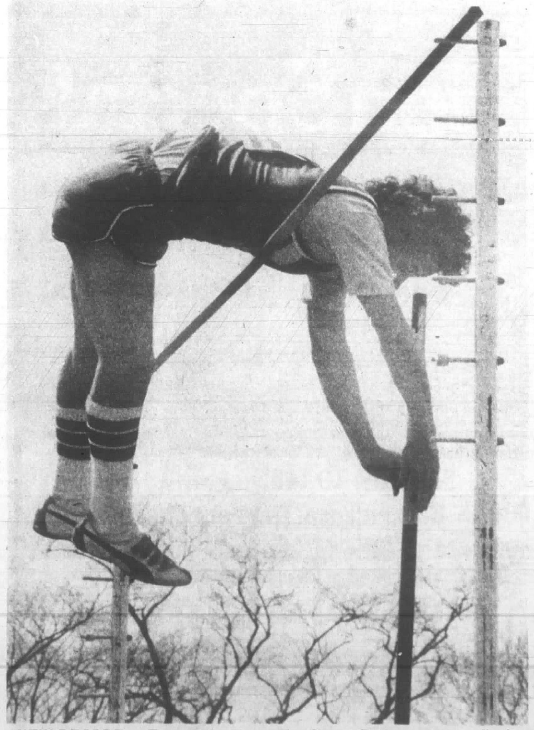
Dermont Poley, principal at Tecumseh High School for the past two years, resigned Monday night at a special School Board meeting.

In a letter to the Board, he cited personal reasons for quitting the position and asked to be returned to classroom teaching.

Poley, a veteran of the local system for 20 years, succeeded Neville Hart in 1973. He had been an assistant principal at THS for four years.

Prior to joining the administrative staff of the schools, he had taught science, mathematics and physical education.

Supt. Robert Duhan says applications are now being taken for a successor. The position also will be posted in the schools for currently employed, qualified personnel to apply.



NEW RECORD — Tecumseh pole vaulter Shawn Dalton goes over the bar set at 13'7" during action at the Tecumseh Relays last Saturday. Dalton's effort set a new meet and school record. Previous meet record of 13'3" was set by Craig Brown of Tecumseh in 1972. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Seek Increase at Landfill

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

In many world cultures today, senior citizens are treated with the utmost respect and reverence, their wisdom sought by the young people.

This is not always the case in American society. Retiring from life-long occupations, many oldsters retire also from life no longer feeling productive or useful.

The younger generation could benefit greatly from what senior citizens offer. The stories that one who has been around 80 years can tell! The advice a 65-year-old can lend! The patience only someone 70 has!

Macon United Methodist Church took a step in the right direction and honored its septuagenarians (people over 70) last Sunday. Let's all try, on a one-to-one basis, to communicate a "thank you" to the senior citizens we meet each day.

Many students will soon seek summer employment, but John Hewlett, son of Marilyn and John Hewlett, has his job all lined up. John, who has just completed his sophomore year at Western Michigan University, has been hired by Cedar Point as fireman on the amusement park's steam engine train.

Second in command to the engineer, John's duties will include stoking the train's fires. Marilyn says John is delighted with the position since he has been "crazy about trains" all his life and vows that the "steam engine will make a comeback!"

Roger and Nancy Ross have a new son, Karl Ross has a new brother, and patrons of the Macon Grocery will now have two little heads to pat. Born May 2, Bruce Edward Ross tipped Ypsilanti's Beyer Memorial Hospital scales at 9 lbs. 1 oz. and stretched out to 21½ inches long. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Al Ludwig of Livonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ross of Macon.

SENIOR CITIZENS

You will do well to listen folks,
To Mrs. Rentschler, (Ruth);
Because she never says a word
Except it is gospel truth!
There is a need for older folks,
This cannot be denied;
I am getting along that way myself,
And I am on her side!

I would like to see some action,
And not in 20 years;
I see and feel it more each day,
As my retirement nears.
We cannot measure kindness
By the things that folks might do;
So lets get on the wagon,
And see this project through!
There have to be some people
Who will lend a helping hand;
And not hold out for money
For a tiny bit of land.
You cannot take it with you,
And God will give you praise,
If you really try to help someone
To see some better days!

They look alike.
And for the most part, they work alike. Both are hooked up to your own telephone line. Both can keep you in touch with more than 100 million other phones in the U.S. And, another 100 million around the world.
And, both give you unlimited local service.

However, there is a difference.
The phone on the right is an extension. It saves steps around the house. It gives added security, especially at night, when you've had it installed in your bedroom. And it also provides extra privacy.

So the extension gives you more.
Twice the convenience.
Nevertheless, it costs much less because we only have to connect it to your first phone.

Isn't it nice to know that you can have something that gives you more, yet costs you less.

Bi-centennial Journey

By Thelma Younglove
Member of Bicentennial Committee

Members of the Bicentennial Committee are frequently asked how they became members of the committee.

Most of the members were asked by their County Commissioner to serve on the committee. Other members represent various clubs and organizations.

The Bicentennial Committee has been meeting monthly at the Lenawee Historical Museum since Jan. 1974. Members of the local Bicentennial Committee are not paid.

In the nation there are numerous Bicentennial Committees on various levels. Some villages and towns have Bicentennial Committees.

Then there are committees on state levels, regional levels, and finally the National Administration. The National Administration is composed of 11 members. Some of the members are historians, businessmen or congressmen.

The Bicentennial will be observed in many ways throughout the nation. Celebrations will vary from state to state.

What might be appropriate for one locality might not be for another. No two places are alike.

In planning celebrations, people should not make preparations for just festive occasions but keep in mind the three themes, Heritage, Festival and Horizon.

They should aim to preserve historical sites and noteworthy landmarks. Many need to be marked. Some old houses and public buildings should be restored and preserved.

Some fun activities should be included in the Bicentennial celebrations. Programs and social functions could renew interest in the history of our country.

Various forms of entertainment, once popular - (box socials, quilting bees, and spelling bees) are seldom held. An old-fashioned picnic could be fun and result in a closer community.

Individuals and organizations must look to the future and try to improve our life. Much can be done. It takes thought, careful planning, a will to work, determination and cooperation. We must work together. United we stand, but divided we fall.

MONTGOMERY AND OTHERS

A woman, who lives down the lake a few coaches, has a bird book which calls him a Ward's heron. He soon acquired the nickname of Montgomery. However, since we have never known the bird as a Ward's heron and none of our books list him as such, I believe I will stick to the old and familiar great blue heron. Oh, of course, I will use Montgomery once in a while — that is too good to forget.

Actually these largest of all the herons have a couple of other names according to our old faithful Birds of America. A red-shouldered heron is understandable because there is quite a patch of dull red at the top of each shoulder or wing.

Blue crane is totally in error because, although the birds are blue, a crane is a different bird completely from a heron. But I have gone into that difference before.

Montgomery is giving George, the big egret, competition lately. Stiff competition too. It all started when the great blue — well, I of course do not know his motives but perhaps it was curiosity about what was going on that prompted him to go close to Oscar one day when he was fishing for George.

Fortunately Oscar had an extra fish or two in his pail and, when he saw the heron, tossed him one. That did it. Montgomery is now almost as good a beggar as is the egret.

It is quite a sight to see Oscar sitting on the bank with a bird on each side. For a while there were no problems. The heron was shy and kept his distance whereas George would practically help himself. But Oscar's patience has overcome part of the shyness and, if fishing is poor or if the birds are so put upon that they have to fend for themselves, Montgomery is not above inviting George to leave.

With a height of almost 50 inches and a wing-spread of at least 70 inches the great blue heron has little back-talk from George. The egret is a good-size bird in his own right, 32 inches tall and wing spreading 55 inches, but in comparison he is at a disadvantage.

Eating techniques are quite similar. Both birds swallow fish head first and always go to the water for a drink after each 'course.' Oscar claims that George spends little time trying to swallow a fish too large for his skinny neck. He simply takes it down to the lake and 'tosses it back'. This we cannot see from our porch Montgomery is apt to take his fish across the lake and stand on the point to eat and drink.

Mother Nature has done a superb job with the protective coloration she gave these great blue herons. Most of the color plates in our bird-books are extremely accurate and to look at the pictures one would think the birds quite colorful.

They are too but it is absolutely surprising how well their light under-parts and darker backs can melt right into the background of the lakeshore. Even their huge size and the stark white head areas blend in.

Although great blue is becoming a little less wary all of the time he has still not quite equaled the egret in one respect. George has four or five favorite coaches around the lake and, if no one is out fishing, he goes close to a porch and stares straight in — it is very effective and I can see why.

How could anyone enjoy a hearty meal or a comfortable chair with that poor bird looking so woe-begone and hungry. At both Oscar's and our neighbor Bill's he knows their resistance is low.

Our little stretch of Florida has not had much rain lately and the lake level shows it. It is very low. This has apparently affected the fishing and it becomes increasingly difficult for the fellows to keep the free-loaders well fed with what they can catch on hook and line.

There are plenty of fish though and they are hungry. More and more both Montgomery and George are required to exert themselves a little. Bread tossed close to the shore soon attracts a host of fish and the birds catch what the men can't.

We see herons every day but to none of us do they ever cease to be a thrill. Great blue either coming in or taking off is unforgetable. About two wing-beats into the air he seems to pull himself together, his legs extend in back and he pulls his long neck in and rests his pig-tailed head on his shoulders.

When landing, his big wings act as brakes, his neck unwinds and his 'landing gear' is put down. If landing on the island he is apt to drag his toes on the water.

So it is that Montgomery has taken most of this article — I will get to the other herons next week.

Interest in American history and life is growing as the Bicentennial approaches. Here are some new books at Tecumseh Public Library which will help readers discover America's past.

REFLECTIONS OF 1776: THE COLONIES REVISITED by Nancy Sirkis, is a large-format book of photographs with accompanying text by Ellwood Parry.

[illegible]'s aim is to show [illegible]can homes and implements as they would have looked in 1776. To do this, she chose subjects in which 20th century buildings and innovations encroach as little as possible. The photographs convey the spirit of the times.

THE SHAPING OF BLACK AMERICA by Lerone Bennett. This is an introduction to the history of black people in America from the first landing of 20 blacks at Jamestown in 1619 to the present.

THE MIGHTY LAND, by Cliff Farrell, is just the book for people who enjoy reading about the wild West as it was settled in the 19th century. It is packed with the true stories of people like George Custer, Buffalo Bill, Sitting Bull, and Annie Oakley.

THE HAND OF MAN ON AMERICA, by David Plowden, is another book of photographs. It shows contemporary American scenes: small towns, highways, cities and streets as they appear today. The emphasis is on how human alteration of the landscape has left a record, sometimes beautiful, sometimes ugly, of American cultural values through the years. The author raises questions about how we can preserve the best of both our natural and manmade environment.

THE THRESHER DISASTER, by John Bentley, tells the story of the submarine Thresher, which imploded thousands of feet below the surface in April, 1963. The entire crew of 129 men was lost. The description of the fatal voyage and of the task group assigned to learn what went wrong makes absorbing reading.

ADULT-FICTION

THE PROPERTY OF A GENTLEMAN: Gaskin fans, rejoice! Here's a trip to the lake country, served up with romance, mystery, a dash of history. The resulting is a satisfying yarn that could go on forever if Catherine Gaskin only chose to do so.

THE RHINEMANN EXCHANGE: The plot of this novel by Robert Ludlum is arresting: it concerns nothing less than the collaboration of Nazi officials and U.S. Intelligence agents, each working against their own governments, during World War II.

ADULT-NON-FICTION

MAKING BABIES: This unique presentation of the miraculous story of birth creates a shared experience for adult and child. Developed in cooperation with the Center for Preventive Psychiatry, the book is designed with separate texts for the adult and child. Photographs and a simple, honest text unfold the study for the child. Parents and teachers can follow an accompanying text that provides more specific detail. The adult text serves as a resource for handling the questions and discussion arising from the child's curiosity. This novel approach by Sara Bonnett Stein makes the book a rare and "open" experience for all ages.

POTPOURRI. Here are more new books from Tecumseh Public Library.

BITCHES AND SAD LADIES, edited by Pat Rotter. Short stories about women and their attempts to deal with the dilemma of identity. The editor defines a bitch as a woman who puts her own needs first and whose sense of worth comes from within. A sad lady is defined as a woman who derives her sense of worth only from others and who is thus easily and often hurt. Both types are treated here with compassion and honesty.

EMERGENCY ROOM by James Kerr. A competent intern is accused of murder after the autopsy of a man he has treated reveals his life could have been saved.

LET'S TALK ABOUT ADOPTION, by Susan and Elton Klibanoff. A good introduction to the ways in which a family can adopt.

EMERALD CANYON by Jeff Clinton. The community of farmers around Emerald Canyon, Ariz. are beset by drought and an unscrupulous land swindlers, John McCollum is one man determined to help the farmers fight for their rights.

Love and Security

You don't need to know much about polar bears to get the message here. This cub hasn't a worry in the world. But one day he'll grow up to know all the frustrations of life in captivity.

Motherhood is security . . . but only for awhile. And the human mother is no more able to perpetuate the bond of total protection than is her wild counterpart.

Some parents today have abdicated their responsibility to guide their children. They have broken the family bonds too soon. Their children pay for this negligence: They age—but they don't mature.

Whims are fickle . . . and momentary. The Church strives to replace such elusive goals with something more substantial, something more stable. The inner values of character and faith remain as vital today as ever.

In our turbulent society, tranquility can only be found inside a person. Such stability and serenity could be your greatest gift to your child.

Auxiliary Welcomes Visitors

By Sue Grass

The week of May 11-17 this year has been designated as National Hospital Week. Special weeks are set aside for groups and hospitals are no exception.

When one thinks of hospitals and caring for people of course one thinks of a nurse. Hospital week was founded in memory of one nurse in particular: Florence Nightingale, born May 12, 1820.

The Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary welcomes all visitors to the hospital that week to share coffee and cookies to be served in both the front lobby and out-patient area.

Mary Egbert and Arlene Thoss, co-chairmen of Hospital Week, are anxious to sign up some new enthusiastic volunteers for the auxiliary.

More volunteer workers are needed to help when the "New Hospital" opens. Membership forms and information concerning the activities of a volunteer will be available near the hospitality tables. Joyce Butters membership chairman, also will answer questions, at 423-8178.

With the memory of Florence Nightingale in mind visitors will be more than welcome in the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Observe Law Day

Law Day was observed by all Lenawee County School students in District Court May 1.

Two representatives from each school participated in a re-enactment of an actual Kentucky case in Judge Yale Kerby's courtroom.

James Manley, Tecumseh High, Earl Roggeman, Britton High and Jennifer Carlton, Clinton High were among the jurors.

Jeff Gibson, Clinton High, was a court officer. James VanValkenburg of Tecumseh High lead the pledge of allegiance.

The entire trial and remarks after were video taped for future use by Lenawee County Schools.

Indians Win Relays

By FRANK WEIR

It was a hectic week for Tecumseh's varsity track squad. The team defeated Flat Rock 79-44 last Thursday, and went on to place first out of 12 Class B teams with 45 points in the Tecumseh Relays on Saturday.

The Indians still had enough strength left to defeat Monroe Jefferson 77-46 on Tuesday of this week.

The Indians are now tied with Airport for a first place in the Huron League with a 6-1 [illegible] record and a 3-0 league record.

One of the highlights of the Tecumseh Relays was the performance of Shawn Dalton in the pole vault. Shawn set a new meet and school record with a vault of 13'7".

Other first place winners at the relays for the Indians included, Mike Duhan in the 120 high hurdles, Jim Karle in the shot put, the Indian distance medley team of Cantrell, Dave Bilkie, Tim Scheff and Linvel Lisenbee, and the shuttle hurdle relay team consisting of Kent Jacoby, Scott Church, Mike Eaton, and Mike Duhan.

Clinton Track

In Redskin track action recently, Clinton overpowered Onsted 73-50, lost to Grass Lake 89-34, and placed sixth out of 11 Class C teams at the Tecumseh relays.

Girls Track Correction

In last week's paper, we incorrectly stated that Julie Murphy placed second in the mile run during a meet between Tecumseh's girl track squad and New Boston Huron.

In fact, ninth grader Nena Murphy was the second place winner.

We apologize for our mistake.

JV'S Undefeated

Tecumseh's JV baseball squad remains undefeated in the Huron League after beating Flat Rock and Carlson last week 7-4 and 5-4 respectively.

Their record stands at 4-0 in the league and 5-2 overall.

Tories Beat St. Thomas, Take Tri-County Lead

After being rained out of their contest with Deerfield last Wednesday, the Britton-Macon Tories went on to triumph easily over Tri-County League rival Ann Arbor St. Thomas 8-4 on Thursday.

The win put Britton into undisputed first place in the league with an 8-2 overall record and a 4-0 league record.

In addition, the Tories had little problem dispatching Whitmore Lake on Monday of this week winning the contest 4-2.

On Tuesday Britton defeated Maumee Valley 4-3 in nine innings.

It was all smooth water and easy sailing for the Tories in the St. Thomas game. Coach Jim Sweigart confides that he and his charges expected a more demanding contest. The two teams were tied for a top berth in the league before the game.

With the help of a bases loaded grand slam home run by Tory Alan Reau in the first inning, Britton scored all their eight runs in the first three innings.

In addition to the home run, Reau also hit a single. Dan Exelby, Paul Wielfaert and Dave Wielfaert each had a single. Mike Saxton, Mike Servoss and Jim Craddit, each had a double.

Saxton went the distance on the mound striking out 11, walking three and giving up five hits.

In the Whitmore Lake game, the Tories scored six hits off the bats of Mike Saxton, a double and home run, Craig Wagenschutz, and Paul Wielfaert each with a single, and Jim Craddit with two doubles.

Randy Smith registered the win on the mound striking out eight, walking four, hitting two batters and giving up three hits.

Against Maumee Valley, seven Tories got Britton's 11 hits including: Exelby, Smith and Don Gorton, all with one single each, Saxton and Reau each with two singles, Servoss with one double and two singles and Jim Craddit with one double.

Craig Wagenschutz pitched five innings, Jeff Brown came in for part of the sixth until Mike Saxton came in to finish the game.

Saxton was credited for the win. The Tory pitchers got a total of 12 strike outs, three walks and two hit batters.

Indians Lose 2 Contests

Tecumseh's baseball squad dropped two contests last week, one to Flat Rock 3-0, on Wednesday and another to Carlson on Friday 14-9.

The Indians were able to get in only five innings in the Flat Rock game before rain put an end to Tecumseh's hopes to catch up.

Three players each had one single in the contest including Doug Bunch, Darrell Bozeman and Richard Yerebeck.

Ken Biscupski registered the loss with seven strike outs and no walks.

The Indians hosted Gibralter Carlson on Friday with 10 players scoring 11 hits. Bill Smith garnered two hits and the following got a single each: Dave Spillman, Mike Corley, Bill Warner, Doug Bunch, Rich Yerebeck, Ken Davis, John Getz, Brad Sisson and Darrell Bozeman.

Ken Davis took the loss on the mound striking out eight and walking six.

Coach Bob Ondrovick commented, "We gave up some early runs on mental and physical errors. But we dug in and kept playing baseball. We didn't fold our tent and go home."

The Indians' record now stands at 2-2 in the league and 5-3 overall. The team travels to Catholic Central this Friday.

First Win for Skins

Clinton baseball squad picked up its first win of the season with a victory over Manchester last Friday 7-3.

The Skins dropped an earlier contest to Grass Lake 2-0 on Wednesday of last week.

In addition, Clinton lost to Hudson 2-1 on Monday of this week.

In the Manchester game, Clinton scored six hits off the bats of Ken Roberts, Warren Corwin, Darrell King, and Tom Richter all with a single each.

Roberts and Corwin also had a home run each in the second inning.

Richter was on the mound for five innings and Corwin the other two.

Only 12 Register

With the second annual Tecumseh canoe race less than two weeks away, it would appear that less than 20 canoes will be in the race.

Ward Eardley, city recreation director, reported Tuesday that only 12 registrations have been received for the race, which attracted a sizeable number of on-lookers last year and a big crowd at the Community Center, where the race ends.

The canoe race is open to amateurs and the entry fee is only $5. Trophys will be presented to the winners, and those in the first two canoes will receive free chicken dinners - along with the one who finishes last.

The race starts at 1 p.m. on Memorial Day from the River Raisin bridge on Staib Rd., and finishes at the Community Center, where the American Legion will have a cookout, beginning at 12 noon.

Registrations will be taken at the Center for the race from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays, and this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Amateurs must be 16 or older.

Further information may be obtained from Mr. Eardley at the Community Center.

Sunday Tours

Kennedy House will be open Sunday, May 18 from 1 to 3 p.m. for people interested in a walk through tour of the home, located at 123 N. Ottawa, one block north from Chicago Blvd.

The tour is offered on Heritage Sunday of Michigan Week to acquaint Tecumsehites with the home.

Lynn Cook, Vera Driscoll, Gina Bauman and Pat Eby will host the tour.

Station Wagon Crashes Gate, Plunges into River at Dam

A spectacular accident occurred shortly afternoon last Wednesday when a station wagon coasted down the drive to Standish Pond dam and then plunged through the gate at the bridge and into the water, about 20 feet below the bridge.

Fortunately, three men jumped from the vehicle before it reached the gate. The driver, Glen D. Rodgers Jr., 18, of 14229 Tipton Hwy., stayed with the station wagon which landed on its top in the water.

Rodgers crawled out through an open window and then swam to shore. The wagon landed upside down on some rocks, just a few feet below the surface. When a wrecker pulled the vehicle out, it slid off the rocks and completely vanished below the surface.

Police say water depth there is over 15 feet, and it's doubtful that Rodgers would have survived if the wagon had plunged all the way to the bottom.

Several fishermen on the bridge also scrambled to safety and were barely missed when the vehicle broke through the gate.

Rodgers and his three companions were driving to the area, just off Burt St., for some fishing. His passengers included his father, Glen Sr., 46 of 4568 Deleon Dr.; Roy Rodgers, 17, of 5308 Holloway Rd., and Eddie Williams, 29, Clinton.

The driver was cited for driving a vehicle with defective equipment. He suffered minor bumps and bruised but refused medical treatment.

7 in Race for Board

A total of seven petitions have been filed for the two vacant school board seats.

Petitions filed include: William K. Brown, 7674 Hendershot; Hugh Des Ermia, 100 Maple; Maynard H. Harris, Adrian; Mrs. Betty Kline, Britton; Louis Tepfenhart, Tipton; Mrs. Helen Patricia Tressler, 311 W. Chicago; Stephen D. Walsh, 6988 Green Hwy.

Petition taken out by Mrs. Louis Tepfenhart for an unidentified candidate was returned unsigned.

Loss Tops $1,600

Tecumseh High School, a frequent popular site for vandalism and breaking and enterings, was the target again last Wednesday with a loss topping $1,600.

According to the police report, the B&E was gained through the east door of the cafeteria. Then the door to the music storage room was pried open.

Items stolen included two speakers, $447; tape player, $699; and an amplifier and turn table, $260. Gene Cooley, school business manager, says all items were covered by insurance. Damages were approximately $200 to doors and locks.

Police theorize that a van or pickup was used to move the items, especially the large speakers which weigh 60 pounds each.

Theft probably occurred sometime between 3:30 a.m. and 6 a.m. when Edward Menominee, employee, discovered the cafeteria door pried open. Another employee had worked in the cafeteria area until about 3 a.m. before working in another part of the building.

Goodwill Box Set on Fire

Goodwill box and contents at the Kroger lot burned early Wednesday in a fire believed to have been started by an arson.

Police discovered the blaze at 12:23 while on patrol and about five minutes after officers had previously passed through the area.

Accident Victim Is Critical

Kirk L. Crutchfield, 26, 304 Miami Ct., remains in critical condition in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, from injuries received in an automobile accident at 12:35 a.m., Saturday. Extent of injuries were still unknown by the family Tuesday.

Clinton State Police are still investigating the head-on collision which occurred on US-12 several miles east of Clinton.

An eastbound car driven by Larry Hierholzer, 27, of Clinton, was struck head-on by the westbound car driven by Paul Peterson, 19, of Brooklyn.

Crutchfield, an employe at Ford Motor Co., Saline had been driving east when his automobile ran out of gas. He had just accepted a ride with Hierholzer when the accident took place.

Peterson was admitted to Saline Hospital, and his two passengers, Daniel and Kevin Shanks, of Brooklyn, were treated for minor injuries. Hierholzer received cuts on the hand.

Witnesses told officers that the westbound Peterson vehicle was passing a van, and apparently could not get back in line in time to avoid striking the oncoming Hierholzer car.

Planners Elect New Officers

Lynn Cook was elected chairwoman of Tecumseh Planning Commission Tuesday night after the position was offered to and declined by other senior commissioners. She is chairwoman for the next year.

Other officers elected were vice-chairman, Harrison Gonser and secretary, Tim Tietsema.

Commissions thought Larry Bauman, former vice-chairman, to be a natural choice for chairman, a position which necessitates informal meetings with the city manager and other city officials beyond regular commission meetings.

Bauman a professional planner, declined and said the chairman should work in the city.

Harry Stanifer and Bill Holmes also declined.

Mrs. Cook hesitated to take the position explaining her husband, Dr. Carlton Cook, is a member of Council. Other commissioners reassured her that had no bearing on the nomination or work.

Mrs. Cook has served about four years on the commission and is active in other civic organizations, including the Historical Society, Youth for Understanding program, and is chairwoman of the Historic District Study Committee.

Long Rejects Appointment

John Long has declined an appointment from Council to the Planning Commission. Vacancy created by the expired term of Merlyn Downing still exists.

Eight other commissioners are, Lynn Cook, Tim Tietsema, Harrison Gonser, Harry Stanifer, Paul Roekle, Larry Bauman, Janice Baker and Bill Holmes.

Open New Restaurant

Monday will mark the opening of Harvey's Restaurant, Tecumseh's newest dining spot and one of the loveliest in this area.

Patrons of the old Harvey's Grill will find no resemblance in what Harvey and Doris Carpenter have accomplished in the past six months. The new restaurant certainly complements their motel and Mai Kai lounge.

Now, patrons will enter via a canopy walkway to a center door. Steps of oak beams will take them to the main dining room, one completely carpeted in green. Cedar in the ceiling beams and posts dominate the dining room which includes all new fixtures and velour-type covered booths topped by local, scenic pictures.

Booths and counter stools will seat approximately 76 diners. Both counter and booth tops are of butcher-block wood.

Practically all equipment is new, some specially designed for the restaurant. A bar is partially hidden from view but conveniently located for serving beverages.

Steps from the foyer lead to new restrooms in the basement.

Construction on the new restaurant, started last November. Workers jacked up the old grill, installed new footers and walls and then extended the building to the east and towards W. Chicago Blvd.

This work actually provided a large basement room which could easily be remodeled in the future for a banquet or meeting room.

Benedict & Cheever was the general contractor; Ralph Sager, electrician; Clauda Plumbing and Heating, and Bob Eaton of Chicago was the architect. Eaton also designed the Mai Kai lounge.

In the past 20 years since the Carpenters first took over the grill, they have built a motel, expanded it twice to its present 41 units, and in 1972 added the Hawaiian accented Mai Kai lounge.

ESTIMATE $21,000 LOSS — Firemen estimate last Wednesday's fire loss at Watson Bros. roofing building on S. Occidental Rd. at $6,000 for the dwelling and $15,000 for contents. Fire from a waste paper basket apparently started the blaze that practically gutted the building, destroying contents which included a car. (Photo by Mike Sunerland)

Michigan ranks among the country's top four states for its number of officially designated bicentennial communities. To receive designation, a community must 1) organize a planning committee; 2) submit a program of broad-based community involvement and including at least one lasting reminder of America's 200th birthday observance; 3) obtain approval from its chief executive officer, and 4) submit an application through the State Bicentennial Commission.

With the cost of energy going up all the time, you should repair all those dripping faucets. When your hot water is leaking, you are also paying for the energy to heat the water. Check the water level in your toilet tank to see if the water is about three fourths of an inch below the overflow. This is usually the recommended water level height. Make sure the water isn't getting by the flush bulb. To find out if it is leaking, tie up the float rod for awhile and if any water leaves the tank replace the flush bulb.

Prevent problems with plumbing, heating or air conditioning by having the work done by the experts at CLAUDA PLUMBING & HEATING, 1108 W. Chicago Blvd., 423-3121. We handle new installations and repair or remodel present facilities. We stock a wide selection of products including Kitchen Aid dishwashers, decorator medicine cabinets, cast iron and fibreglas bathtubs and stall showers and a full line of plumbing fixtures by Kohler, American Standard and Elkay stainless steel sinks. Open: 8 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. daily, until 5 p.m. Saturdays.

HANDY HINT: About every three years, you should replace the flush bulb.

Michigan Week - May 17-24

We're Proud of Tecumseh

Michigan Week 1975 opens with Community Pride Day, Saturday, May 17. Community Pride Day is a time of renewal - renewing the commitment to sincere, dedicated pride in one's neighborhood, one's community, one's town or city . . . we're proud of Tecumseh.

Cleanups, tree planting, beautification programs, erecting signs at the entrances to town - are among the tangible ways of observing Community Pride Day. But the essence of this special day is in the feeling of pride it creates and nourishes, as citizens, young and old, cooperate in putting Tecumseh and area's best foot forward.

Readers' Write

To the Editor:

For years I have helped junior and beginner rockhounds with their first rock displays. Some have gone on to careers, or have won awards in geology shows.

Now that my own children are nearly grown, I have more time to help even more, and have decided to help any child in Lenawee County or nearby counties.

I was sad for after I helped them with their first displays they usually took off, and I often did not see them for years.

But that is the way it should be, and I know how grateful they were when they come back married with their own child for me to help.

It is my belief if we do not know something of our own planet we can never truly be educated. I am either at our rock museum, or across the street where I live on M-50.

I trade free help for your sincerity and loyalty. I am only a housewife, mother and friend to anyone who wants my friendship, you can start a rock collection and it won't cost you a thing. See you at the Rock Museum.

To Whom It May Concern:

There is a matter of great importance to our vicinity. These are crucial times in this area and all over the world with economy increases and slackage of work!

Goodwill Industries is very much in need of your cast off clothing and furniture!

Due to the pinch in the pocketbook of the thrifty, there has been an excess of rummage sales in Michigan! Goodwill has been forced to lay off help of long standing due to their need for your surplus cast aways!

Many of their employees are handicapped and cannot work elsewhere!

Neighbors and friends - Let's think about it! Aren't we lucky to be strong, healthy and able to work at more skillful positions? Thank God we are alive! Lets get in there and pick our excess commodities to Goodwill today!

Jewels & gems

One of the important marine pearl-fisheries on the continent of America is located at La Paz, California. There are also fisheries on the Pearl Islands, in the Gulf of Panama, in the South Sea Islands, and in the West Indies. River pearls are produced by fresh-water mussels, in various parts of the world. Headquarters for trade in river pearls is China. Of course, imitation pearls, which can also be very beaufitul, range in price from the inexpensive to those costing nearly as much as real pearls, depending on the workmanship.

Providing you with friendly, knowledgeable service is one of the most important parts of our business. You know you can depend on us at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. You Told Us

At long last, an eight day week has come. Yes, Michigan's unique eight-day week, May 17 to 24 arrives Saturday. "Michigan Pioneer in Progress," deserves an extra day to celebrate all the wonderful natural resources, industry and heritage. Now's an opportune time to tie into the 1976 bicentennial, Tecumseh. We have a lot to celebrate, too.

Last Saturday morning Scout Troop 272 led by Scoutmaster James Dehring, led a spring cleanup of the Kennedy House at 123 N. Ottawa. Enjoying the sun while raking, pruning and weeding was Mike Havener. (He is a member of the Historical Society's investigatory committee on a proposed use for the one time residence.) The volunteers cleared away a wheelbarrow of clippings and brush. Now we can all enjoy the quaint home Sunday, Heritage Day of Michigan Week when it will be open to the public from 1 to 3 p.m.

Mrs. Dennis Rodenberger (nee Cassie Kureth) and Mindy Meyer of Silver Plume, Col. were in Tecumseh last week visiting Rita Blake and Tina Sturtevant.

Doug and Jean Hall and family wrote to verify all that Maxine Calhoun wrote about her North Carolina trip. She was within five minutes of the Halls' Smokies East Campground. They invited all who might be traveling to stop in and see them and the country living they enjoy so much.

Busy season there in Maggie Valley is now through October. Dogwoods, mountain laurel, flame azelea and rhododendron bring the area alive in summer as do the colors in fall. Mosquitos are rare in their area (2,600 ft. above sea level) and the nights are pleasant. Mountain snow skiing is available in the winter months, too. Sounds like paradise for the Halls and their visitors.

Mrs. George Green has returned "from a wonderful winter" visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Barbara Hundley and family in Riverside, Calif. She also visited her son, Dr. David Green and family of Winchester, Mass. in April. Dr. Green, a 1950 THS grad just returned from a Guiggenheim fellowship in England. He now teaches Psychology at Harvard University. Mrs. Green was met at Detroit Metro Airport by the Rev. Allan Ramsay, former pastor of the Episcopal Church and now living in Trenton, who brought her home.

Ralph McGuire, Rogers Hwy., was admitted to Bixby Hospital, Thursday, where his condition remains serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Woodward and Mrs. Perry Hayden spent Mother's Day with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woodward, Lansing. Mrs. Hayden also visited Mr. and Mrs. John Hayden in Lansing and daughter Brooke Elizabeth, born May 10, 7 lbs. and 5 oz. at Sparrow Hospital Lansing. This is their first child. What a Happy Mother's Day.

Mrs. Lyle Grigg writes that "the cancer is out and recovery is progressing daily, boosted by the constant support of a fantastic family and marvelous friends . . ." She said, "The Fords and the Rockefellers are a little harder to keep up with than the Joneses, but we managed to do it. A radical masectomy is an unnatural and emotional occurance that no one enjoys." She complimented the "whole battery of fine staff," at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital.

Post Script to Mother's Day: Pat Patten claims that there is a little well-meaning gremlin afoot in her household. Pat tried to root a sprig from a houseplant in water. A few days later she found it dried up, stuck back in the flowerpot. Apparently, one of the children admitted he or she thought it would grow better in the pot. Sound familiar Moms?

Jennifer Cook, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carlton Cook will attend St. Vincent's School of Nursing, Toledo, this fall. Saturday she will be fitted for her uniform which she will wear during the two-year RN program.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Keller of Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. celebrate their 56th wedding anniversary Thursday evening at dinner with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunt. The Kellers also have a daughter, Mrs. "Jack" Jackson of North Tonawanda, N.Y., seven grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Howard Brooks is recovering beautifully from a hip replacement at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, friends report. Recent visitors were Mrs. Charles Driffill, Mrs. Waldo Mohr and Mrs. Earnie Topps.

Wayne Hintz, of Lancaster, Pa., is visiting his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Maves. Monday evening he had a good visit with old classmates, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gibson in Britton, Mrs. Hintz and son, remained in Lancaster, where the son is undergoing treatment for severe burns received in an explosion in a high school chemistry lab.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

My five-and-a-half-year-old son came home from school last week with a dittoed sheet listing his classmates' answers to the teacher's query regarding what it means to be a mother. The responses were varied and cute, but she asked the wrong people!

Having the dubious honor of overseeing the [illegible] daughter and a Virgo son, a husband who occasionally refers to me as "Ma", one ferocious and two dumb but docile dogs, a pair of amorous rabbits, a cat with the mange, and a coffee can full of half-dehydrated night crawlers, I am compelled to put in my two cents worth.

Being a mother has meant that the area located directly above both my eyes has, on more than occasion, looked like an abandoned lot that hasn't been mowed all summer because my four-year-old lost my tweezers after performing a delicate operation on her "Baby Alive."

Being a mother has meant that I am now over-qualified to referee the next Mohammed Ali fight.

Being a mother has meant that I now own stock in Vicks Vapo-Rub, America's leading brand of peanut butter and the Crayola Co.

Being a mother has meant countless thank you's for a zillion dandelions, Queen Anne's lace, and other assorted "flowers."

Being a mother has meant I could have many times received an Oscar for delivering the line, "No, dears, mommy isn't scared," as we sat hudled in the basement awaiting the all clear on the tornado warning...

Club Hosts Art Display

The Little Garden Club of Tecumseh hosts "Art in Action", a display of arrangements done in the abstract, May 21 at the library.

Abstract is an expression of design in which plant material is utilized as pure line, form, color, and texture to create new images. The designer utilizes what he considers the best the material to communicate with the viewer.

The club hopes to gain some insight into this newest form of the flower arranging art by attempting a personal interpretation.

Joining with Mrs. Lois Hartz of Gilbralter on Tuesday evening, each entry will be judged as in a standard flower show.

Arrangements will be simply staged on tables in the basement of the library on North Ottawa.

Public is invited to stop by May 21 during library hours and take a gander. "You may never again see such an array of unusual use of plant material," said one club member. There is no charge.

REGULATION AND TRUCKING

Some people feel the regulated transportation system of the United States should not be regulated. They argue, the industry which approves of regulation, must be lining their pockets because of it. And for these reasons, they argue the Interstate Commerce Commission should be abolished.

We have regulation for one prime reason..to insure transportation service and standardized rates for communities located away from major shipping centers such as Detroit. Here, there is no cutthroat competition or biased rates. A shipper in Alpena can send his freight for the same rate as a shipper of similar freight in Detroit.

Shippers and merchants in places like Muskegon, Jackson, Petoskey and Midland can count on regular service and standard rates that do not change daily..or hourly because of ICC regulation.

The way we see it, without regulation, Michigan communities would have little to depend upon, except extremely poor service and a very unfair rate system.

A regulated transportation system is not the best of all possible worlds. But it is far better than no transportation system at all. Or worse, a government-run system.

OTHER HERONS

Well, if all goes according to plan, when this article is being read the Duncans will be doing the 105 things they tell us are necessary to close the coach for the summer and we will also be packing things into the car and wondering why it is so full when most of what we brought down last fall is to be left.

Yes, it is heading-Tecumseh-way time! But this is all happening while you are reading — while I am dictating other things are going on.

I remember last December, when we watched the lake and studied the bird-books, how very very confusing all of the herons were.

I wondered if they would ever sort themselves out and, of course, they have. The lake plays host to three members of the family. The great blue herons, all of whom we now call Montgomery, were the subjects of last week's article.

In addition the little blue herons and the green herons are daily visitors. I am careful to use the plural because for some time now everything has been coming in couples.

The little blue herons are aptly named — above 21 inches tall and much bluer in color than great blue. Much bluer that is if one sees them in the proper light.

Never have we seen a color vary with the light as this does. The books show these birds having a dark purplish-red cast on thier heads and necks but only once or twice have we seen them in sunshine bright enough for this. Usually 'their tops' just look several shades darker than their slaty bodies.

Actually when the birds are in their favorite spots they show no color at all, just dull dark. They are quite shy and seem to prefer the shadowy edges of the weed-beds and other plants growing along the water's edge. No bright sunshine, no color.

One day, however, I had the best view of a little blue imaginable. I was in the wheel-chair and pushed close to the window when suddenly, there he was! Sun shone directly on him and I shall never forget his bill.

A typical heron's bill, it was long and swordlike but it was the color that made the indelible impression. Its sharp tip-end was black but the rest, I would guess almost two-thirds of it, was a shocking light blue. A cerulean blue, vibrant, electric, alive!

I could even see his legs well and they too were a rather surprising color, a pale light blue.

The little blues are easy to recognize as they fly past the porch. First we hear a squawk, then look and there is that typical heron silhouette. A much smaller version of the great blue heron really. Large wings powerfully stroking.

The green heron is unmistakable as he flies by too. He looks nothing like a heron though — his neck is so short and heavy that there is nothing for him to fold back and his legs are so short that only his feet extend beyond his short stubby tail. But oh, if the light is right, those feet are a brilliant orange.

These little 14 inch characters could well be our favorite herons. The books all say they are quite numerous in both fresh and salt water. Abundant they may be but they are not all that easily seen.

Even more than the little blues they seem to stay under cover and once in a clump of weed they absolutely disappear. In fact, we have watched them fly across the lake, watched them land and, without even blinking an eye, completely lost track of where they were.

Like the little blues the greens must be in the proper light to show their colors and seldom are they so inclined. Once in a while though a spirit of co-operation comes to the fore and what a thrill to see this little bird with the bright red color on the back of his neck and the dull green cast to his back. The front of his neck is almost white with dark spotty stripes and, although very rarely seen, he does have a little ragged head crest.

However, what really endears the little greens to us is their ridiculous voice. None of the family could be called musical but the little ones have the most raucous and rasping squawk.

It far outdoes their size. And, almost like the kingfishers, the greens usually sound off when they take off.

So it is that our window watching and the birds we see will soon be very different — they will be fun but we will also miss the daily visits of Montgomery and the other herons.

ENEMIES WITHIN by Michael Z. Lewin. Albert Sampson is not an average detective hero. His base of operations is not London or Los Angeles, but Indianapolis. He is not cool and confident but self-pitying and self-analyzing. However, he has a sense of humor which carries him through a thicket of clues, misclues, to a dangerous ending.

Here are some new books about men and women at the Tecumseh Public Library:

CONCEPTION, CONTRACEPTION: A NEW LOOK, by Suzanne Lobel, discusses the latest contraceptive devices and methods, as well as science's newest discoveries about conception. Tells the history of man's knowledge of human reproduction and birth control from early Egyptian times.

HIM HER SELF, by Peter Filene, examines sex roles in the U.S. as they developed from Victorian days to the present. Also tries to define what it means to be a man or a woman today.

THE PRIME OF MS. AMERICA: THE AMERICAN WOMAN AT 40, by Janet Harris. What do middle-aged women do and feel? After interviewing and surveying many women from 40 to 60, Harris attempts to describe the needs and challenges facing women in their middle years. Chapters on marriage, sexuality, work and leisure are of special interest. Though the subject is confined to middle-aged women, the book offers much insight on life for men and women of all ages.

THE LIBERATED MAN by Warren Farrell, examines our contemporary definition of masculinity and suggests that man's attempts to be thoroughly masculine often prevent him from being fully human. This readable book will give men and women alike much to think about.

DOERS AND DOWAGERS, by Felicia Warburg Roosevelt, is a collection of portraits of 20 older women who have left their mark on American life. Rose Kennedy, Marjorie Post, Clare Booth Luce, Peggy Guggenheim, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, and Louise Nevelson are among the ladies interviewed.

THE 50-METER JUNGLE is by Sherman Chavoor, the man who coached Mark Spitz to Olympic stardom. Concerns Mark's training and experience with the Olympics, but Chavoor also discusses two other record-breaking pupils, Debbie Meyer and Mike Burton.

Board Awaits State Action

CLINTON—Clinton Township Supervisor Harry Comstock reported to the Clinton Township Library Board Tuesday night, on the progress of efforts to establish legal status of the board.

Comstock said all pertinent materials from the township and library's board's records have been sent to the State Library Board for their determination, which may take place this week.

Because of the remaining uncertainty, Library Board president Mrs. Philip Groeb suggested that the board would "maintain the status quo" at this time. She said the board would set a date for a special meeting to act on personnel matters, when the board's authority is cleared up.

Only action taken by the board was to accept with regret the resignation of trustee, Mrs. Henry Louwerans, who has moved from the township.

Meeting was attended by 15 citizens, who offered several suggestions to the board about the library management.

The driver, alone in the car, Thomas Wood, 28, of Westland, was arraigned before Judge Arkinson in 14th District Court, Washtenaw County, on a felony charge with possession and intent to deliver. He pleaded not guilty, and preliminary examination was set for May 19.

Over 400 voices united in singing 18 Octavos under the direction of Harold DeCou, composer and organist, associated with Zondervan Corp.

Bob Krogstadt, arranger, accompanied the representatives at the piano. Featured was Ellen Roweton, soloist, holder of a Master of Music degree in voice. She also hosts a daily TV women's show.

In addition to the octavos covered, the group went through six books including a Christmas Cantata by John Peterson, some choral books, contemporary music and the new musical "I Love America" by John Peterson and Don Wyrtzen written for the bicentennial next year.

The group arrived home tired and almost voiceless after hours of instructional singing.

The group also sang, accompanied by Mrs. Susan Faust, between scenes. Those participating in scenarios for each weekday were:

Mondav. Lola and Laurie Hall, washday; Tuesday, Thelma Younglove and Lilah Cadmus, mending and reminiscing. Lola Hall sang "Memories" during this scene.

Wednesday, Helen Osterhout, Myra Bush and Laura Donko enacted some of the past, such as curling hair with an old-fashioned curling iron, cleaning the chimneys with newspaper and quilting.

Theo Willis tore up carpet rags while Carol Albring studied from an old McGuffy reader and wrote on her slate. Mrs. Verla Albring hung a dress for her daughter, Darlene, while Ardath Frayer sang "Alice Blue Gown."

Bi-centennial Journey

Sounds Past and Present
By Thelma Younglove

Sounds so familiar to rural Americans in the early 1900s are no longer heard in most parts of our country.

Few youth of today have ever been awakened by the cackle of hens, the crow of roosters, quack of ducks, hiss of geese, cry of the guinea foul, neigh of horses, moo of cattle, baa of sheep, or squeal of pigs, demanding to be fed.

Other sounds once so familar were the clang, clang and whistle of one of the many steam powered locomotives that passed through Britton every day; the tile mill whistle (farmers set their clocks by it); the ding-dong of the rural school bells; the various rings on the party telephone lines; the clop, clop ot horses' feet on the dirt roads; the clatter of planks on the wooden floors of the bridges.

During harvest season, the whistle of the steam threshing machine engine, early in the morning, announced operators were ready to start work; and in the winter the melodious sounds of sleigh bells on the crisp air of a clear cold night announced visitors.

Our forefathers would be surprised to hear many of the present day sounds - the radio, television, speeding cars, roaring motorcycles, heavily laden trucks, the hum of airplanes overhead and the drone of powerful tractors being used to till the soil.

Our ancestors might yearn for many of the sounds of nature that their ears were accustomed to hearing - the chattering of squirrels, songs of song birds that once were numerous but now seldom see, and the babble of the brook as it rushed along. They might even wish for the peace and quitetude once known.

Yes, many changes have taken place since the coming of those first early settlers. What changes can we expect in the future?

By Lori Monagin

On May 1 the Girls' Softball team had a big win against Ann Arbor St. Thomas with a 28-1 win. Britton-Macon Girls defeated Deerfield on May 7 with a score of 17-7.

Memoriams

In loving memory of my sweet Mother, MARY P. JONES, who passed away sixteen years ago May 12, 1959.
Sixteen years ago today
A new star
In heaven began to shine,
For that was when the Master
Called home that dear Mother of mine,
He beckoned her to that open gate
That waits at the end of life's road
And there in a light we could not see
Our Father claimed His own,
Now beyond that gate our loved one
Finds happiness, peace and rest,
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.
Forever loved and still greatly missed by her loving daughter, Lee Horton and family. 5-15c

Tied for First

By FRANK WEIR

Tecumseh's track squad continues as a Huron league power to be reckoned with after beating Catholic Central 73-50 last Thursday and New Boston Huron 86½-36½ on Tuesday of this week.

The two additional victories leaves the Indians with a 5-0 league record and an 8-1 overall record. The team is tied with Airport for first place in the league and Tecumseh will meet that team next Tuesday at Airport.

The Indians had little trouble dispatching Monroe Catholic Central on Thursday of last week. They captured a first place in nine of the 15 events and eight second place victories.

Tecumseh traveled to Michigan Center to participate in the Cardinal Relays on Saturday competing against eight other teams. The Indians didn't do as well as they would have liked finishing near the bottom in total points.

But they did take a first place in the shot put relay, a third in the distance medley relay, and a fourth in the 880 relay and high jump relay.

Coach Bill Croft was concerned about the Huron meet before the action started. Huron had lost a tight one to Airport last week 63-60 and Croft figured anything could happen.

But after the proceedings got underway, his fears were soon allayed as the Indians swept 12 of the 15 events.

The Huron squad was successful only in the pole vault, high jump and two mile competition.

The squad travels to Ypsilanti High School this Saturday for Regional competition.

Indians Beat Adrian

Tecumseh's softball team pounded Carlson last Wednesday, split a pair with Jefferson on Friday and shut out Adrian 5-0 on Tuesday of this week.

After the smoke cleared, the Indians posted a 6-2 league record and a 12-2 overall record.

In the Carlson doubleheader, Julie Anderson was the winning pitcher for Tecumseh in the first game. Final score was 15-1.

A total of eight girls scored the Indians' 13 hits. Julie Murphy, Jane Faulkner, Julie Anderson, Betsy Miller and Amy Montague each had two hits apiece. Tori Iffland, Peg Upell and Vickie Smith each had one.

The Indians won the second game 6-3.

Lisa Lee took the win on the mound for Tecumseh in the second game. Five Tecumseh players scored hits including Tori Iffland and Jane Faulkner each with two, Betsy Miller and Veda Yoder with a single, and Peg Upell with a double.

The squad traveled to Jefferson on Friday to play a doubleheader. The Indians lost the first game 9-2 but won the second 4-2.

Julie Anderson was the losing pitcher in the first game, she also was the only Tecumseh player to score two hits. Tori Iffland and Peg Upell each contributed one.

In the second game, the Indians scored six hits including Jane Faulkner with two, and Julie Murphy, Julie Anderson, Amy Montague and Betsy Miller each with one hit.

Julie Anderson took the win on the mound with four strikeouts, allowing two hits.

Tori Iffland hit a single and a home run in the Adrian contest on Tuesday. Jane Faulkner and Peg Upell each hit a single.

Lisa Lee pitched most of the game but Sue Frazier relieved her in the 5th inning.

Baseball Squad Is 4-4 in League

Tecumseh's varsity baseball squad faced a busy game schedule during the last week winning two and losing two.

The team hosted Jefferson on Monday of this week winning 3-2 in 10 innings. Ken Biscupski was the winning pitcher with 10 strikeouts and three walks.

Eight players scored Tecumseh's 10 hits with Darrell Bozeman and Doug Bunch each getting two hits. Rich Yerebeck drove in the winning run in the bottom of the 10th.

Things went badly for the Indians against Monroe CC last Friday as they lost the contest 5-0. They came up with four hits from three batters and Ken Davis took the loss on the mound. Davis struck out six players, walked four and allowed seven hits.

Against Airport last Wednesday, the Indians split a pair winning the first game 3-1 but losing the second 2-0.

Tecumseh grabbed eight hits in the first game with Ken Davis the winning pitcher. Seven players scored hits including Davis who got two singles.

Ken Biscupski pitched the second game and took the loss. Tecumseh came up with two hits, a double from Dave Spillman and a single from Brad Sisson.

The team has a 7-4 overall record and is 4-4 in the league.

Skins Lose to Morenci

The Clinton baseball squad won over Sand Creek 9-8 last Wednesday but were forced into a doubleheader debacle with Morenci on Friday losing 10-0 and 12-0.

Clinton took the lead in the Sand Creek game during the seventh inning when Randy Porterfield hit a home run. The Redskins biggest inning was the fourth when they grabbed five hits and six runs.

The Morenci contest proved to be a disaster for the Redskins. They came up with four hits in the first game and only two in the second.

The Skins were plagued by costly errors especially in the second game when errors allowed Morenci to score six runs in the sixth inning.

Dave Mowery and Tom Claus split the pitching duties in the first game and Tom Richter went the distance in the second.

Clinton's record is now 2-7 overall and 2-6 in the league.

Girls Beat Grosse Ile

Tecumseh's girl track squad won 10 of 13 first place victories to easily overwhelm Grosse Ile last Wednesday. Final tally in the away contest stood at 75-30.

The victory brought the Indians' record up to 4-2 overall and 3-1 in the league.

Sue Brown continued to dominate the long jump event this time with a jump of 16'6½".

The girls participated in the Addison Relays on Saturday taking first place out of 11 teams with 112 points.

Most of the other teams were Class C and D.

First place winners included Sue Brown in the long jump with a jump of 16'10". Sue also won the 100 with a time of 11.69 and the 220 with a time of 27.07. Carol Duhan won the 110 low hurdles with a time of 15.70.

In addition, the mile and 440 relay teams won.

The girls placed in 18 events altogether at the relays.

Redskins Are Third inLCAA

Clinton trackmen completed their regular conference schedule this past week whipping Manchester last Tuesday 88-35, Hudson on Thursday 72-51. The team made a fine performance at the Quincy Relays on Saturday finishing fifth out of 18 teams.

In the league season finale on Tuesday of this week, the Skins absolutely trounced winless Sand Creek 102-21.

Clinton finished in the third place in the LCAA conference with a 5-2 league record. Leading the way against Manchester were Dan Bristle who won three events and double winner Mark Carlton. Bristle won the long jump, 100 yd. dash and 220 yd. dash while Carlton won the 880 and 440 yd. runs. Each was also on a winning relay team.

Clinton won 12 of the 15 events including all three relays and finished first and second in six different events.

Against Hudson, Dan Bristle won the 100 and 200 yd. dashes plus took the baton 10 yds. behind Hudson in the 880 yd. relay and anchored the team to victory at a key point in the meet.

Mark Carlton turned in his fastest time of the season in winning the 880 yd. run and Al Hively came on to beat Hudson's Kevin Duncan in the low hurdles.

Terry Higgins turned in his best performance of the season winning the high jump.

The Clinton track team turned in several fine performances Saturday at the Quincy Relays. The Skins scored 16½ points to finish fifth out of 18 teams. They won two relays setting a meet record in one and picked up 20 medals in the day-long activities.

In the Sand Creek victory, Clinton won 14 of the 15 events.

Dan Bristle was a triple winner in the long jump, the 220 and he set a school record in the 440 with a time of 52.5 seconds.

Al Hively won both the pole vault and low hurdles competition.

Britton Regains First Place

The Britton-Macon baseball squad had a roller-coaster week losing the first place Tri-County League lead last Wednesday and regaining it on Monday.

The Tories lost to Madison last Wednesday 6-5 after Arnie Gallagher hit a home run for Madison in the seventh inning bringing in three runs. Britton was in the lead 5-3 going into the last inning.

That loss dropped Britton out of first place in the league by half a game with Summerfield taking the lead.

But the Tories refused to roll over and play dead when they met Summerfield on Monday of this week. Britton triumphed 1-0 to re-take the league lead by half a game.

The win is especially significant when you realize that the squad won without any of their seniors who are on the traditional senior trip at the moment.

Freshman Randy Smith scored Britton's only hit, a single in the fourth inning. Randy also pitched the game striking out 10 batters, walking one and giving up only two hits.

Tories Win

Britton easily overwhelmed Deerfield in track action last Thursday at Adrian College 89-34.

The Tories won 13 of 15 events and took a second place finish in six events.

Among the victories was a performance that tied the school record in the high jump by Steve Gilmore with a jump of 5'10".

The Deerfield contest ended the regular dual and triangular season for the Tories. The squad ended with a 4-4 record overall and 2-3 in the Tri-County conference.

This Saturday the squad will participate in the Class D regionals at Michigan Center. Next Tuesday is the league meet held at Whitmore Lake.

Young Trackmen Win

Tecumseh's seventh and eighth grade boys swept to an easy victory in the Tecumseh Junior High Invitational Track Relays last Friday.

The Indians competed against 12 other schools. The girls weren't quite as successful placing fourth out of 11 teams.

The boys finished with 76 points and four first place victories, two seconds, two thirds and two fourth place finishes.

The girls took two thirds and one fifth for 14 points.

Two trackmen from each team participated in each field event combining their performances for the final tally. For instance, Indians John Faulkner and Mark DeJonghe won the pole vault competition with a combined performance of 19'6". That was a meet record by the way.

Frosh Lose to Blissfield

Tecumseh's freshman baseball squad lost a contest to the Blissfield frosh 4-3 last Wednesday.

Dave Cuellar scored two hits and Gregg Corley one hit for the Indians. Bert Ouderkirk accepted the loss on the mound.

MCC Beats JV'S

Tecumseh's JV baseball squad suffered a loss at the hands of Monroe Catholic Central last Friday tarnishing their undefeated league record.

The 7-2 loss followed a win over Airport 7-6 on Wednesday and preceded a big 15-2 win over Monroe Jefferson on Monday of this week.

The squad is now tied with Catholic Central for first place in the league. The Indians have a 7-3 overall record and a 6-1 league record.

Five players scored the Indians' eight hits in the Airport game. Dave Bohannon was credited for the win on the mound striking out eight and walking five.

Against Jefferson on Monday, the squad pulled together for a fine performance. Seven players scored the team's nine hits including Mark Hunter and Tim Mayers each with two hits and Dan Tilton, Terry Brooks, George Lynch, Bill Sisty and Eric Travis each with one.

Slo-Pitch Schedule

Tecumseh Recreation Department's men's slo-pitch leagues all play at the athletic field off Evans Street every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, starting this week.

First game gets under way at 6:15 p.m.

Asking Church for Classrooms

At the School Board meeting Monday night, board members voted to formally ask church officials if the district could rent three classrooms at St. Elizabeth's School for high school classes.

Supt. Robert Duhan told the Board that in the 1975-76 school year, there would be insufficient high school classroom space in the mornings and afternoons, before and after students attend Lenawee Vo-Tech.

If church officials in Lansing approve, a group of 75 to 90 students would be bussed to St. Elizabeth's for English, social studies and math instruction in the morning and afternoon.

The St. Elizabeth's program would cost $1,800-$2,000 for transportation and an additional estimated cost of $1,000 per class room for a period of one year, Duhan told the Board.

The Board also discussed relocatable class rooms as a possible solution to crowded conditions at the high school.

Duhan said that a low bid had been received from Space Planning Associates of Farmington for $13,572 per 24'x36' unit. No action was taken on the bid as the Board decided to pursue the St. Elizabeth's program for the time being.

Bridge Work Is Expanded

Council learned Tuesday night that the west 12 feet of the North Union St. bridge has to be replaced and that the remaining center 12 feet is cracked at the north end.

Council authorized City Manager Cal Zorn to contract Cunningham-Gooding and buy the beams to finish the rest of the bridge deck.

Zorn explained that it was questionable if the center 12 feet needed replacing at this time, but he did not want to see the center falling in, in another 3 years.

Cost of contracting Cunningham-Gooding to finish the deck was $12,965.50. Cost of buying the needed eight, three foot beams was $9,740.

The whole deck of the bridge will now be new. Supports will be the only remains of the old bridge, and those have been capped.

Friday Is Deadline

Friday is the last day to register at the Community Center for Tecumseh's second annual canoe race.

Ward Eardly, city recreation director, reports 19 teams have registered so far, less than half of last year.

The race for amateurs, 16 years of age and older, will start next Monday at 1 p.m. from Staib Rd. bridge. Finish line will be at the Community Center, where the American Legion is holding a cookout.

Those who register for the race must also pick up a list of rules. Canoers should be at the starting point by noon.

The Legion, Exchange Club and city recreation are sponsoring the event and will award trophies to the winners.

15-Year-Old Is Cited In Accident

Fifteen-year-old Tim Lapham, of 902 Murray Dr., was ticketed for jay-walking May 14 after he walked into the rear of a tractor-trailer.

The youth was taken to Herrick Hospital with an injury to his right foot.

Driver of the steel hauling semi was Johnnie Walker, of Toledo. He knew nothing of the incident until Lenawee Sheriff's deputies stopped him on the road and informed him of the mishap.

The tractor-trailer, owned by Katy Steel Co. in Toledo, was westbound on the 100 block of E. Chicago at the time of the accident.

PRESENTS AWARD — Perry Satterthwaite, right, accepts a Michigan Minuteman award from Governor William G. Milliken on the capitol steps in Lansing. Twenty-five citizens, who have "taken a minute" to talk up Michigan, received Governor's Awards May 20 in the Michigan Week ceremony.

Perry Satterthwaite Honored by State

Perry Satterthwaite, 82, one of Tecumseh's better known and better liked citizens was honored Tuesday in Lansing when he was the recipient of the Governor's Michigan Minuteman Citation.

Gov. William Milliken presented him and 24 other outstanding state residents with the award at the State Capitol.

Mayor Harold Easton nominated Mr. Satterthwaite last month, and the nominating letter would certainly place the former businessman among the Who's Who of Tecumseh and this area.

Excerpts from the mayor's letter are:

● Born in Tecumseh on Dec. 10, 1892, graduated from Tecumseh High School, from University of Michigan in 1917 with a degree in civil engineering, served in World War I as an army lieutenant in France.

● During the late 1920's, he engineered and built a power plant to harness water at Globe Mill Pond for electricty to operate Hayden Flour Mills. Later, he sold Hayden Mill (now Community Center) to Henry Ford for $1. Believing Mr. Ford would give employment to local people. He also donated land which is now a city park.

● Served as a trustee of Tecumseh Hospital Association from October 1937 to March 1939 for the purpose of founding a community hospital, has served on Herrick Memorial Hospital board of trustees since 1955, served on the City Charter Commission, school board, is a member of American Legion and charter member of the Rotary Club. Is a former vestryman and active member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, a great supporter of youth activities.

In closing, Mayor Easton wrote: "We in Tecumseh firmly believe he has served Michigan in a distinguished and extraordinary way by being an example of the best and most responsible type of citizen on the local level where, in the end, the people live and where basic and enduring impressions are made."

"We think him deserving of a Citation and the Governor's Award. We hope you will agree."

Redevelopment Is Up to Businesses

City Council challenged Paul Dangler, head of the downtown redevelopment committee, to collect $2,900 needed from downtown businesses for the preparation of a new downtown improvement plan.

Council agreed to reimburse the businesses if they showed interest by initially funding the new plan and if the special assessment district was created. Dangler said that he would think about the challenge.

Dangler reported that he was a catalyst,representing 31 downtown merchants and that he had talked to the merchants. Council did not want to appropriate almost another $3,000 to develop a new plan, if the businesses were not going to completely support the project.

The new plan calls for street trees, rear walk improvement, street directories, drinking fountains, and trash containers.

Dangler explained that none of the original plan could be used. The development of the original plan cost the city over $5,000 and local businesses $2000.

Council then thanked Dangler for all his work and explained that they wanted the beautification of the town as much as he did. They were not against spending the additional money for a plan, but they did not want the plan developed and then have nothing done about improving the downtown area.

The Planning Commission's report, recommending the city appropriate the money for the plan's preparation, was tabled until the Council was sure of businesses' support.

One Resigns, 2 Appointed

Council accepted the resignation of Planning Commissioner Larry Bauman Tuesday night with regret and filled two Planning Commission openings, resulting from Merlyn Downing's expired term and Bauman's resignation.

Carl Lamb, local druggist, and William Danley, local officer have accepted their appointments to fill the two vacant seats.

Negotiations Involve 300

School officials are negotiating weekly, sometimes twice a week, for contracts with approximately 300 employed in the school system.

Groups involved include the teachers (Tecumseh Education Association), bus drivers, secretaries, noon supervisors and custodian and maintenance employees.

$200 Increase

City Council voted Tuesday night to continue using Walker Landfill at a $200 a month rate increase.

City had been using the landfill in the past at a rate of $700 a month.

State Forces Millage Hike for Schools

Faced with the possibility of losing state aid funds, the Tecumseh School Board authorized placing 18.5 mills on the June ballot — an increase of a half mill over that approved by the voters a year ago.

A tentative state aid package in Lansing, one apt to be put into law, requires operating millage of 27 mills. Since the county allocates 8.5 mills, the local schools were practically forced to ask the voters for an additional half-mill or lose some state monies.

Although the millage will be up, officials are not sure that it will be necessary to levy for the full amount. For the past two years, voters have approved 18 mills but the schools have levied just 17.

The amount of millage to be levied will be determined until August when the official state aid program is revealed. This program, coupled with inflation and the outcome of negotiations with school personnel, will enable the Board to determine the number of mills required for the 1975-76 school year.

Based on a tentative, state equalized school district of $91 million — up $9.5 million from a year ago — the 18.5 mills would provide the schools with additional local tax monies of $378,674.

Voters on June 10 will be asked to approve the 18.5 mills for two years. With the exception of the half-mill, the vote will be essentially a renewal of present millage.

Two seats on the Board will also be on the ballot.

Juvenile To Be Tried As Adult

Brent T. Schumacher, 16, reportedly involved in the Feb. 11 robbery at Jerry's Market, has been waived over from Probate Court to Circuit Court and will be tried on three charges as an adult.

He was arraigned in Circuit Court Friday and stood mute on charges of armed robbery, larceny in a building and felonious assault.

Charges stem from a robbery on Feb. 11 at Jerry's Market and the beating of Eddy Clark, former Tecumseh businessman who worked parttime at the store for Delbert King, owner.

Clark was battered on the back of his head by a sawed off, pool cue stick and left in a pool of blood near the front door. His daughter, Mrs. Russel Cheever, discovered him.

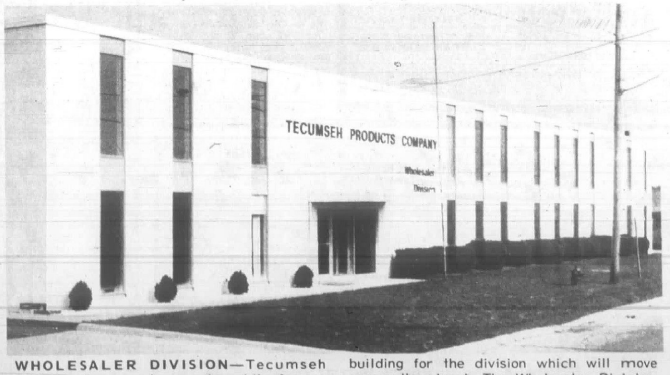
Two other juveniles and Mark Raymond, 19, Tipton area, also are reportedly involved. Clark was so badly beaten that he spent seven weeks in Ann Arbor Hospital and once returned for surgery. At the present, he is at home in Tecumseh.

May Cut Back Drivers-Ed for Students

At a meeting of Tecumseh's Board of Education Monday night, Asst. Supt. Eugene Cooley told board members that the district is finding it difficult locating sufficent cars for the high school's driver's education program.

Presently, the district has a committment from Les Dallas for two cars. The program in the past has used five or six cars.

Cooley went on to inform the Board that the program will have to be cut back by 30-35 students, even if two more cars are found.



WHOLESALER DIVISION—Tecumseh Products Company has purchased the former Tuttle, or Gould, industrial building on S. Evans St. and will move its Wholesaler Division to the plant within five or six weeks. At the present the company is renovating the building for the division which will move across the street. Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

For childen, simpler jewelry is always appropriate. Gems of value are rarely used, perhaps to keep the simplicity of a childs life undisturbed. Brilliant color effects of enamels and stones, richly ornamented, are as much appreciated by any child as a gem of great value would be. Finely cut brilliants ornamented with rare or precious metals are appropriate for special occasions for children. The giver will understand if such a gift is not commonly worn, but saved for best.

Whenever you need a gift, for whatever occasion—be sure to see the complete selections available at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. Don't forget Father's Day, June 15th. Mrs. Geringer Is Drive Chairman

Mrs. Donald Geringer, of Tecumseh was named local Chairman of the 1975 Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung diseases.

The 1975 Campaign will be conducted during the nationwide Cystic Fibrosis month, September.

Cystic Fibrosis, presently incurable, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene. It is believed that one in twenty persons carries the gene, usually without knowing it.

When cystic fibrosis research began in 1960, a child's life expentancy was only two years. Today it is eighteen years. The key to continued progress and eventual cure or control lies in expanded research to be funded by Breath of Life Campaigns.

A good umbrella keeps you dry—unless the wind starts blowing. In this case, you are bound to get soaking wet!

There is really no such thing as total protection; neither in an umbrella nor in living through just one day. There are all sorts of windstorms, and they sweep into our lives and upset the best made plans. When this happens there is no such thing as finding an umbrella under which to hide.

Since life is so complicated, each of us has to learn to face it in his own way. Those with a strong and unshakable faith are the lucky ones. They have gained a sense of proportion and basic values through their church. And they didn't just "get" faith! They had to start looking for it. YOU do, too. And where? In church, of course!

You Told Us

Whatever day you celebrate, be it the three day weekend, Memorial Day Monday, May 26 or the traditional Memorial Day, May 30, pause and reflect on the ideals for which our men fought and died. Today, the United States is fortunate to have its soldiers uninvolved in combat since World War II. This week is a time for thankfulness for this "peace" and the dedication of many.

A rubber raft trip down the Colorado [illegible] the Grand Canyon was shared by Wilfred and Louise Waldron of Scottsdale, Ariz., John, Winona, Mark and Kim Hamilton, and cousins George and Helen Crane of Pasadena, Calif. The Waldrons took the same trip last year.

Program's Fate Discussed

Committeewomen will meet with city officials to discuss the fate of the program and where it will be housed this year.

In 1973, Jobs for Teens was located at 120½ N. Evans. Volunteers from senior citizens, Methodist church women, Business and Professional Women's organization, Lutheran church women and area school teachers manned telephones to take call and place 200 students.

Youth program was also financially supported by Jaycees, Kiwanis, Rotary and Lutheran church women.

Last year, Tecumseh Community Foundation Fund picked up the tab for the phone with a taped response and the Community Center was headquarters.

Interested parents and teens may contact any one of the committeewomen until phone service is resumed.

Minimum wages are suggested by Jobs for Teens but final decision is made by the employer and worker.

Repair Well on Patterson

Council gave City Manager Cal Zorn permission Tuesday, May 20, to proceed with repairing and treating the Patterson St. well.

Cost of the total project will be approximately $4500. Cost to pull, repair, and reinstall the pump in the well was estimated at $2255. Cost of treating the well while the pump was out was an additional $2245.

The pump had been vibrating badly, so the city had it removed for inspection. Council learned since the well had to be acid treated within one or two years, they should treat the well now while the pump was already out.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

I can see the headline now: "Wife Slays Husband Over Hammer." The crime was not committed, however, because the husband was not attacking or in any way threatening the wife with a hammer. She finally blew her cool because her husband carried off, during one of his tidying-up binges, her ham- one too many times.

Have you any conception of what life with a compulsive drawer-straightener-upper and closet-cleaner-outer is like? Before all you women start telling me to count my blessings, dig this.

The driven person to whom I refer is an ex-Marine, and if it's one thing an ex-Marine never get out of his system, it's the urge to "square aware". For you civilians, squaring away to the Marine is what Spring cleaning is to the housewife -- only the gyrenes do it ever 47 minutes. It's no wonder they are addicted after a four-year stint.

Generally speaking, I've come to accept my husband's midnight cravings for storage boxes for the attic and his Sunday afternoon pleas for me to hold basement inspection. But when it comes to tampering with my hammer that is kept in my kitchen junk drawer, I draw the line.

Did you ever try driving a nail with a meat tenderizer?
